GUNS BLAZE AGAIN IN HERRIN

NEW 'DOT KING' MURDER CASE STIRS GOTHAM

Actress "Friend" of Banker Slain.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Miss Louise Lawson, a young music student from Texas, was found murdered today in the luxuriously furnished apartment she occupied alone at 22 West 77th street, a step from Central Park West. She had been bound hand and foot and then left to suffocate.

She was stretched, face downward on the mahogany bed in the dainty bedroom of the three room suite, her hands twisted behind her and tied with pieces of a gray silk stocking, her ankles lashed together by torn towels and stockings, and over her face a Turkish towel, held air tight by bands of adhesive tape.

Some time between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning two men had trussed up the girl, ransacked the flat, and escaped with some of her jewels. They left no fingerprints, and tonight the police were following the faintest of trails in an effort to capture the murderers, believed to have been bootleggers.

Saw Angier Duke Drown.

Miss Lawson, who was 25 years old and the daughter of a grocer in Walnut Springs, Tex., was a member of the party that ended last September at Greenwich, Conn., in the drowning of Angier B. Duke, heir to the [illegible] estate of Benjamin N. Duke. Ostensibly a student of the piano, Miss Lawson was the friend of many wealthy men, had a big car at her disposal, and spent every week-end at country parties. She had taken small parts in movies.

Detectives delving in an effort to find some one who could shed light on her life, found a photograph inscribed "Jerry Doll." A number of letters from men friends also were found in the apartment, and a record showing that Miss Lawson had to her credit at the brokerage house of Hayden, Stone & Co. $12,000 worth of B. M. T. stock.

Bank Official Questioned.

During the investigation the detectives questioned Berhard M. Dahl, former vice president of the Chase National bank and now chairman of the executive committee of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation. While they were seeking him, Mr. Dahl was in conference with Special Deputy Police Commissioner Barron G. Collier, an old friend, and another friend of years, Fred Landeck, an attorney.

After a discussion with these friends the transit official telephoned Miss Lawson's apartment, where Chief Inspector Lahey and others were holding their investigation and invited the officials to meet him in a restaurant. They questioned him there, and later he went to a police station, where Assistant District Attorney Morgan A. Jones listened to his narrative.

Cheered Her Aspirations.

Mr. Landeck said that Mr. Dahl not only knew the girl but her parents, as well. The former bank official said Mr. Landeck was interested in Miss Lawson's musical aspirations. Mr. Dahl could supply no information other than that, said Mr. Landeck.

Dahl, who lives at 1000 Park avenue, is married, having wed Miss Georgeanna Cate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Cate of Boston, some years ago.

Landeck was asked if Miss Lawson had ever met Mrs. Dahl and he said he believed she had. Inquiry at the Dahl home developed that Mrs. Dahl was somewhere in Florida and that the whereabouts of Mr. Dahl tonight was unknown.

[illegible] Warner Jones, who was a member with the Lawson girl, of the party of Angier B. Duke when Duke was drowned, it was learned that Mr. Dahl had paid a call upon the murdered girl last Wednesday night.

"Saw Girl Wednesday Night."

"Mr. Dahl and I are intimate friends," said Mr. Jones. "We visited Miss Lawson's apartment on the night before last in the company of another [illegible] whom we need only refer to as [illegible]. We played mah jong, and there was much conversation about a robbery that had occurred only a week before in an apartment just over that occupied by Miss Lawson."

Police also learned that the slain girl was a friend of David Lamar, "wolf of Wall Street." They found a piece of paper at the apartment on which his name had been written, and ascertained from the department of justice that during the hunt for Lamar last summer agents had closely watched the apartment of Miss Lawson.

After an all day investigation, Chief

MRS. HART SUES TWO-GUN BILL ON MARRIAGE PACT

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Winnifred Westover Hart's long threatened legal attack upon her husband, William S. Hart, the two gun hero of the shadow stage, will begin tomorrow.

Mrs. Hart, through her attorney, Charles Fourl, will ask the court to pass upon one clause of the trust agreement entered into between herself and her husband after they had separated. The clause is as follows:

"The party of the second part—Mrs. Hart—agrees she will not during the life of the trust engage in or perform any work or service of any kind or character for hire, and will not on any conditions do or engage in any work as a moving picture actress or artist, or permit herself to be photographed for motion pictures or for advertising purposes."

"Mrs. Hart," said Mr. Fourl, "does not want a divorce bill from Bill. She believes that eventually she and Bill will be reconciled because of the child. But she is broke and must go to work."

Hart was amazed when told of his wife's contemplated action. He declared his wife could not be broke, as he had given her $3,000 during the eighteen months, had given her mother $5,000, and had set up a trust fund of $100,000 for the baby.

"And during the time we were married," he said, "I gave her over $400,000 in cash. So you see why I don't believe she is broke."

Hart's friends believe Mrs. Hart, if she wins her point, will tour in the movies as "Mrs. William S. Hart."

TRAIN AND AUTO COLLIDE; 7 DEAD, YOUTH IS DYING

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8.—Six boys and one man are dead and another boy is in a Milwaukee hospital probably fatally injured as a result of a Chicago and Northwestern passenger train striking a truck carrying newsboys from a party in St. Francis to their homes in Milwaukee.

The truck, owned by the Milwaukee Journal company, is believed to have stalled on the tracks. Five of the boys and the driver of the truck were killed almost instantly, and one boy died in a hospital.

Police Capture Stork Which Fled from Zoo

The flivver squad of the Chicago avenue station last night discovered a stork perched on a railing in front of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's home at Bellevue place and Lake Shore drive. It is presumed that the stork escaped from its quarters in Lincoln Park zoo.

ANDERSON GETS SING SING TERM

Quits Dry League Post; Will Appeal Case.

New York, Feb. 8.—William H. Anderson must go to Sing Sing prison from one to two years for forging the books of the New York Anti-Saloon league, of which he is superintendent, unless his conviction by a jury on Jan. 29 is reversed on appeal.

Anderson has resigned as state superintendent of the league, it was reported reliably tonight.

Anderson could not be reached for comment. Former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, his chief defense counsel, said he did not know whether Mr. Anderson had resigned. Mr. Whitman said Mr. Anderson left the courtroom after receiving sentence to proceed to his home in Yonkers. Telephone calls to the residence were unanswered.

Calls Crime Deliberate.

In imposing sentence today Supreme Court Justice Tompkins said "this crime was deliberately committed" and aggravated "by some of his testimony which was obviously untrue."

The sentence followed an impassioned plea for clemency by Mr. Whitman, and an appeal by Ferdinand Pecora, assistant district attorney, that the punishment "be such as to satisfy the public that justice has been done and that the law is no respector of persons."

Anderson was freed in $5,000 bail on a stay of execution to permit Mr. Whitman to seek a certificate of reasonable doubt, which the trial court refused to grant. Arguments for a certificate will be heard by the court on Feb. 15.

League Sued for Libel.

As he left the courtroom Anderson was served with papers in a $105,000 libel suit brought against the league by Francis Cortwright of Corning, N. Y., who has accused the league of having libeled him in literature distributed throughout the district in which he was a candidate for the state assembly in 1922.

Justice Tompkins recalled that Anderson was found guilty of forgery in the third degree on an indictment alleging he had falsified the books of the league by transferring the sum of $4,000 from the salary account of O. Bertsall Phillips, a fund collector, to Phillips' expense account. At the outset, the court remarked that a suspended sentence was customary where a defendant had confessed and said he was sorry, and when boys committed crimes.

Brands Testimony Untrue.

"But this is not such a case," the court declared. "This crime was deliberately committed.

"Some of his testimony could not have been true if the statements in his affidavit to the league were true.

"This is not a proper case for a fine because the law does not permit it. It is not a proper case for the reformatory because of the age of the defendant. It is not a case for the penitentiary because he might be detained there three years. The sentence is that you be confined in the state prison for not less than one year and not more than two."

Cell if He Loses Motion.

The argument for a certificate of reasonable doubt will be heard by Supreme Court Justice Wagner. If the motion is denied, Anderson must go at once to Sing Sing prison and begin serving sentence. An appeal will not save him from a cell.

Under the sentence he also is a felon and his citizenship is forfeited. The four other indictments, for grand larceny and extortion, will be held in abeyance over him.

COOLIDGE SIGNS REVOCATION OF BIG OIL LEASES

New Scandal Seen in Colombia Treaty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—While the senate continued to debate the resolution calling for the removal of Secretary of the Navy Denby, the naval oil lease scandal developed still more ramifications today and maintained the center of the national stage unchallenged for popular interest. The principal developments were:

1. President Coolidge signed the Walsh resolution directing the institution of proceedings to nullify the Doheny and Sinclair leases, but in an accompanying statement took exception to the preamble, in which the senate usurped judicial function when it pronounced the leases invalid and corruptly obtained.

May Vote Denby Out Today.

2. The senate paved the way for a vote tomorrow on the resolution calling for Secretary of the Navy Denby's resignation, with indications pointing to its adoption tomorrow.

3. William G. McAdoo was notified that the investigating committee would be ready to hear him testify Monday in explanation of the $150,000 fees and retainers paid to him by Edward L. Doheny after he left the cabinet.

4. The nomination of Silas Strawn of Chicago and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio to be special oil prosecutors were sent by President Coolidge to the senate and referred to the public lands committee (conducting the present investigation).

5. A resolution offered by Senator La Follette [Rep., Wis.] to widen the scope of the inquiry so as to include investigation of the circumstances under which the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company obtained control of a large tract of land in naval reserve No. 2 (California).

Probe Another Fall Activity.

6. Senator Dill [Dem., Wash.] introduced a resolution calling upon the state department for all diplomatic correspondence and other data relating to the Colombian treaty, the ratification of which was strongly urged by Albert B. Fall as another step for the protection of American oil concessions.

7. Representatives Jeffers [Dem., Ala.] and Browning [Dem., Tenn.] offered a resolution in the house calling for an inquiry into the income tax records of Harry F. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny, and E. L. Doheny Jr.

8. The investigating committee heard the testimony of Frederick G. Bonfils, part owner of the Denver Post, who said he and his partners received $250,000 from Harry F. Sinclair in settlement of claims they held on the Teapot Dome reserve.

9. John C. Shaffer of Chicago, publisher of the Chicago Evening Post, the Rocky Mountain News of Denver, and other newspapers, was subpoenaed to appear as a witness in connection with facts disclosed by Bonfil's testimony.

10. Capital expects Attorney General Daughtery back from Florida; rumors of his speedy resignation afloat.

Coolidge's Attitude.

Explaining his attitude on the Walsh resolution, President Coolidge stated:

"I have approved joint resolution [S. J. Res. 54] in order that a prompt and thorough investigation may be made and appropriate action taken. I express no opinion with reference to the facts which purport to be found in the preambles to the resolution and with reference to those parts of the resolution which, under the constitution, do not require concurrence of the senate and house of representatives and which are unnecessary to be presented to the President of the United States to make them effective.

Function of the Courts.

"As I said in my public statement issued under date of Jan. 26, it is for the courts to determine the legal effect of the circumstances incident to the execution of the leases and contracts mentioned, and whether they were executed with or without authority on the part of the officers purporting to act for the United States, and in good faith. I reiterate that it is the function of the courts to determine criminal guilt and to render judgment in civil cases, and that I propose to have done.

"In view of the importance of the subject matter and limited legal force now available to care for the vast amount of litigation in which the gov-

Naval Chief Must Get Out, Says Senator

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Lean Walsh of Montana carved his way into the Denby fat on the floor of the senate this afternoon.

His progress was as precise as it was pitiless.

At the end of two hours he came out on the other side.

His method was not spectacular. It was dryly desolating. It was the method of the hot wind that on some baking afternoons in midsummer moves across his plains. It blistered while it traveled.

He did not make the thronged galleries gasp or titter; he made them listen. He did not charge the secretary of the navy with crimes warranting impeachment. He specifically deprecated any such intention.

Instead he charged him with the brand of stupidity which Talleyrand said was worse than crime. He charged him with blundering.

Departs from Custom.

He gave rapid utterance to sentences that ended not in chaos but with periods, and such sentences are not the kind most often released by orators in the upper house.

These are specimens of his devastating precision:

"I say I bear no malice toward Mr. Denby. He tells us that the wool was pulled over his eyes, and he hopes to escape by that infantile excuse the just retribution that is due him for his faithlessness to the great trust that he assumed.

"Mr. President, I am not to be deterred. I shall nothing extenuate nor set down aught in malice, but I am not to be deterred from my duty by any such banal appeal as that made by Mr. Denby."

Down on the word "banal" lean Walsh came with a crash of emphasis that was not so much an angry shout as a contemptuous snarl. It came gritty and scraping from his throat.

Plies Lash of Language.

Taking up Senator Lodge's charge that Mr. Denby is to be "tried and convicted without a hearing," Senator Walsh said:

"Mr. President, out of his own mouth he is condemned," and then, using the word "several" in its legalistic sense, where most of us would have used "different," and shading four verbs with a delicacy to warm the heart of a listener who loves the copiousness and the variety of the English language, he said:

"Mr. Denby was called before the committee of three several times and was given every opportunity to defend, explain, excuse, or extenuate his acts or his failure to act.

"How many more opportunities does he want?

"How many more should be given him?"

At this point the senator paused, smiling with a certain wryness. Taking between thumb and forefinger a press clipping, he handed it to a page, who carried it to the secretary of the senate.

Has Press Comments Read.

Permission that it be read was granted. It was from a St. Louis paper called the Censor. It said that Walsh was a hyena. When it had said that in general and in detail, the dry, tired voice that still carried far was heard again.

These were the words:

"A chilling wind comes from the Pacific."

Again a clipping, again the business of thumb and forefinger, again the page, again the laconic permission for

RIVAL OFFICERS IN HOT BATTLE; KLAN GATHERS

Troops Rushing In; One Man Killed.

BULLETIN.

Carbondale, Ill., Feb. 9, 1:30 a. m.—The headquarters company, state guard, began leaving here at 1:30 o'clock this morning in trucks for Herrin. The troops are fully equipped. They are expected to arrive in Herrin in an hour.

Marion, Ill., Feb. 9, 2 a. m.—The war in Williamson county flared up into new flames late last night. Klan and anti-Klan forces are arrayed against each other in Herrin and threaten to shoot it out.

One man has been killed, another is dying, and three have been kidnaped. Their fate is in doubt.

State troops have been called and are on their way to Herrin in an effort to prevent more bloodshed.

One company, going by truck from Carbondale, is expected at any moment. Four more companies are on the way.

Klan vs. Sheriff.

It is the same old trouble which has been the beginning of many battles. Bootlegging is the cause or is being made the excuse for the raids and counter raids and pitched battles.

On the one side is the klan and its "dry" raiders, headed by S. Glenn Young. On the other is the sheriff of Williamson county and his deputies.

Klan Law Enforcer.

Each faction claims to have the law on its side. The sheriff says he will clean up the bootleggers if the klan will support him. The klan claims the county authorities are lax and that the klan's vigilance committee must enforce the law.

It was the activity of the klan raiders which this week caused the French government to file protest with the officials in Washington, asserting that the rights of French citizens in Williamson county were being violated.

Dry Raider Killed.

The real cause of and the circumstances surrounding the night's battle are somewhat in doubt. These facts are known:

Constable Caesar Cagle, leader in the klan and a dry raider, was shot and killed.

Deputy Sheriff John Layman was seriously wounded.

Three of Herrin's police force—Chief John Ford, Assistant Chief Grain, and Patrolman Frank Stephens—have been spirited away. Klan leaders assert they were kidnaped. The sheriff's forces say they were arrested and taken away for "safekeeping."

Armed Men Parading.

The Ku Klux Klan at 1 o'clock this morning was in complete control of Herrin, not allowing any one in or out of the city who was not a klansman.

They were parading back and forth on the main street armed with shotguns, revolvers, and weapons of all kinds. The city hall is headquarters.

Klansmen Rush to Herrin.

As soon as word of the shootings flashed through Williamson county members of the klan began to rush in from every surrounding town.

The roads were crowded as car after car filled with armed men rushed for Herrin. There were representatives of Marion, Johnston City, Carterville, and Carbondale in Marion within a short time.

Leaders of the klan in Marion sought to prevent a gathering of their members, but could not control the rush to Herrin.

A mob gathered around the Herrin hospital, where John Layman was taken, is said to have made threats, but has done nothing thus far.

The Sheriff's Version.

The first version of tonight's affray was telephoned to Marion by Sheriff George Galligan of Williamson county.

The sheriff asserted that he was in a room at the Rome club in conference with Col. A. L. Culberson of the Illinois national guard, who was sent to Herrin to prevent a threatened outbreak. With them was Deputy Sheriff John Layman.

Suddenly, the sheriff reported, three Herrin policemen broke into the room and opened fire. Layman fell and the policemen rushed out. Cagle, the sheriff reported, was shot later in the street near the Jefferson hotel.

Version of the Klan.

The klansmen assert that the trouble began with the killing of Constable Cagle. They allege that Clagle was attacked and shot dead by a mob headed by Deputy Sheriff John Layman and that, following that attack, the mob went to the Rome club; that the Herrin police received a riot call there, and that the shooting of Layman followed in that place.

While the darkened Main street of Herrin is filled with groups of armed men, the foreign section of the city is all quiet, and seemingly unaware of any disturbance.

The Klansmen are making their headquarters at the city hall, and every one is stopped not once but three and four times and required to give the password or the sign. A group of youths loafing in a restaurant were kept inside and not allowed to go home.

Before they allow any one to leave the town or come into the town, the Klansmen require the password.

Frisked of Their "Hardware."

The klansmen work in groups of three and four, armed with shotguns and rifles. If a person is not able to give the password he is searched for "hardware" and then after a thorough inquisition as to his name, his business, his purpose in Herrin, made by from three to twenty armed men, he is allowed to go on his way if he follows the way pointed out to him.

The city hall is in complete control of the klan and the Herrin police say no one can get inside the building unless he has the password. Those that did not have it were forced to move on during the early part of the evening. Later they were not allowed on the principal street at all.

Trouble Starts with Young.

On Wednesday of this week S. Glenn Young, hired klan raid leader, arrested E. C. Frick, foreman of the Williamson county grand jury, upon a charge of having liquor in his home.

Frick, who is a supervisor from Herrin township, former Herrin police officer, and known as a prohibitionist, denied having any liquor and alleges that the quart bottle found in his home was placed there for the purpose of the raid.

Instead of being taken to Benton before the United States commissioner, Frick was rushed to West Frankfort and held there without bail, until the United States commissioner at Benton ordered his release, because the grand jury in Marion was unable to act until his return, Frick being the only member of the jury with power to swear witnesses.

Col. Culbertson Arrives.

Colonel Culbertson whose home is in Delevan, arrived in Marion yesterday morning for an investigation of conditions in the county and found thing to be rather tense, but saw nothing to foreshadow an uprising of the kind that resulted last night.

The tension was due to the arrest of the grand jury foreman, which State's Attorney Duty charges is a frameup due to a miniature riot in a mine local at Johnston City, when an Italian miner sought to eject an American-born miner from the local there.

Cagle has been active in the klan raids. He was a bitter opponent of the sheriff's office. Following the recent raids in Herrin, foreigners whose homes were searched, swore out warrants for the arrest of Cagle, alleging assault and larceny. Cagle was under indictment on charges of forgery and operating confidence games, previous to the klan activity in the county.

Bribe Accusations Made.

Layman has been the "big stick" behind Sheriff George Galligan and the most bitter opponent of the klan and Glenn Young, the klan's raid leader.

Layman is accused by the klan of accepting bribes from bootleggers, so that they could operate, but the charges have never been preferred in open court. The county board of supervisors at one time made an attempt to secure the resignation of Layman as a supervisor, but withdrew the motion after a half day's debate.

At the time troops were ordered into the county, in January, Mayor C. E. Anderson and his council could not agree on police officers, and the mayor was appointing the officers for short terms of thirty days, the police officers then being forced to sue the city to collect their pay, which they had successfully done.

As one of the terms for the withdrawal of troops, however, Mayor Anderson had his police officers resign and allowed the councilmen to name their own officers, all of whom were klansmen and who were in charge of the city affairs tonight when the trouble occured.

Young, the hired leader of the klan raids, is, according to Sheriff George Galligan, more responsible than any one else for the situation. Young's open display of machine guns and revolvers at the time of his trial in a justice court for assaulting Paul Corder, a Marion merchant, was the contributing reason for the call of troops before.

Galligan contends that the continued presence of Young in the county and the continuance of the raids in the county by Young has revived the bitter feeling that had been existent.

TROOPS RACING TO SCENE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—In response to an urgent request for troops to quell the threatened riot, Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, on direction of Gov. Small, tonight ordered five companies to proceed to Herrin, where a constable was killed and a deputy sheriff wounded. The commands ordered to Herrin, all from the 130th Infantry, follow: Company I, Salem; Company K, Cairo; Company L, Mount Vernon; Company M, of Paris, and the headquarters company, of Carbondale.

Black directed the headquarters company of Carbondale to mobilise at the earliest possible moment and proceed to Herrin in trucks, a distance of eighteen miles.

"Col. Culbertson was sent to Williamson county last night to investigate rumors of pending trouble," Adj. Gen. Black said. "I have talked to him twice over the telephone tonight and he informed me that troops should be sent to prevent a threatened outbreak."

The invasion of troops will be the second in Williamson county within the last sixty days.

Deputy Sheriff John Layman, who was shot at Herrin tonight, was in charge in Williamson county when the first outbreak occurred. Sheriff Galligan was ill at his home at the time and, although he directed his men from his bed, was unable to take an active part in the effort to establish order.

FRENCH DEMAND U. S. ACT

Prior to last night's outburst, it was expected that troops would have to be sent back to "Bloody Williamson" county as a result of demands of the French and Italian governments upon the state department at Washington.

In the capital action was awaited at the Italian and French embassies. Ambassador Jusserand has been informed that outrages and robberies have been committed upon members of a French colony in Johnston City ostensibly by the raiders.

M. Barthelemy, French consul in Chicago, precipitated action in Washington after he received letters complaining of alleged robbery and pillaging by the bands of supposed klux raiders. The consul said these letters came from representatives of 100 French families in the Johnston City district.

Young, questioned in Marion, refused to give details concerning his authority to make prohibition raids. He said simply that "every raid in Williamson county was made in a legal and legitimate manner by the best citizens in the county."

Has "Full Authority."

He refused to say anything concerning his status, whether local or federal: But he reiterated that he has "full authority." He claimed to have a "badge," but would not show it to the correspondent.

Concerning the protest of the French governmen, Young said:

"That means nothing to me. I was never present at any raid in Johnston City. The mayor, chief of police, and his force and 500 citizens of Johnston City will back me up in this."

Spectacular Career Reveals How Young Got His Dry Job

It became known early yesterday afternoon that Col. Culbertson of the state National guard had visited Herrin and Johnston City and was likely to call for troops.

Col. Culbertson commanded the state forces which recently occupied Williamson county during the three-cornered "booze war" in which the klux, the local authorities, and the bootleggers were engaged. He would make no statement during the day, except to say that he was on a "tour of inspection."

Meantime it developed that S. Glenn Young, who, heavily armed, has led the klux in their wholesale raids all over the county, is not regularly in the pay of the federal government, but employed by the klan only. Assistant Commissioner of Prohibition James E. Jones at headquarters in Washington, said Young is not in the prohibition service and has not been since he was separated from it, after serving for six months in 1920.

Gets Job at Eleventh Hour.

But Young, it is learned, is not without friends in the prohibition unit. While he may not have been directly connected with the government, he has nevertheless been the leader in many raids as a specially deputized prohibition agent—deputized at the last minute, individually for each raid. And deputized many and many a time. Also he has given the impression that he was a federal agent.

Vic Armitage and J. Loeffler, prohibition agents with roving commissions fro mWashington, are the men who have frequently deputized Young. They were sent to Williamson by Commissioner Haines at the request of a "citizens' committee," which is said to have been a committee of klansmen, to "clean up the territory." They found S. Glenn Young molded to their hands—"the toughest man in the United States."

Raise a Purse for Him.

And if the prohibition agents found Young a comfortable man to have around, the local kluxers did also. They recently raised a purse of $3,000 for Young, and Sam Sterns, chairman of the county board of supervisors, Fred Simpson, and other officers of the klan in Williamson county admitted as late as yesterday for the "nth" time that the klan is backing Young, both "morally and financially."

Young's picturesque career has fitted him peculiarly to dominate, with his infallible shooting irons, a territory such as "Bloody Williamson," scene of the Herrin slaughter of eighteen month sago.

For twenty years, it appears, Young has been a professional man hunter for the love of it; trailing men into the fastnesses of the Kentucky mountains, bringing them back through miles of dangers or shooting it out with them if they chose that way. Once at least he has done that very thing, bringing out the body of Jim Rose, known in other days as a notorious mountain outlaw.

"Brought Him Out—Dead."

"I followed him," Young has related, "and finally met him. We were all alone up there in the wilderness, just me and him and God. I brought him out—dead."

That was in the days before prohibition. In those same days, as a special agent of the department of internal revenue, he rounded up Decatur Crawley and a notorious band of moonshiners, taking them alive and sending them to prison.

Personally, Young is described as moderately mild till he moves into action, rather taciturn and grim. He is not tall; compact body full of steely muscles. Sad, almost mournful of visage, with eyes pale gray and chill as a snowy winter sky, and—it is assumed—almost as depressing when focused on an "evildoer."

He is said to have many notches on his gun, but he does not talk of that. He has eleven scrap books with "stories" of his exploits clipped from newspapers.

In action he is described by his admirers as a Tom Mix, Bill Hart, and half a dozen other "bad" men of the photoplays all rolled into one.

Gets Both of His Men.

Recently Young was called to Golconda by the sheriff, who feared to arrest a father and son who had terrorized the community. Young went to the outside of their home and waited in ambush "to take them by surprise and arrest them." As evening came on he grew impatient. He walked up to the house; he was going inside to arrest them. They came out together—shooting. He killed them both, and the citizens of the community by public subscription gave him $600 for the exploit.

His only boast to any one of a half dozen TRIBUNE reporters who have interviewed him over a period of months was when he fondly patted a long barrelled blue .45 caliber automatic pistol and said: "I can knock them over at 600 yards with this sweetheart!"

Young is something over 40 years old. He was graduated a score of years ago from the Marquette college of Milwaukee. He says he chose man hunting as a career, and expects when his time comes to "die with my boots on."

MRS. SELFRIDGE NOW REPORTED OUT OF DANGER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Lois Selfridge, mother of H. Gordon Selfridge, formerly of Chicago, who has been seriously ill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Sibour, is now out of danger, according to her physician, unless some complication develops.

Mr. Selfridge, who sailed from London last week, landed yesterday at Halifax and is expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Mrs. Selfridge came to Washington about three weeks ago and shortly after contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia. Although about 90 years of age, she bore up remarkably well, passed successfully through the crisis of the disease, and is thought to be on the road to recovery.

WILSON-FRENCH PACT AIMED AT ITALY—ORLANDO

ROME, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Vittorio E. Orlando, who represented Italy at the formulation of the Versailles peace treaty, today gave a statement to the Associated Press in connection with the alleged revelations of David Lloyd George concerning an agreement over the Ruhr between President Wilson and M. Clemenceau, then French premier.

Sig. Orlando said President Wilson gave up his opposition to M. Clemenceau's plan with regard to the Ruhr in order to buy Clemenceau's support for Wilson's schemes against Italy's aspirations. He added that the fact that an agreement was reached between President Wilson and M. Clemenceau on the Ruhr was common knowledge at the Paris conference, but that he took no part in it and knew of its existence "only to the same extent as Mr. Lloyd George knew of it."

Had Opposed Holding Rhine.

President Wilson, according to Sig. Orlando, energetically opposed French occupation of the Rhineland until April 12, 1919, when a meeting of the "big four" (Wilson, Lloyd George, Clemenceau, and Orlando) was held in order to fix the date for calling the German delegates.

"It was a most stormy sitting," Sig. Orlando continued. "Because I energetically declared that the meeting with the Germans could not occur until the essential problems of Fiume and Dalmatia had been solved. It was therefore decided to postpone calling the German delegates until April 25, President Wilson binding himself to dedicate the whole of the intervening time to a discussion of the Italian problems.

Stands by London Pact.

"Our allies, France and England declared themselves ready to observe the pact of London, but pointed out that the past did not assign Fiume to Italy. I therefore was placed in the dilemma of having to choose between Fiume and the pact of London."

Finally, Sig. Orlando continued, he chose the pact of London, hoping to be able to obtain Fiume by later negotiations.

"This decision," he said, "I communicated to the council of four April 19. I remember the deep impression it created, because it left the allies no choice but to integrally apply the pact of London, despite all opposition. This happened, I repeat, on April 19.

"On April 20 President Wilson granted Clemenceau what previously he strenuously had denied him, namely, consent to the occupation of the Rhineland. On April 23 he hurled at me his famous message which virtually placed Italy outside the conference."

Sig. Orlando's reference was to President Wilson's declaration that he would not yield to Italy's claims on the Adriatic, after which the Italian delegation left Paris.

"If these dates are considered together," Orlando went on, "the deductions are too obvious to need explanation. My opinion of Mr. Lloyd George's intelligence is too great to believe the naive statement attributed to him, that President Wilson yielded on the matter of the Rhineland on condition that M. Clemenceau cause the campaign in the French press against the American President to cease. He was playing for higher stakes. He did it to induce Clemenceau to support him in the pitiless war he was waging against Italy and to isolate me even from my allies."

FORMER KAISER AND WIFE PART OVER CHILDREN

[Copyright: 1924: By New York World (Press Publishing Co.).]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The former German emperor and his wife, Hermine, have separated, the World learns from circles close to the Hohenzollern family.

Hermine has moved back to her Silesian estate and the household goods already are divided. There is no divorce.

The cause of the separation is believed to be Hermine's children, with whom the former kaiser did not agree. Hermine arrived at the point of choosing between her children and her husband, and decided on the children.

MEASURE TO END TAX FREE BONDS LOSES IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Congress will not during the present session propose for ratification by the states a constitutional amendment prohibiting the future issuance of tax exempt securities.

The joint resolution proposing such an amendment as advocated by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon met defeat in the house tonight after a two days' debate. While a majority vote was obtained, the affirmative total fell seven votes short of the necessary two-thirds. The vote was 247 for to 133 against the resolution.

Seventeen Republicans were recorded against the proposition, while sixty-nine Democrats voted with a majority of the Republicans for the measure.

Under the proposed constitutional amendment it would have been possible for the federal government to tax incomes on future issues of state and municipal securities, and the states in turn could have taxed income from federal securities.

The same resolution received the approval of the house in the last session, but the increase in Democratic strength in the present congress proved sufficient to defeat it this time.

Today's action is expected to end all activity in behalf of the proposition during the present session. The result in the senate probably would be even more unfavorable than in the house.

AS EXECUTION BRINGS SPEEDY, MERCIFUL DEATH

Tong Slayer First Victim of Nevada's New Law.

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Lethal gas as a form of capital punishment was used for the first time here today, when Gee Jon, Chinese, convicted of killing a rival tong man, was put to death.

Before the Chinese was put to death the gas apparatus had been tested only once. Yesterday a cat was placed in the death cell and killed.

Physicians and scientists who attended the execution were harmonious in pronouncing it a swift, painless method. Several of them said they considered it the most merciful form yet devised, less gruesome than hanging, and entailing less suffering than shooting or beheading or any of the other traditional ways of execution.

Killed Aged Laundryman.

It is charged that Gee Jon was a gunman, hired by a tong to go to Mina, Nev., and shoot down an aged laundryman who belonged to a hostile tong.

The shooting was on Aug. 27, 1921. Two futile appeals were made to the Supreme court of the United States, before which the argument was made that lethal gas was a cruel form of death.

Gov. J. G. Schrugham refused to discuss lethal gas as a form of execution. It was by his vote, thirteen hours before the execution that the state pardon board commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Thomas Russell, who also had been condemned to die this morning.

Insane Through Fear.

Gee Jon, who had been extremely nervous and restless as the days brought him nearer the time when he would be the means of testing a new form of execution, seemed to brace himself last night. He slept for a time. His attorneys had said he had become insane through fear of the gas.

About 9:35 o'clock this morning, Gee Jon was led by two guards to the death chamber. He walked firmly. He had no comment to make. When the guards were strapping him in the death chair, he began to weep softly.

The official witnesses all were newspaper men, and as they and the physicians grouped themselves about the window of the cell, Gee Jon glanced at them, but without apparent interest. He looked down at the strap about his waist.

Gas Let Into Death Cell.

At 9:40 the lethal drug liquid hydrocyanic acid, was let into the room through a small hole in the floor. It came as a fine spray and made a hissing sound, faintly audible outside.

At the sound the condemned man turned his head. Then he breathed deeply and his head fell forward. It continued to move up and down occasionally for six minutes, but he apparently was unconscious.

Two of the physicians expressed the opinion that death had come to him with the first breath of the vaporised acid, and that the movements of his head were but the muscular reactions that frequently follow death.

The Chinese was not pronounced dead officially until 12:25, when his body had been removed from the death chamber and the physicians had examined it.

Spectators in Danger.

Warden Dickerson said he considered lethal gas a humane form of execution.

"Yet," he added, "this execution involved danger to the spectators. If any one of a number of things had gone wrong, others would have died with Gee Jon. Hence it will be necessary if lethal gas is to supplant other forms of execution, to devise more safe means."

UNIQUE COUNTRY HOME FOR RICH FOLKS PLANNED

Plans for a community country home for wealthy folks were revealed yesterday when Lucius Teter, president of the Chicago Trust company, announced an option has been taken on the Granger Farwell "Knollwood farm," west of Lake Forest. The farm contains 471 acres and the price will be approximately $283,000.

Under the plan one large stretch of lawn with bridle paths, tennis courts, golf course, swimming pools, and other features of wealthy homes will be surrounded with "cottages" of from ten to thirty rooms each. A large club house with all modern equipment is also projected. The "cottages" will be occupied by those investing in the venture.

A committee has been named to work out details of the scheme. It consists of P. L. Coonley, J. M. Cudahy, John V. Farwell, Louis R. Wasey, Thomas E. Wilson, and F. Edson White. Others interested are Ralph A. Bard, Albert B. Pick, C. R. Erwin, Stanley Field, Charles W. Folds, W. V. Kelley, R. P. Lamont, C. M. Leonard, N. W. MacChesney, A. C. McCord, C. E. Moderwell, J. W. O'Leary, H. A. Requa, F. P. Smith, Walter C. Winter and Everts Wrenn.

MRS. C. A. POWELL WINS DIVORCE, $50,000 ALIMONY

Three Chicago women appealed to the Circuit and Superior courts yesterday for divorces. One was granted a decree and $50,000 alimony.

The alimony was granted to Mrs. [illegible] Powell, who lives in Park [illegible] after she had told Judge Emmanuel Eller that her husband, Claude A. Powell, treasurer for the Marquette Phonograph company, 730 North Franklin street, had deserted her.

Mrs. Coral Hackett, 4557 Oakenwald avenue, asked that she be divorced from Malcom Hackett, formerly a [illegible] agent for the Goodrich Transit company. She said that she was married on Aug. 10 of last year, and had separated from her husband on Sept. [illegible] after her husband had been brought back to Chicago on a charge of embezzling $5,200 from the steamship company.

JURY DIRECTS DEATH OF TWO SKIBA SLAYERS

Opens Campaign for Quicker Trials.

Henry Wilson and Lucius Delton, Negro highwaymen, were condemned to die on the gallows for the murder of Policeman Vincent X. Skiba of the South Chicago police station by a jury before Chief Justice John R. Caverly yesterday—exactly one month after their victim fell dead.

The jurors deliberated only ten minutes before signing the death verdict. When they filed into the jury box a few minutes later they assisted in State's Attorney Crowe's and Judge Caverly's first demonstration of their campaign to place murderers on trial within a month after the commission of the crime.

Foreman Lauds Colleagues.

"If every jury that sits in the box would do as this jury has done, the number of murders such as this would be materially decreased," said Foreman John J. Megee, 3532 Rokeby street. "If the gunmen knew they were going to stand face to face with the gallows a week or a month after they killed, they would hesitate a long time before they pulled the trigger."

The entire jury then called Assistant State's Attorneys William W. and Milton David Smith and complimented them.

Mrs. Skiba, widow of the murdered policeman, went to the two prosecutors and wept when she attempted to thank them. She then went to State's Attorney Crowe's office and thanked him.

Crowe Praises Slain Man.

"Mrs. Skiba, your husband was a just and honorable policeman. I knew him for many years," Mr. Crowe told her. "His death will mean that justice in Cook county will be dealt out to all murderers while the blood still is on their hands. The old régime of stalling and continuing cases has come to an end."

The killing of Policeman Skiba occurred on the evening of Jan. 7. Dolton and Wilson, in company with Eddie Duncan, who has entered a plea of guilty and is awaiting sentence by Chief Justice Caverly, went to South Chicago and robbed an Atlantic and Pacific tea store on South Chicago avenue.

The police were notified. Policemen Skiba and Joseph Lamb jumped into a flivver and trailed the thieves for five blocks, overtaking them at 79th street and Merrill avenue.

The thieves opened fire when ordered to halt. Skiba fell mortally wounded.

PROSECUTOR OF GOV. SMALL ASKS RENOMINATION

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Col. A. V. Smith, state's attorney of Lake county, who aided in the prosecution of Gov. Len Small and his alleged jury bribers at Waukegan, filed his petition yesterday as a candidate for renomination. Three other candidates filed for the Republican nomination. The Small crowd in Lake county is backing Eugene Runyard against Col. Smith. The other candidates are William A. Deane, whom Smith defeated in 1920, and James G. Welch, former state's attorney.

Col. Smith is the first Lake county state's attorney to make the office pay for itself. In his first three years he has covered all expenses and turned $21,000 into the county treasury.

BAILIFFS' PAY CUT $500 BY COURT RULING

Because the state Supreme court refused yesterday to reconsider an earlier decision that proposed salary increases for Municipal court attachés must be submitted to the voters for approval, the pay of deputy bailiffs was slashed from $2,000 to the old standard of $1,500 a year.

Not only does the court's ruling reduce salaries but it lops off twenty-four new deputies hired by Chief Bailiff Dennis Egan under authority granted him last summer by the justices of the Municipal court.

Egan struck a snag when he sought a special appropriation from the council finance committee for the new deputies, as well as funds for increased salaries for the old assistants.

Chief Justice Taft Back at Desk After Illness

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Chief Justice Taft has recovered from his recent attack of indigestion and was at his desk in his home today attending to correspondence.

FIND BODIES OF THREE MEN, WOMAN; VICTIMS OF MOONSHINE PARTY

Bodies of three men and a woman, believed to have been asphyxiated after a moonshine party on Jan. 20, were removed by the Desplaines street police yesterday from a dwelling at 507 South Aberdeen street. Thomas Hannon, 1059 West Congress street, a city fireman, reported to the police that a strong odor of gas was coming from the house.

When the door was battered in the police found the bodies of Bert Crowley and his wife, Delthia, in the front room. The bodies of Charles Hock and Charles W. Stadler, probably boarders at the Crowley home, both about 50 years old, were discovered in two other bedrooms. All were fully clothed.

Two almost empty bottles, which had contained moonshine, and two open burners on the gas stove in the kitchen, told the story of their passing. It is believed one of the occupants accidentally brushed against the burners. The police fixed the date of death by unopened mail and newspapers found on one of the beds.

DAUGHTER OF ARTHUR MEEKER TO SEEK DIVORCE

Mrs. Grace Meeker Cramer, second daughter of the Arthur Meekers, 3030 Lake Shore drive, has separated from her husband, Ambrose C. Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Cramer of Lake Forest and the Drake, preliminary to the filing of a divorce bill, her father declared last night.

"It's all true about the separation," Mr. Meeker admitted last night. "Their friends have known it for some time."

"No, there really isn't anything to say," he commented slowly. "It's just one of those unfortunate, unhappy affairs for which no one seems to be to blame. It's too bad, for it all started out so happily and pleasantly."

Several weeks ago, according to Mr. Meeker, Mrs. Cramer took the two children, Ambrose Jr., 6, and the fourteen months old baby to her home at Santa Barbara, Cal. She plans to make that her permanent home.

Grace Meeker, still a debutante, was married to the young architect, Ambrose Cramer, April 12, 1916, at a fashionable afternoon wedding. Her attendants included Lolita Armour, Isabelle Baker, Katherine Keith, and Julia Belle Faurot. The ribbon stretchers were Mary Meeker, a sister of the bride, and Mary Landon Baker.

JILTED WOMAN KILLS MAN, THEN SUMMONS POLICE

Elizabeth Platt, 40 years old, keeper of a rooming house at 1458 West Madison street, shot and killed young Sam Beischoff, an employé of the Chicago Thrift company, last night after Beischoff had declared he was through with her and would not marry her. He was 25 years old.

Mrs. Pratt had been seeking a "final accounting" with her reluctant swain for some time. Last evening she called him on the telephone and asked him to come to her for a talk. The couple were sitting in the woman's bedroom when she snatched out a revolver and shot him. Another couple in an adjoining room, Allan and Clara Wells, did not know that anything unusual had occurred until the arrival of the police.

Mrs. Platt called the Des Plaines street station, told the police she had killed a man, and asked them to come for her. At the police station Mrs. Platt sought to justify her action. She said Beischoff first drew a knife and that it was "God's will" that she should kill him. Her sanity is questioned by the police.

JOHNSON WANTS OWN DELEGATES FROM ILLINOIS

Ickes Distrusts the Regular Slate.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Harold L. Ickes, Illinois manager of Senator Hiram Johnson's presidential campaign, opened his attack yesterday on the slate of uninstructed delegates at large indorsed by the Republican state committee last Wednesday.

Mr. Ickes declared this slate is "wholly unacceptable," because it is "made up almost overwhelmingly of persons who are known to be opposed to Senator Johnson."

Johnson to Tour Illinois.

Ickes' definite decision to run a Johnson slate at large and by districts marks the beginning of a vigorous campaign in Illinois to send to the Republican national convention a delegation pledged to fight to the last ditch for the California senator's nomination. Senator Johnson himself will make a tour of the state to speak in some of the most important cities.

It was intimated strongly yesterday that the Johnson slate, which will be formed as rapidly as possible, will include William Wrigley Jr., despite the fact that the "chewing gum king" has been placed on the uninstructed list sponsored by the state committee. The Johnson managers feel confident that Wrigley personally favors the Californian's nomination, despite a friendly attitude towards President Coolidge.

Distrusts "Uninstructed" Delegates.

"The proposal to run a list of uninstructed delegates at large on the theory that they will vote for that candidate for President who receives the indorsement of the Republican voters at the polls is wholly unacceptable," Mr. Ickes said.

"This proposal, plausible on its face, would not deceive the merest political tyro. There have been uninstructed delegates to other Republican national conventions pledged to abide by the popular will of their states as expressed at the polls.

"There was such a delegation from Michigan four years ago. Senator Johnson carried Michigan overwhelmingly at the primaries. The greater part of the delegates, however, had been selected by the party organization and were men accountable to and controlled by the party organization.

"These delegates went through the form of supporting Johnson on a few ballots, but every politician in the convention knew that they were not for Johnson at heart."

Szymczak Seeks Congress Seat.

Petitions were put in circulation yesterday for M. S. Szymczak, secretary to County Judge Jarecki, as a Democratic candidate for congress from the Seventh district. Prof. Szymczak formerly was instructor in English at De Paul university. The district is now represented by Congressman M. A. Michaelson, Republican.

WOMAN DENIES DIVORCED MATE WOUNDED HER

Mrs. Ethel Sebolt and her husband, Dr. Frank B. Sebolt, who were shot as they entered the vestibule of their home at 6508 South Park avenue on Thursday night, told the police yesterday that her former husband, Elmer Dall, had nothing to do with the shooting.

Mrs. Sebolt said a robber attempted to hold them up and when she screamed he fired. The police, however, are searching for Dall to question him. The mystery about the shooting, police said, is that the couple showed reluctance to talk of the affair. Dr. and Mrs. Sebolt left the hospital for their home yesterday.

Coolidge Wins First Place on Illinois Primary Ballot

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE.
[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

President Coolidge won first place on the Illinois Republican primary ballot over Senator Hiram Johnson of California yesterday. His petition, mailed in Springfield, reached Secretary of State Emmerson's office an hour earlier than Johnson's which was mailed in Chicago.

No Democratic candidate for president filed yesterday, the first day for presenting petitions to the secretary of state.

The Coolidge petition was taken to Springfield and placed in the mail there by State Representative John H. Byers [Rep., Lee], who also filed his own petition as a candidate for renomination. Edward J. Cook of Chicago handled Senator Johnson's petition.

Names Will Rotate.

The Springfield scramble for position on the ballot was limited to candidates for congress and the legislature, as the names of all candidates for state offices rotate or alternate by senatorial districts according to the alphabetical sequence of their surnames. Thus, assuming that they will be the only gubernatorial entries in the Republican primary, State Senator Thurlow G. Essington's name will be first in the first district and in all "odd numbered" districts thereafter, while Gov. Small's name will be first in all the "even numbered" districts. The same system applies to candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, state treasurer, and attorney general.

Gov. Small's petition was filed by his secretary, George D. Sutton. William Curder of Chicago filed Ex-Gov. Deneen's petition for United States senator, and Senator Medill McCormick's was filed by Emil Wentzlaff, messenger for Attorney General Brundage and the Brundage-Crowe-Barrett-Harding slate.

Emmerson's Staff Rushed.

Petitions for the state and county slates of the Democratic "regulars" were filed by John Quinlan, assistant secretary of the managing committee.

State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne of Ottawa and C. B. Thomas of East St. Louis, independent Democratic candidates for governor, had their petitions in the early mail.

Secretary Emmerson's office was pressed to its limit in handling the big batch of legislative petitions. There was little confusion in County Clerk Sweitzer's office, as there were comparatively few "free lance" candidates, and petitions of the "regulars" were handled through the mail.

In the fight for position on the Cook county ballot candidates on the "regular" slates, both Republican and Democratic, won first places with one exception. The Brundage-Crowe-Barrett-Harding slate got first, second, and fourth places for their three candidates for members of the sanitary board, Frank J. Link, a Deneenite, getting third place ahead of G. A. Dahlberg.

Two Thompson Men May Quit.

Although slated for assessor on the Thompson ticket, William Ganschow did not file his petition. It was hinted he would withdraw. He and Edward G. Konvalinka, placed on the Thompson slate for coroner, probably will withdraw, according to reports. Neither Ganschow nor Konvalinka was consulted when their names were put on the Thompson slate, it is said.

Here's Democratic Slate.

The Democratic "regular" slate filed by Quinlan included the following candidates for congress and the legislature from Cook county districts:

CONGRESS—1, James F. Doyle; 2, Frank A. Wright; 3, Dr. J. F. Timmis; 4, Congressman Thomas A. Doyle; 5, Congressman Adolph J. Sabath; 6, Congressman James R. Buckley; 7, Hynek M. Howell; 8, Congressman Stanley H. Kunz; 9, no candidate; 10, John P. Reed.

LEGISLATURE [house]—1, John Griffin; 2, Harry C. Van Norman, Frank Ryan; 3, George Garry Noonan; 4, James P. Boyle; 5, Thomas J. Reilly; 6, Charles H. Weber; 7, John W. McCarthy; 9, Joseph A. Pacek, William J. Gormley; 11, George A. Fitzgerald, John M. Lee; 13, William W. Powers; 15, Joseph Perina; 17, Jacob W. Epstein, Charles Cola; 19, Walter F. Gallas, John McSweeney; 21, Michael F. Maher, Benjamin M. Mitchell; 23, Fred W. Hrdlicka, Matt Tychsen; 25, John G. Jacobson; 27, William Lipka, A. L. Auth, Adam Zywicki; 29, Lawrence C. O'Brien, Louis Torre; 31, James J. O'Toole.

SENATE—2, Jerry P. Leahy; 4, Frank McDermott; 6, Joseph A. Weber.

Position of Candidates.

In the following lists showing the position each county candidate will have on the primary ballots, candidates on the Democratic "regular" slate are designated (Reg.) while the Brundage-Crowe-Barrett-Harding Republican allies are designated (A.) the Deneen candidates (D.) and the Thompson men (T.).

Woman Sees Man's Body Swinging from Tree

A man about 43 years old committed suicide last night by hanging himself to a tree in a lot at 3635 North Neva avenue. The body was discovered by Mrs. Walter Repmann, 3616 North Neva avenue, whose attention was attracted when she looked through the window and saw it swinging in the wind. The Cragin police believe the victim's name was J. Haas.

WALSH DEADLY IN ORATORICAL FIRE ON DENBY

Burns Pitiless Path Into Fat of Oil Lease.

the reading, again the disinterested voice of a reading clerk droning through opprobium.

This time it was from the San Francisco Chronicle, and the refrain of it was, "Who is this man Walsh who undertakes to tell a President of the United States his duty? On what meat hath he fed that he hath grown so great?"

The reading had rested the tired voice and put bite back into it. In a tone at once mournful and vivacious —and that is no mean feat of elocution —the man from Montana said:

"Mr. President, such are the rewards that come to any senator who lays his hand, however lamely or feebly, to the task of cleaning the Augean stables.

"Derision, sir—that is his reward."

Scrupulously Parliamentary.

Sometimes while the senator was speaking a secretary of his staff fed documents into his hand or laid on the desk before him big volumes with long white paper markers in them, for the speaker was scrupulous in the citation of precedents, propriety of the senatorial request, now cast into the form of the resolution under debate, that the President dismiss the secretary of the navy from the cabinet.

At other times, when his voice faltered and phlegm choked him, Senator Swanson of Virginia, who sat at the next desk but one from his right, passed him the salubrious coughdrop.

Then, with a quiet, even a kindly, deliberation, that was more deadly than railing, these words:

"Stupidity is not a ground for impeachment."

And then, as if by a saving afterthought:

"So far as I have been able to discover."

Actual Bribery Not Charged.

He said he did not believe that Mr. Denby had committed treason, nor did he believe that the evidence would justify the secretary's impeachment upon the ground of bribery, or of the commission of any high crime or misdemeanor.

But—

Denby's ignorance of not alone of the specifications of Teapot Dome leases but of general conditions warranted, nay, demanded, his dismissal, and the senator then read a square rod of printed testimony—'twould make no less if the pages were spread upon the floor—in which Mr. Denby's answers to questions Mr. Walsh had asked in the committee hearings were given.

With those answers the public is familiar.

With tender solicitude that remembrance be refreshed, the man from Montana read them all over again, those appalling iterations—

"I do not know.

"I could not tell you that offhand.

"I shall have to consult the record.

"I was not familiar with these details."

"Colossal Ignorance."

The senator pounded on these answers in a voice of sardonic composure. Denby's ignorance he conceived as a fabric so colossal, so complete, so symmetrical, that—it moved him less to wrath than to that impulse of worship which causes a heathen to fall down before an idol monstrous, indeed, but so vast that the soul is touched to awe.

"I want," said the senator, whipping the top of his paper strewn desk with the edge of his open right hand; "I want to show you that Mr. Denby does not know as much about these leases, or did not know as much about these leases when he signed them, as the ordinary man in the street, who gets his information from the public press.

"Why, he did not even know the meaning of the word 'lead' in a letter about the leases which he signed."

He defined with mournful gusto the secretary's idea of those "details" which he either never had known or had not retained:

"Thirty-two thousand acres of land, estimated to contain 250,000,000 barrels of oil!

"That's his idea of what a detail is!"

Asserts Coolidge Can Dismiss.

He touched on Mr. Denby's sources of information as described before the committee by Mr. Denby and he summed them up in these words:

"Some one came and told him something—as people sometimes do.

"So much, Mr. President, for what Mr. Denby did not know."

This frail man of 65, lean, erect, composed, but terrible in his definiteness drew to a close on the note on which he had begun—denial of the imputation that the resolution before the senate requesting the President to dismiss Denby was an invasion of the province of the executive.

Whirling on the menacing forefinger of his right hand the pince nez glasses attached to a black ribbon that went around his neck, he shouted in the tone of gritty insistence:

"How are we invading the province of the executive?

"By asking him to do the thing his sense of duty ought to have prompted him to do two months ago?

"What right are we invading?"

"None.

Extols Right of Petition.

"We are but exercising the sacred right of petition, guaranteed to the humblest citizen in this land by the constitution itself. The blacksmith at his forge, the farmer following his plow, the carpenter in his shop may with entire propriety sit down and write a respectful letter to the President saying, 'Mr. President, it is my opinion that Secretary Denby has been false to the trust reposed in him and you ought to call for his resignation.' When, sir, did we grow so squeamish about invading the rights and powers of the executive?"

Again documents and volumes were glided to him by the secretary who stooped behind him. Again there was a salvo of precedents covering decades of our legislative history from the time we were crown colonies.

His finale was magnificent, and I have a right to use a big word about it because my memory of American oratory, heard with my ears, not read in books, goes as far back as the molten gold of Henry Ward Beecher eloquence.

Senator Walsh's Climax.

The man from Montana straightened his shoulders. His tones were no longer strident. They waxed deep and rich and he gazed straight before him, saying:

"Mr. President, this is no time for hair splitting contentions. . . . A great crime has been committed. The structure of our government rocks upon its very foundations. The only way to restore to the government the confidence of the people—confidence so essential to its perpetuity—is to follow every guilty man with the utmost rigor of the law and to drive from public office every man who by connivance or supineness allowed this crime to be committed."

He paused, his eyes traveling slowly around the chamber.

Wants Punishment as Warning.

"Senators," he asked, "are you willing to turn back these great properties into the hands of Edwin Denby?

"I am not.

"Are you content to 'let him down easy' in order that sensibilities may not be offended or political prospects affected?

"I am not."

Now he was measuring out his words with dire precision:

"I desire to see him driven from public office with all the odium and ignominy the occasion can possibly demand, to the end that his fate may be a warning to any one who may come after him and who might, lacking that warning, fail the republic as he has failed it."

He sank into his seat.

For ten seconds there was not a sound.

And when a sound came it was only a deep drawn sigh from bosoms that had been deeply stirred.

PRINCE VIGGO OF DENMARK TO WED NEW YORK GIRL

Family Announces the Engagement.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—After numerous denials, Dr. James O. Green tonight formally announced the engagement of his daughter, Eleanor Margaret Green, to Prince Viggo of Denmark. No date has been set, but the ceremony will be held in this country.

The engagement has often been rumored and as often denied since Miss Green met the prince last summer in Copenhagen, where she visited the American minister, John Dyneley Prince and Mrs. Prince, old family friends.

Prince "Hoped" to Wed.

When Prince Viggo arrived in this country two weeks ago on the Majestic he was surprised not to find Miss Green at the pier to welcome him. Asked if he expected to marry Miss Green, he said he "hoped so," but added that no formal betrothal existed.

Miss Green is a friend of Miss Lois Frances Booth, whose marriage to Prince Erik of Denmark, a brother of Prince Viggo, will take place next Monday in Ottawa.

Cousin of Danish King.

H. R. H. Prince Viggo is the youngest son of H. R. H. Prince Valdemar of Denmark, uncle to King Christian of Denmark. Prince Valdemar is the of Denmark.

Miss Green is a direct descendant of the Green family of Culpeper county, Va., which was founded by Robert Green during the reign of Queen Anne of England.

Why do you eat Bran?

TO FIGHT CONSTIPATION—the most dangerous condition your system can become chained to—to get free from bleary biliousness, dull headaches, nausea—etc., etc.!!!

Rid yourself of this dangerous condition—or start "slipping" and become a prey to any one of the most dreaded human ailments which have their beginning with constipation and toxic poisoning!

Fight constipation as you would fight fire! Fight it with bran—Kellogg's Bran—BECAUSE IT IS ALL BRAN! Don't temporize! Don't waste time and health by going half-way! You need ALL BRAN; you need the bulk, the "roughage" of ALL BRAN, because it sweeps, cleanses and purifies!

REALIZE THIS—foods with a part bran content can only relieve constipation in proportion to the amount of bran they contain! If they are 25 or 50 per cent bran—you may get 25 or 50 per cent relief!

REMEMBER THIS—Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN and is guaranteed to give you positive and permanent relief if you will eat two tablespoonfuls daily, or as much with each meal in chronic cases!

Don't delay; don't fuss with half-way measures! You have too much at stake! All grocers sell—

Real Estate Sold By Want Ad

Mr. A. Kramp, 1755 W. Division St., wished to sell a bungalow and decided to use Tribune Want Ads for that purpose.

FOR SALE—5 ROOM KELLASTONE bungalow, furnace heat, nice large bedrooms, one parlor and sleeping porch; price $8,500. 1121 N. Taylor-av., Oak Pk.

His report is, "I closed on Tuesday with a man who came Sunday in answer to The Tribune Want Ad. I got several other prospects through my Tribune Want Ad."

Failure of a Want Ad is seldom due to The Tribune, for Tribune Want Ads almost always give excellent results. The difference is usually in poor wording or failure to advertise consistently. A well-written Want Ad run a fair length of time will never fail.

Prospective Buyers of Used Cars

Watch Tribune Want Ads to find a suitable car. If your car is for sale, you can sell it most easily by using Tribune Want Ads. That is the way dealers find buyers.

The West Modern Garage used this Want Ad to sell a car.

OAKLAND 2, ROADSTER, 1921; LIKE new; bargain for cash. 4440 W Madison-st.

The next morning several prospective buyers came in answer to the Want Ad and the third one bought the car.

Follow the example of those who sell automobiles regularly and use Tribune Want Ads. They get results.

Economy

One of the outstanding features of Tribune Want Ads is the economy of buying or selling with them. No other service equals this in low cost, and only similar service even rivals it. In no other way can you get 592,441 copies of your message printed at a cost of only fifty-five cents per line. And this pays not only for printing but for the quickest possible distribution of the message, and pays for the response Tribune Want Ads bring.

If it has a market you can sell it with a Tribune Want Ad

SELL THIS WAY

Another example of the ease of selling with Tribune Want Ads is furnished by the testimony of Mrs. Joseph Kane, 6322 Stony Island Ave.

SELLING OUT GERMAN POLICE PUPpies and mother; champ. stock. KANE Hyde Park 3956. 6322 Stony Island-av.

Mrs. Kane said: "I used six Want Ads and couldn't be better satisfied. Every Ad sold at least one dog. The six sold all of them. In answer to the Want Ads I had letters from Springfield, Dubuque, Beloit, and a dozen other cities, and a long distance call of more than 60 miles. Tribune Want Ads certainly cover lots of territory and get the results."

For similar results, phone your Want Ad to Central 0100.

There Is Money Waiting for You

By selling household goods which are no longer valuable to you, you can get your share of the money that is spent every day for goods advertised in Tribune Want Ads. Mrs. Mazzer, 723½ Barry avenue, decided to share this money, and ordered this Want Ad:

4 PC. WICKER LIVING RM. SET, WALnut gateleg tbl. and walnut din. ch. chair. 723½ Barry-av., apt. 1B. L. V. 4218.

She said, after the second appearance of the Want Ad, "I have sold everything already as a result of my Tribune Want Ads. I have had a good many answers."

Dollars of Profit

This is the story of a newcomer in the ranks of advertisers, told by himself. Mr. Hugo Brown, 809 N. Cicero, is a dealer in canaries. Here is his statement:

"Until this summer I never used advertising. The Tribune solicitor persuaded me to try it. I used two small Want Ads each week for a month. I had been selling half a dozen cages and two or three birds a week. During the first month of advertising I sold 700 wooden training cages, 125 wire cages, and several times as many birds as I ever sold before in a month. This was the first month of the dull season, too. Now people come from all over Chicago and suburbs as a result of these Tribune Want Ads. They have done wonders for my business."

Why lose dollars of profit to save advertising nickels? Tribune Want Ads give big returns at small cost. Dictate yours now to an Adtaker at

Central 0100

THERE is always a market for standardized commodities and services. This market fluctuates with economic conditions. When this market is low, advertising effort must be greatest; when the market is brisk, the advertising effort may be less.

When you have an auto, a house or furniture to sell, the most powerful influence you have, whether the market is good or bad, is a Tribune Want Ad.

The enormous circulation of The Chicago Tribune (939,000 Sunday) which enables you to get your Want Ad message to one family in three in Chicago and suburbs, together with the confidence readers have in Tribune Want Ads, makes The Tribune Want Ad Section an immense reservoir of prospects for houses, vacant property, apartments, cars, furniture and for any other commodities that people buy or sell.

The testimonials on this page are reproduced from recent issues of The Chicago Tribune. Read them and judge for yourself what can be done with Tribune Want Ads.

Ads can be ordered for tomorrow's paper up to 2 o'clock today. Bring your ad to the Want Ad Store at Madison and Dearborn Streets or phone CENtral 0100 and ask for an "Adtaker."

Denby's Fate Will Be Decided Today.

TO VOTE AGAINST DENBY

New defections from the Republican ranks on the resolution for Denby's resignation were reported today. Senator Capper [Rep., Kas.] and Senator Harreld [Rep., Okla.] were said to have informed their colleagues that they would support the resolution, although they had previously been counted against it. Supporters of the resolution claimed that their forces were holding firm and predicted that the resolution would be adopted by a slight majority.

The debate today was carried on largely by Senator Walsh [Dem., Mont.] who has taken the leading part in the prosecution of the Teapot Dome inquiry, and Senator Borah [Rep., Ida.]. Senator Walsh urged the adoption of the resolution on the ground that the evidence clearly demonstrated Denby's unfitness to hold office. Senator Borah, making no effort to defend Denby, nevertheless contended that it would be improper for the senate to invade the president's prerogatives and ask for Denby's resignation.

What Is Impeachable.

Senator Walsh said the only impeachable offenses were treason, bribery, and other high crimes and misdemeanors. In all fairness to Mr. Denby, he conceded, the evidence would sustain no such charges against him. Therefore, he contended, the resolution before the senate was the best practical means for the senate to record its judgment concerning the secretary of the navy.

"Mr. President," said Senator Borah, "men of great wealth seem to have arrived at the conclusion that they can and that they will shape public policies, direct legislation, and control administration through the influence and power of money. On the other hand, those men would not likely be here if the condition of politics did not invite them to the capitol. This presents a question far more vital for our consideration, and, if possible, for our solution, than the preservation of the oil for the navy, important as that is.

Menace to the Republic.

"No situation more humiliating, more demoralizing, and, to some extent, more discouraging, has ever been heretofore for our consideration or the consideration of those who have gone before."

He called on both Republicans and Democrats in this crisis to forget party.

"If the party of Lincoln and Garfield, McKinley and Roosevelt," he said, "is either unwilling or incapable of dealing with this situation in a most drastic and thorough fashion, it would be apparent to all that it has served its purpose and, discredited and dishonored, would be driven from power. We should be sure of our facts. We should be just. We want no victim. We should employ legal, lawful, and constitutional means. But we should be swift, remorseless, and condign when the facts are here to support us.

Won't Vote for Ostracism.

Referring directly to the resolution, Senator Borah said: "I am unable to support it. The resolution before us has reference to Mr. Denby, alone, undoubtedly to be followed by other resolutions of a similar nature with reference to other public officers.

"I shall not stand in the way of any investigation of any public official concerning whom a resolution may be introduced if there are any facts to support an investigation.

"I am perfectly aware that just at this particular time, under the dreadful revealments which have been made and a very just feeling which has obtained throughout the country, the view which I entertain will not be regarded, perhaps, as coming up to the full measure of duty at this time.

"Several views have been taken of Mr. Denby's conduct. The view which has been advanced so often that he is incompetent, that he actually did not know what was going on, that he is practically, when we interpret it in its full logic, non compos mentis, does not appeal to me at all. It is, indeed, not true. Any one who knows Mr. Denby knows that he is entirely responsible for what he does.

"Misguided or Guilty."

"There are, in my opinion, just two standards by which we can gauge Mr. Denby's conduct; first, that the man candidly believed he had the legal power to do what he did and thought it was in the public interest, or, second, that he was a part and parcel of an organized conspiracy to despoil the government of its great natural resource."

He said he would assume, for the sake of argument, that Denby was "guilty of the transaction in the fullest sense of the term."

"If guilty at all, if he did not believe that he had the absolute right to act, then he is guilty of a most heinous offense and one which is thoroughly within the law of impeachment and one for which impeachment should be had."

He declared that if Denby were as culpable as presented here "a mere dismissal from office would be trifling with the subject."

"But that is not all," Senator Borah continued. "In my opinion, impeachment is the only way by which we can lawfully and constitutionally proceed in this matter. It is the constitutional way; it is the effective way; it is the drastic way, and is the way by which we can mete this punishment for this offense, if it has been committed, and no other."

HEFLIN DRAGS IN POLITICS

Senator Heflin [Dem., Ala.] called on the Republicans to deny the statement that President Coolidge had refused to permit Denby to resign and asked whether there was any connection "between this attitude and the fact that Denby and Attorney General Daugherty are to be delegates to the Republican national convention and have already declared their support of Coolidge."

He also asked an investigation of the financial transaction of William Boyce Thompson of New York, prominent in Republican party councils.

"Thompson is a Sinclair stockholder," Heflin asserted, "and during the last presidential campaign borrowed $3,000,000 on a dummy note from a member of the federal reserve system in New York. We ought to know what he did with the money."

Senator La Follette's resolution directs the Teapot Dome committee to make thorough investigation regarding the claims of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company to oil lands in naval reserve No. 2. The resolutions set forth that Fall reversed a ruling by former Secretary of the Interior Payne denying the validity of the claims. According to the brief statement made by La Follette, the company's claims, covering 1,900 acres, were based upon dummy locations signed by employés of the Chicago stock yards, who, he said, were under the impression they were signing a petition for an election.

Columbian Treaty in Question.

Senator Dill's resolution relating to the Colombian treaty promises to open up an entirely new field of investigation. It was recalled that when the Harding administration, immediately after it came into power, suddenly reversed the attitude of the Republican party on the Colombian treaty the senate was greatly surprised.

This surprise was increased when it became known that Mr. Fall, then secretary of the interior, was the principal promoter of the movement for ratification of the treaty.

Under the treaty, America agreed to pay $25,000,000 to Colombia in annual installments of $5,000,000 to sooth Colombia's hurt feelings over the loss of the Panama canal zone during the Roosevelt administration.

Roosevelt had previously denounced the treaty as "a piece of blackmail," and some Republican senators opposed its ratification vigorously but without avail. It was no secret at the time that valuable concessions held by American oil companies in Colombia played an important part in the ratification of the treaty.

"In the light of what has transpired I thought it would be of interest to the country and the senate, and perhaps of value in future consideration of this oil question, if we might have the diplomatic correspondence, if there was any, with the government of Colombia regarding these concessions about which the secretary of the interior was so much concerned," said Senator Dill

Bonfils Sole Witness.

The only witness heard today by the Teapot Dome committee was Mr. Bonfils, the Denver publisher, who testified concerning the payment of $250,000 he and his business partner, H. H. Tammen, and his attorney, H. H. Schwartz, received from Harry F. Sinclair in settlement of claims which they made on Teapot Dome.

In addition to the $250,000 payment, Bonfils said there was a contract under which he and his partners were given a 320 tract in the Teapot Dome reserve, which Mr. Sinclair might at any time take over for $1,000,000, or if they wanted to sell, Mr. Sinclair was obligated to pay $750,000.

The complete details of Mr. Bonfils' story will be brought out under cross-examination tomorrow. Afterwards the committee will hear the story of John C. Shaffer, who publishes a rival newspaper in Denver.

Says He Grew Suspicious.

Mr. Bonfils declared that he became suspicious regarding the actions of ex-Secretary Fall in the Teapot Dome leasing and that he sent a reporter, B. F. Stackleback, to New Mexico to investigate the reports of Fall's prosperity, as exhibited in the improvement and enlargement of his Three Rivers ranch. Stackelback returned with what Bonfils described as "an astonishing story."

After a conference of the business heads of his newspaper together with legal counsel, it was decided not to publish the story, Mr. Bonfils said, becasue of fear of a libel action. The committee, however, has the story and probably will give it out in the next few days.

HOUSE G. O. P. HITS BACK

Taunts that Doheny is not only a Democrat, but was presented as a candidate for the vice presidency of that party, were flung at the minority members of the house by Representative Longworth [Ohio], Republican floor leader, who incidentally brought in the name of Bernard M. Baruch as "another campaign angel," and who referred to the fee paid William G. McAdoo by Mr. Doheny.

The laughter of the Republicans was loudest when Mr. Longworth read from the Democartic platform at San Francisco a paragraph headed "Petroleum," which stated:

"The Democratic party recognizes the importance of the acquisition by Americans of additional sources of supply of petroleum and other minerals, and declares that such acquisition, both at home and abroad, should be fostered and encouraged. We urge such action, legislative and executive, as may secure to American citizens the same rights in the acquirements of mining rights in foreign countries as are enjoyed by the subjects and citizens of any other nation."

"Doheny for Vice President."

The speech by Loren A. Handley in the San Francisco convention proposing the nomination of Mr. Doheny for vice president, read on request of Mr. Longworth, created another gusto of merriment.

"With the great progressive governor of Ohio," Mr. Handley has said, "and with a great progressive, patriotic Democrat of the west, the west can be brought into line again as it was in 1916. And California therefore presents her great and distinguished son

"The life of this man is typical of the romance of American improved opportunity, and we take pride, therefore, in presenting to this convention as the man out of the west who can reach the hearts and souls not only of the Democrats of the west but the great free thinking people of the west.

California Sees Its Duty.

"California, the great golden state presents Edward L. Doheny for vice president."

In a reply to Longworth, Mr. Garrett [Dem., Tenn.] started to say that Mr. Doheny did not get enough votes for his nomination.

"My recollection is," interrupted Longworth, "that his name was withdrawn because the Democrats felt they needed some one on the ticket by the name of Roosevelt. Of course he was a sort of denatured Roosevelt or bevo Roosevelt, but he was a Roosevelt."

Reed Blamed by McAdoo's Friends for Oil Insinuations

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Political friends of William G. McAdoo, who have been depressed for some days over revelations concerning their presidential aspirant's relations with Edward L. Doheny, perked up a bit today when it was charged that Senator James A. Reed [Dem., Mo.] connived to bring out Doheny's testimony regarding McAdoo in the senate oil scandal inquiry.

Mr. McAdoo himself has had no thought of quitting the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, despite the fact that some of his stanchest supporters have been complaining of frost bitten toes, and tonight he was quite jubilant because Senator Thomas F. Walsh, the Democratic prosecutor in the oil lease investigation, disclaimed responsibility for dragging Mr. McAdoo into the exposure and said it was a job put up by his political rival for the Democratic nomination.

Exonerated by Walsh.

"Nobody can charge me," said Senator Walsh in his senate speech, "with having in any feature of my work in this investigation exhibited a desire or purpose to develop political capital either within or without the lines to which the committee is restricted by the resolution of the senate.

"It was reservevd for the chairman of the committee (Senator Lenroot, Rep., Wis.), upon the instigation of the senator from Missouri (Reed), to travel outside the lines within which the committee was legitimately confined by the resolution to inquire of Mr. Doheny about the employment of counsel in matters entirely unrelated to this inquiry for the perfectly obvious purpose of ruining the prospect of the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for President."

The fact that Senator Reed is now an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and that he is openly charged, as McAdoo's friends express it, with "putting up this job" on their champion, seemed to soften the Teapot Dome blow that fell upon the full grown McAdoo boom, in the opinion of some of his advisers.

Outlook for McAdoo.

Others are not so certain that Mr. McAdoo's boom has not been permanently disabled, but they are willing, before jumping the fence, to give him his chance to restore public confidence in his political integrity. If, after Mr. McAdoo has had his inning before the senate committee, they do not think he could be a winning candidate for the presidency, they will drop him.

That is the frank position of a large number of McAdoo followers who have not been McAdoo worshipers, but who believed he could win. These Democratic leaders, if they drop McAdoo, will for the most part, throw their support to Senator Underwood.

Among the Democratic leaders here today was Charles F. Boeschenstein, national committeeman from Illinois. He conferred with McAdoo supporters—being one himself—but would not discuss the future of his candidate.

Mr. McAdoo's last ditch supporters are confident that he can regain his lost ground when he takes the witness stand and they predict that he is going to do "some crucifying" on his own hook when he gets before the committee.

Doheny Dissolves Gigantic Firm Formed to Exploit Oil

New York, Feb. 8.—Dissolution of the Pan-American Western Petroleum company, formed to develop the California naval oil reserves, was announced tonight by Edward L. Doheny, chairman of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company. The action, he said, resulted from the attack on the validity of the leases in the senate's investigation.

In a letter to stockholders of Pan-American Petroleum Doheny announced the withdrawal of an offer to subscribe for 525,000 shares of the western subsidiary at $20 a share and cancellation of a $12,000,000 bond issue which sold last fall.

At the same time Doheny declared to Pan-American stockholders that the leases and contracts were not procured or obtained by fraud, corruption, or illegal acts on the part of the company's officers or representative.

Says Navy Has Benefited.

Asserting that the leases promoted the naval defense, he said that instead of being harmful to the United States they were far more beneficial.

The efficiency of the Pacific fleet had been doubled, he declared, as a result of the contracts with the department of the interior, which also had made the Pacific coast invulnerable against naval attack and had made practicable the defense of America's island possessions in the Pacific ocean. Enumerating other advantages claimed for the leases, he said:

"They have assured protection of the naval reserve from drainage by private drilling.

"They have assured our government a large emergency suply of fuel oil for naval use at Pearl Harbor, in place of the great coaling station previously established at that point, which, owing to the substitution of oil fuel for coal, had become practically obsolete for naval use.

Can Save Money, Too.

"They have assured to the navy an option to purchase our other petroleum products on the Pacific coast for fifteen years at 10 per cent less than current market prices.

"They have assured the maintenance, subject to the demands of the navy for a period of fifteen years, of 3,000,000 barrels of fuel oil in storage at eighteen Atlantic, gulf, and Caribbean ports."

Royalty returns to the government, Mr. Doheny declared, were the highest ever paid to the United States or to any private lessor of petroleum properties. The minimum is 12½ per cent for fifty barrel wells, increasing to 35 per cent on wells of 400 barrels or over.

Replying to the charge that profits accruing to the Pan-American company under the leases would be inordinate, the oil operator pointed out that the gains could be realized only by maintaining huge capital expenditures and taking all the risks of business over the period necessary for development of the property, estimated at twenty-five or thirty years.

NAB FUR THIEF, 17 YEARS.

Stanley Turner, a 17 year old Negro, was captured by the Cottage Grove avenue flivver squad yesterday after he had climbed a fire escape and entered the Bedal-Resale Fur shop, 3420 South Michigan avenue, where he was attempting to knock the combination from the safe with a sledge hammer.

VETERAN BUREAU SCANDAL GROWS BEFORE JURORS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Behind well guarded doors, on the sixth floor of the federal building, the story of Col. Charles R. Forbes' administration of the veterans' bureau is being written in a book of record for a grand jury of farmers to read and act upon.

CHARLES R. FORBES. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Social Washington, political Washington, will be amazed when that story becomes public. It does not stop with the misdeeds of Col. Charles R. Forbes himself.

The story is reported to be one of booze, boodle and pull that made a crippled, wasteful service out of the great fund which the people sought to give to their disabled soldiers of the world war.

Mortimer, Wits and Cash.

Here in Chicago the story is coming out. Mainly, so far, it comes from Elias H. Mortimer of Philadelphia, one of the keen witted tribe who live mysteriously in Washington and always have plenty of money to spend. He is telling where he got his money and where he used it to pave the way to graft. He told part of the story before the senatorial committee in Washington. Now new names are being involved, it is declared, in the handling of an annual expenditure of $500,000,000.

"How high is it going to hit?" John H. W. Crim, special prosecutor, was asked last night.

"I never asked," he replied. "I will bring out the story and I will see that it is on the records, every bit of it, and that eventually it is laid before the officials in Washington who ought to know about it. They will never be able to say that anything was hushed up in Chicago.

Seven Before Grand Jury.

Seven witnesses were smuggled in and out of the grand jury room yesterday. Two of these were Mortimer and his wife. Mrs. Mortimer went in about 4 o'clock and remained until adjournment. Mrs. Mortimer's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George B. Tullidge, also were called in. James B. Weisel, manager of the Thompson-Black company, a Chicago contracting firm that figured in Mortimer's testimony, also is said to have been questioned.

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter has given instructions to guard the witnesses and to report to the court and persons seeking to talk with them.

Forbes' Idea of Bargains.

Brig. Gen. Sawyer and Forbes came to the parting of ways over the sale of huge amounts of government supplies at the Perryville, Md., station. One instance of the waste there is given in the sale of bed sheets.

Forbes, it was testified in Washington, sold sheets at 16 cents and at the same time, in another department, was buying sheets of a poorer quality for $1.03 each.

Exorbitant prices paid for hospital sites in Livermore, Cal., and at Excelsior Springs, Mo., are to be brought to the attention of the grand jury. The deal for the latter hospital was made through E. L. (Liv) Morse, who sold the site to the government for $116,000. Mr. Morse is the Missouri politician who figured in the delegate scandal at the last Republican national convention.

Davis G. Arnold, who is assisting Mr. Crim, left for Washington yesterday. The grand jurors, most of whom are farmers, asked for a recess over Lincoln's birthday and will return to the federal building next Wednesday morning.

Investigator Acquitted of Manslaughter Charge

After deliberating fifteen minutes a jury in Judge Hosea Wells' court yesterday acquitted Charles P. Domm, a special investigator for the Committee of Fifteen, of a charge of manslaughter. Domm was charged with shooting Everett Perdue, colored, 3150 South State street, last June. Domm testified that he shot after Perdue had raised his own pistol and threatened the investigator's life.

EXPERTS PRAISE MELLON PLAN TO BUSINESS MEN

Some 500 delegates representing business men throughout the state heard experts praise various features of the Mellon income tax reduction plan at the annual tax congress of the Illinois Manufacturers' association at the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

Large amounts of capital will undoubtedly be released from tax exempt securities to flow back into the channels of industry, Arthur Anderson of the accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. told the delegates.

"We all know how, under the present income tax plan, large moneyed interests hastened to invest exclusively in tax exempt securities," said Mr. Anderson. "But Mr. Mellon's plan will tax a greater number at lower rates and will prohibit the minimizing of taxes which has heretofore been possible."

BROKEN COLLAR BONE MAY CURB PRINCE'S RIDING

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The reasoning of a young man destined to become king of England, who repeatedly places his life in jeopardy by riding heavy hunters over difficult courses, is causing increasing concern in the British empire. It has been said that the "Prince of Wales would rather win the Grand National than be king," but while his succession of misadventures has only endeared "his royal highness" to his people, they are beginning to wonder if he is not taking unnecessary chances.

His tenth spill occurred this morning. He received a simple fracture of the collar bone, and it is not unlikely that it will result in the royal household restricting his future activities in the saddle.

What a Supreme Court Justice Learned About Divorce

A Justice of the Supreme Court of New York State says he has known very few divorce cases where the wife was a really good home-maker. The Legal Aid Society of New York which has handled over 100,000 cases of domestic discord confirms this, but adds that the wife should have control over all the family income which goes for household expenses. In the March Delineator you will find the full story, told by Martha Van Rensselaer, Head of the Cornell University School of Home Economics and Editor of The Delineator's Home-Makers' Department, who was voted by the League of Women Voters one of America's twelve greatest women.

Can Any Woman Marry Any Man?

Charles Saxby gives the answer to this fascinating question in a delightfully fantastic story "After Eden." Can Eva, the cave girl, who speaks the latest flapper slang, make the cave man drag her screaming to his cave? Get the March Delineator and you will see.

What is a Gentleman?

The old Greek word for a gentleman means literally "beautiful and good." That would make it pretty difficult for some men to qualify! Standards have changed and are still changing. Not always for the better, says Irving Bachellor, the author of "D'ri and I" and "The Scudders." In a most interesting essay on American manners, Mr. Bachellor suggests that "there can be no such thing as chivalry unless women are worthy of it." And isn't it true that for better or worse a man is most often what some woman makes him?

If You're Looking for Romance!

You'll find it aplenty in Edgar Wallace's "Romance in Brown." Blackmailers, detectives, a mysterious pretty girl seen through field glasses from a Wall Street office. We're not going to spoil your fun by telling you here the startling end of it all—but you'll find it in the March Delineator.

Do You Like to Wash Dishes?

Foolish question Number 4-11-44! Nobody likes to wash dishes, but with the right equipment it can be made infinitely easier. An article by Ruth M. Kellogg, edited and approved by Martha Van Rensselaer, co-editor of the Butterick Cook Book, gives sound advice about the most practical equipment for dishwashing. A few minutes spent reading this article in the March Delineator will save you many weary hours of unnecessary work.

FOUR UNLICENSED 'DOCS' ATTENDED GIRL, IS CHARGE

Clashing Stories Mark Chiropractic Quiz.

According to testimony given last night before Coroner Wolff, four unlicensed Chiropractors—students at the National College of Chiropractic, 20 North Ashland avenue—"adjusted" or assisted in "adjusting" the spine of 11 year old Elizabeth Fawcett, whose death has been attributed to a dislocated spine. Dr. Arthur L. Forster, an official of the college, declared at the hearing that the state department of registration does not prosecute unlicensed practitioners "if they show intention to take the next examination."

The inquiry was conducted by Coroner Wolff, Assistant State's Attorney Harry W. Meneely, and Coroner's Physician W. D. McNally. It was indicated that the inquest over the Fawcett girl last Tuesday which resulted in an open verdict might be reopened. Meantime another investigation had been launched jointly by John W. Follmer, chief inspector the state board, and Dr. Forster, dean of the Chiropractic school, who is also a doctor of medicine.

"He Managed the Neck."

A partial transcript of testimony at this other hearing was furnished the coroner last night. It included the following questions and answers:

Dr. Follmer to Dr. Forster—Do you allow the students to examine the patients? Dr. Forster—They take the history.

Dr. Follmer—Do you permit you students to practice before they have even graduated and are licensed by the board? Dr. Forster—No.

According to this treatment Elmer C. Beck, a student, was asked if he had treated the Fawcett girl. "All I done was to massage the neck," he replied. Follmer, according to the record, finally paid tribute to the school and to Dr. Forster and said Beck had no business to go to the Fawcett home and give a treatment.

Beck and Albert Speaker, another student, both denied later in Coroner Wolff's office that they had given even an "adjustment" in the Fawcett home, or that they had ever given any other treatment to the girl except massage.

Father's Story Differs.

A transcript of the testimony at the inquest showed that the child's father testified in part as follows:

"Then he [Beck] took and grabbed her neck this way and jerked it over—quick jerks—and I thought at that time it was pretty rough for a little girl. I brought her home, gave her lunch of peach juice and milk, and she lay down and never got up. She was unconscious.

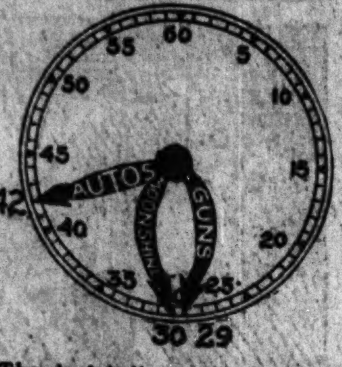
"How long?" he was asked.

"Until she died," was the reply.

Besides Beck and Speaker others mentioned as unlicensed practitioners were "Dr." Buck and "Dr." B. H. Pickert.

At the night session Dr. Forster declared the girl could not have died from a dislocated spine and that Coroner's Physician Podges was probably mistaken in this.

HANDS OF DEATH



The clock indicates the number of deaths caused by automobiles, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1, 1924.

THREE DAYS PASS WHILE HANDS OF DEATH MOVE NOT

Three days have passed without one resident of Cook county meeting death in an automobile accident. Since midnight Tuesday night the "death clock" in the coroner's office has not moved. It indicated forty-two automobile fatalities since Jan. 1, which, according to Coroner Oscar Wolff, is an unusually low figure.

William C. Graves, 5340 Hyde Park boulevard, secretary for Julius Rosenwald, narrowly escaped death yesterday when his automobile was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio railroad train at 47th and Leavitt streets. Mr. Graves leaped from his machine just before the crash and escaped unhurt. His car was demolished.

According to a report issued yesterday by J. Leo Bulger, secretary to the mayor's safety commission, of fifty-one automobile deaths investigated, twenty-one were caused by reckless driving, while twenty-three were due to careless pedestrians.

RUSH PLANS FOR CORPORATION TO AID NORTHWEST

New York, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Tangible plans on which financial and business interests of the east and west will unite to extend aid to northwestern banks will be laid next week at a meeting in Chicago, at which organization of a $10,000,000 service corporation, created by private capital, will be completed.

C. T. Jaffray, president of the First National bank of Minneapolis, tentatively has been selected to head the credit agency. Control of the organization, which will be supplied with additional funds exceeding $100,000,000, if necessary, through the War Finance corporation, will rest with him and other Minneapolis and Chicago interests.

Wallace Raps "Vague" Criticism.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture today called on the second national coöperative marketing conference being held here under the auspices of the national council of farmers' coöperative marketing associations to put a stop to "vague criticism" of the department of agriculture in connection with the coöperative marketing movement, declaring that if there was any just criticism "let us bring it out into the light."

BEAR VISITING ROUND LAKE, ILL., PUZZLES PEOPLE

Round Lake, Ill., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—A large black bear has gone into winter quarters in the woods around Highland lake. A. J. Brown fired upon the shaggy visitor when he caught him robbing a bee hive, but evidently missed.

The animal entered a camp of hunters during their absence a few days ago and consumed their supply of rations. A. Allen, a teacher in a Round Lake school, who lives several miles away, has been staying at the hotel here to avoid meeting the bear on the way home.

No circuses passed through her last fall and the townsfolk are more anxious to learn where the animal came from than where he went.

DATO AND KRENN DENY EFFORTS TO DODGE TAX

The charges that Edward W. Dato, Edward Krenn, and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick had formed a "common law trust" agreement to evade the payment of income taxes were branded as false and absurd yesterday by Dato, who is property manager for Mrs. McCormick and partner of the firm of Krenn & Dato. Mr. Dato issued a long statement.

Meanwhile it was said at the local office of the bureau of internal revenue that if, after tax returns for 1923 incomes were filed by Mrs. McCormick, Krenn, or Dato, there was evidence of irregularities, steps would be taken.

Mrs. McCormick declined to discuss the case yesterday when reporters called at her home. Her secretary informed the newspaper men that Mrs. McCormick had nothing to say.

The rumors about the "trust" arose through the action of Samuel Broder, 110 South Dearborn street, who filed suit in the Municipal court asking that an additional $5,000 be paid to him for services. He asserted that he was called on to make an exhaustive study of the income tax laws; that he was to receive $100 a day for this work and a bonus of $1,250 for his idea. He asserts that only $1,250 has been paid, and he demands $5,000 more.

'THE YELLOW KID' SENDS WORD HE WILL SURRENDER

Denies Charge of Stock Swindle of $30,000.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Joseph R. "Yellow Kid" Weil, who, with Frederick Buckminster, was indicted on Thursday for swindling a Detroit coal man out of $30,000, sent word to State's Attorney Crowe that he is innocent and will surrender this morning.

These two are the confidence men paroled from the Joliet penitentiary on Dec. 20, 1922, by Gov. Small.

The prosecutor received word from Miami, Fla., that "Buck" had been arrested there and was being sent to Chicago in charge of a detective.

To Appear with Cash in Hand.

Weil's messenger, a relative, said that he will appear ready to supply a $10,000 cash bond. It is reported that the cash is part of the recent sale price of an eighteen flat building at Columbia and Lakewood avenues, which was of record in the name of Mrs. Anna J. Weil, wife of defendant. On Nov. 30, 1918, Mrs. Weil gave the value of the building as $125,000, subject to a mortgage of $45,000, and said it had a rental income of $497 a month. At that time she also had a home at 1133 Pratt boulevard, which she claimed cost $37,000, and on which $13,000 had been spent in improvements.

These properties were supposed to have been the earnings of the "Yellow Kid" in his more than twenty years of operations. He also gave more recent evidence of prosperity at the local automobile salon. He is said to have bought a high priced car. One report was that he paid $6,500 and another $9,600 for it.

Promises to Deliver Stock.

But the biggest surprise of Weil's recent activities is his message that his deal with George W. Malcolmson, Detroit coal man, is perfectly legitimate and that he will deliver to the Detroiter the stock he purchased, when he settles in full for it. Weil, according to the message, was acting for a former governor of a nearby state.

It so happened that this particular former governor was in Chicago yesterday, and he was asked regarding the accuracy of the charge. He replied: "It is infamous that I should be compelled to reply to such a question. I have never known either of those two men and have had no dealings whatsoever with them: If you must print anything about it, say that it is an absolute lie, without the slightest foundation. Put that denial just as strong as you can write it."

Leaves His Address.

The former governor departed from Chicago last night, but left with THE TRIBUNE his addresses in three cities he plans to visit.

Weil's message is much like a trick he played upon the Criminal court one time. That trick was dubbed a "con game" on the court by one of the judges. By error an indictment was placed on the call which technically could not be tried. But Weil insisted upon a trial of the case.

SMALE JUROR FOUND GUILTY IN 30 MINUTES

An indication of the swift justice to be meted out in the jury fixing cases growing out of the recent acquittal of Edward Smale Jr. and three other policemen on the charge of "hijacking" a truck load of liquor came in Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley's court yesterday.

WILLIAM MULVIN.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

It took a jury less than thirty minutes to find William Mulvin, 6345 Blackstone avenue, one of the jurors, guilty of perjury. Judge Lindley denied a motion for a new trial and announced he will impose sentence next Friday. It was the first conviction of its kind in the federal court in Chicago in many years.

Smale to Be Tried Again.

On Monday Smale and his codefendants in the original trial—Edward J. Mitchell, Thomas Carlisle, and Hugo Marker—again will face a jury on the booze charges. After that Smale, Carlisle, Edward T. Carroll, south side saloon keeper, and the latter's son, Bryant, must stand trial on another indictment charging conspiracy to corrupt the jury of which Mulvin was a member.

Assistant United States District Attorney Edwin L. Weisl based his prosecution of Mulvin on the fact that he perjured himself when examined as to his qualifications to serve on the jury. At that time, it was shown, Mulvin denied he had any friends or relatives on the police force; whereas, his son-in-law, Sergt. Otto Erlandson, is chief of detectives at the Englewood station. Erlandson and Smale worked out of the Deering street station for four years, it was shown.

Mulvin's Excuse Fails.

In his defense Mulvin said he was thinking at the time of another son-in-law who had been a member of the force but had left. He "overlooked" Erlandson, he said, because he was not on good terms with either the sergeant or his wife. It was shown, however, that Mulvin knew Carlisle, Mitchell and Marker as well as Smale.

Mrs. Mary Bedard, also of 6345 Blackstone avenue, Mulvin's alleged fiancee, also was arrested in connection with the jury fixing investigation.

A Want Ad Solved This Problem

The policy of "waiting and hoping" for results in renting office space produces only a needless loss in time and rental. Others are finding tenants readily, while you are losing rent that would quickly pay for the advertising you need.

Mrs. Lewis McPherson, 15 E. Washington, depended on this Want Ad in the January 27 Tribune to rent a store.

TO RENT—SMALL ROOM, OUTSIDE ENtrance or in connection with corset shop; women's line. 611 Venetian Bldg. Dearborn 4381.

"We found several prospects and rented the room at once," she said later.

Tenants will pay in rent for the advertising you use to find them, but vacant rooms are a loss from any viewpoint. Start getting the income you should be enjoying. Phone a Want Ad to Central 0100 or bring it to

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—Build the Subway Now.
2—Abate the Smoke Evil.
3—Stop Reckless Driving.
4—Elevated Sidewalks Downtown.

THE DOME AND THE JAW.

Mayor Dever was the guest of the Western Society of Engineers, heard the engineers' recommendation for traction improvement, and made a speech. The engineers were for unification of the surface and elevated lines, a subway from 18th street to North avenue, the opening of through streets to the south side, straightening of the river, limiting height of buildings in the loop, and no parking during the day.

The mayor was for all of this, but nothing doing on a subway now. He said the franchises would expire in three years and the security holders would find themselves with depreciated properties on their hands and with difficulties in getting money. The city probably would have to operate. He favored doing so. It would need the traction fund for operation, and consequently had no money for a subway.

"When the settlement is made and the city is capably handling the present lines, then we can talk subways. Another thing must be done. The traction question must be removed from politics. I could get columns of praise by starting a subway now, but I won't, for it's not for the best interests of the people."

That's the mayor's story, and he's going to stick to it. He has a wonderful jaw. The jaw is set. It is on the job, and will remain there. Its entente with his dome is busted.

Mr. Dever is right in one thing. He could get columns of praise if he would start a subway; but if that is why he won't do it, we'll promise to roast and pan him for it if he'll do it.

We begin to suspect that the mayor is developing the persecution mania. He may fear that the little foxes are trying to get him to sing and drop the piece of cheese. He gets a great deal of praise, deserves it, and resents it. We'll not say that what he has his jaw set on is a piece of cheese, but we fear it, all the same.

The engineers tell him that a four mile subway would give 125 per cent improvement in the handling of rush hour loop traffic. A mere start at subway building would do that, and there is plenty of money for it. Mr. Dever sticks to the plan of getting possession of what he says are depreciated properties before even beginning to talk subways.

We don't quite understand why the city should need a subsidy to run the present lines. It must be quite understood and conceded that no physical improvement is obtained by the transfer of title and by operation by the city. Cars will not run any more rapidly.

It's a sad and painful subject. We wish the jaw and the dome could get together.

BONEHEADEDNESS.

The incident of the German embassy's failure to fly a flag at half staff, and otherwise to pay the conventional tributes of respect to the late ex-President Wilson is a typical revelation of perhaps the most literal minded people in the world. Americans have a coarse but vivid word which applies—boneheadedness.

It makes little difference whether the immediate responsibility for this unfortunate display of German national rancor and character attaches to Foreign Minister Streesemann in Berlin or to Ambassador Wiedfeldt in Washington. It is representative of the German temperament. It does neither the memory of Mr. Wilson nor the citizens of the United States the slightest harm. It does have a potentially harmful reaction upon Germany, which needs the assistance of this country in many ways, and which is even now calling upon the people of this country to help feed its starving children. It was stupid.

It was the same sort of stupidity which brought the United States into the war to the ultimate demoralization and virtual destruction of Germany. In that critical period the German character abused its standing and privileges in the United States, was insolent to our government, and violently disdainful of our rights. It was stupid then as it has been stupid in this recent incident. It denotes a complete absence of tact in the German character. We are moved to wonder if there is such a word in the German language.

We can understand why the German people might dislike Wilson as an author of their distress, but why they should flagrantly express that dislike with such a gesture at such a time is beyond our comprehension.

SUCH UNREASONABLE PEOPLE.

The French consul in Chicago has asked the state department in Washington to protect the French citizens in a colony at Johnston City, Williamson county, Illinois, in their liberty and rights and from injury and loss of property. Williamson is our interesting rough stuff county where you pacify them with a krag. S. Glenn Young, who seems to be a liaison officer between the Klux and the American government dry forces, with authority from both, has been leading large armed posses against various citizens, good, bad, and indifferent. The complaint is that the French homes were invaded, property stolen, religious objects desecrated, and people injured. The French demand protection in their rights and freedom.

We sympathize, but how may the French expect to get some favored treatment in the enjoyment of privileges Americans do not possess? We wish them well. We are willing that they should have liberty and protection. When they get it we'd like to know how they did it. But just try and get it.

JAPAN NURSES A GRUDGE.

Japan's foreign minister, K. Matsui, in a statement cabled from Tokio to the United States, speaks with a diplomatic undertone of irritation which this country cannot afford to ignore. He says it is his country's cherished desire "to be treated on the same footing with other independent nations." There is a resentful intimation there that Japan is being grossly discriminated against.

This resentment and veiled threat is similar to the less diplomatic statement recently made by the president of the Japanese peace society that the American stand on immigration "threatens to sow the seeds of a future world war." It becomes more and more evident that that is a popular sentiment in Japan. The United States has no such feeling, but in the circumstances it is no more than common sense for us to walk quietly and have a big stick at hand.

This country has given material proof to Japan that the spirit of friendship and peace which the Japanese profess is a reality in this country. We did so more than a decade ago by making great concessions to Japanese pride when we formulated the "gentlemen's agreement." We have done so more recently and more materially through the naval limitation agreement and our pledge to construct no war bases in or near Japanese waters. We have proved another side of this friendship through our assistance in the recent earthquake disaster. We have demonstrated our good faith to the limit. If threatening resentment remains it is all on the side of Japan.

The Japanese do not like to be barred from equal rights with Americans in the garden land of our Pacific coast. But the Americans in that region, after years of observation and experience, have decided that Japanese competition there is not for the best interests of the Americans of this or future generations. Our Supreme court has upheld their action based upon this belief. Now Mr. Matsui says Japan is "ready to discuss the matter anew, of restrictions of exclusion." Our position is that there is nothing to discuss. The decision as to whom we shall admit to our home is entirely a domestic matter. We do not restrict the Japanese alone. Japan restricts American rights. We find no fault. They should not. But they persist in doing so. Our insurance of safety is in preparedness.

The field for any struggle which might develop is already laid out. It is the Philippines. There can be nothing there for us but a costly defeat or a futile and almost equally costly victory. It now seems somewhat doubtful, with a Labor-Socialist government of pacifist tendencies in England, that the British empire would rush to the defense of white civilization. The United States, therefore, would be wise to eliminate its weaknesses and conserve its strength.

PEACE BE WITH MEXICO.

Each day's news from Mexico now emphasizes the effective quality of Secretary Hughes' statesmanship in dealing with that country. He chose between two factions, that which had been recognized by the United States government as the most stable in Mexico and that which sought to overthrow the recognized government. He accorded support and assistance to the stronger, and, consequently, more peaceful.

Now we read that the leader of the latest revolution has arrived, a fugitive, in Yucatan. Federal troops have reëntered Vera Cruz and reëstablished control. The government seems to be cleaning up and putting down the revolution pretty well all over the republic. If it continues to succeed, as now seems likely, that will mean peace in Mexico. Peace, insured by a strong hand, is what the United States wants and what all Mexicans ought to want.

In this manner, through the alliance of the friends of peace in the United States with the power to impose peace in Mexico, our war torn neighbor may be brought back to stability. In Mexico that cannot fail to mean prosperity. The country's natural resources are tremendous. All that is needed is systematic development. That will pay richly for itself and prove self-continuing if the Mexican government is strong enough to assure safety to capital and life which seeks to enter the country to develop its resources. Development of railroads, oil fields, mines, and agricultural resources must follow steadily and inevitably. Education and the cultivation of ability for efficient self-government must be a by-product.

That way lies the most promising future for Mexico, and that way Secretary Hughes has pointed.

Editorial of the Day

RELIGIOUS INDIFFERENCE!

[Elkhart (Ind.) Truth.]

A Baptist minister from New York City spoke in Chicago last Sunday evening. He addressed the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall on Michigan avenue. The hall seats 3,000. Every seat was taken. A mob unable to get in formed outside. A door was smashed. An usher was injured in the rush.

Can it be said that America is indifferent to religion when such a thing as that can happen—in Chicago?

The minister was the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, professor in Union Theological seminary. Though a Baptist, he is the preacher at New York's leading Presbyterian church. He is recognized as one of the country's most forceful pulpit orators. A learned man and a wise man.

Many of the gusts of the conflict between fundamentalism and modernism have swirled about his head. His very position—a Baptist in a Presbyterian pulpit—has made him a conspicuous target for the slings and arrows of the fundamentalists. These gentlemen have been further aroused by his connection with Union seminary, an institution often suspected of heterodoxy; and Dr. Fosdick's own utterances have not tended toward reassuring them.

Ah! it may be interposed, that's why the crowd in Chicago battled to hear what he had to say. But, even so, would that argue a lack of interest in religion? Hardly.

WHAT DID HE MEAN?

Elinor Glyn was talking at a dinner in New York about the 1924 fashions.

"They are almost modest," she said, "and that is a good thing—a welcome change.

"A young woman showed herself to her husband in a backless gown the other evening and said rather discontentedly:

"'I got this for $35, marked down from $210. The backless gown, you know, is going out.'

"'Not with me it isn't,' said the young man."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

FRAGILITY.

The wind has blown blue shadows

"THE KING of the Black Isles," the first book of poems by the gentleman of the same name, is now appearing in the book stores. His name is J. U. Nicolson and he is the manager of a big storage warehouse on Pershing road. Storage warehouse—long, dark passageways—get it now? "The King of the Black Aisles." Only the King says that isn't what suggested it at all. It was the character of the same name in the Arabian Nights. Anyhow, it was a happy thought.

DO YOU remember the King's first poem? It was published right here in this Line o' Type, "A lady lived in Lesbos a weary time ago." A wonderful thing, that.

"We have forgotten beauty and all our Gods are gone,
And little we remember now the dryads and the wood,
And only old philosophers and foolish dreamers know
What lady lived in Lesbos a weary time ago."

SOON AFTER came "Old Ships," "Whaler's Chanty," "I Would Remember Constant Things," "Ballade in Time of the Great War," "The Streets of Hell," and many more. Yet before all this the King had knocked in vain on the doors of the magazines and in bleak despair had decided that he was a great manager of a storage forwarding warehouse. The Line intrigued him and he sent in the "Lady Lived in Lesbos," anonymously of course. The enthusiastic reception given "The Lady" started Mr. Nicolson to writing again.

PERSONALLY the King of the Black Isles poetry gives us the same kind of a kick that we got when we first read the poetry of an unknown young fellow named Kipling. People who lived much longer ago must have got the same sort of a thrill out of the poems written by a wild chap called François Villon. We may exaggerate, but we think the time will yet come when Harriet Monroe will discover Mr. Nicolson and print him in her "Poetry Magazine."

To Mel-o'-D: I am not an aspirant for your lily-white hand, being barred, first, because I do not know the Elégie from the Maiden's Prayer, and second, I don't adore babies, but have a strong preference for blue Persians and sleepy-eyed Chows, but I want to know—when you find this dream girl, what are you to offer her in return for all these graces? Are you the kind of man who knows that ash trays are not intended for ornaments only? Do you pick up your pajamas in the morning, or do you leave them on the floor? And as to the babies, are you sure you will be cheerful about taking them for a walk when they howl with colic or teeth at 2 G. M. in the morning? I just would like to know. WEEPING WILLOW.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

GERMS OF SCARLET FEVER.

THE tendency is to regard a streptococcus as the cause of scarlet fever. A few years ago it was rather thought that while this streptococcus was responsible for most of the symptoms of scarlet fever, that the real cause of the disease was some other organism. The tendency now is toward the opinion that this streptococcus is the cause and that there is no other bacterial cause which underlies it.

The Drs. Dick of Chicago cultured the throats of some cases of scarlet fever and got no bacteria which seemed suspicious except a kind of streptococcus. They grew this streptococcus and inoculated the throats of several people with it. Some of those inoculated had a sore throat and fever with a rash which had all the features of scarlet fever. After the rash faded the skin peeled just as it does with scarlet fever.

When they put this culture through a filter the filtrate contained no streptococci and people inoculated with it did not develop scarlet fever.

A coccus is a round microbe. A streptococcus is a coccus which, when formed in a group, the members of the group hang together in a chain. A staphylococcus is a coccus the groups of which form a clump. A diplococcus is a coccus which when it divides into two, hangs together in a pair. The word "cocci" is the plural of coccus.

Because different kinds of cocci have the quality of hanging together in chains in common it does not follow that all of their other qualities are alike, or even that they have any other quality in common. This is said because some people claim that there is nothing to the notion that certain bacteria cause certain diseases because they have heard streptococci accused of causing pneumonia, rheumatism, heart disease, St. Vitus dance, erysipelas, tonsillitis, and many other diseases.

It no more follows that all cocci which hang together in chains are the same, or even kin, than it follows that all men with Roman noses are kin.

I hope the Drs. Dick are right and that the cause of scarlet fever is a streptococcus. If they are, we should be able to get a laboratory method of diagnosing the atypical cases of scarlet fever. In time we should get a better preventive and a better curative serum than the blood of convalescents now used for those purposes.

AND THAT'S THAT.

Mrs. R. V. M. writes: In regard to the article by "V. A. L." it is certainly a pity that she has nothing more to do than sit and criticise other people. As for herself, I suppose she figures that if cleanliness counts in heaven, she will get a front seat.

I have never known any women with skirts long enough to wipe off the sidewalks, who, when they get off the cars, for the sake of the cost of having their clothes cleaned and of buying new ones if for no other reason, are not careful.

If women blew their noses through their veil, I am sure the veil would look rather badly when they got through. As for kissing through their veil, a man usually wants a real kiss and a woman does not want to kiss through a dirty veil.

I realize that this poor dirty world of ours and the dirty people in it are a terrible trial to some who are the example of cleanliness. But it is the duty of every woman to stand up for her sex, regardless.

LIVE AS YOU HAVE LIVED.

Mrs. L. M. writes: I am two months pregnant, and as this is the first time, I am a little afraid as to what I eat and how I act.

Can you tell me where to get a book on pregnancy?

REPLY.

Eat about what you ate this time last year. Also act about as you did then.

Write to the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., for copies of "Prenatal Care" and "Infant Care."

State and local health departments also furnish booklets on these subjects free.

Among other books on prospective motherhood are those by Paddock, Slemons, and Sandler.

CURED BABIES OF ECZEMA.

A. B. writes: I have had two infants that were troubled with eczema. With the advice of a specialist, we took almost all the cream from the milk, then modified it with maltose and gave two feedings of milk cooked with farina.

For external use, there is a wonderful salve.

Also, we bathed the baby only in a half and half mixture of mineral oil and milk of magnesia, shaken well each time before using and rubbed over the child with absorbent cotton.

THE USELESSNESS OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Richland Center, Wis., Feb. 4.—Discussion on the merits of the league of nations has become old, but as the Bok peace contest has revived the discussion to some extent I would like to say a word on it.

My idea is that, regardless of all other things, the league of nations is superfluous so far as its main purpose is concerned.

If the league is to be an instrument through which force is to be applied, of an economic or military kind, to compel a return of peace in any case peace is broken, the league may only do so by the aid of the nations composing it, which nations would have the same power to employ force in concert if no league existed. And with the present rapid means of communication between different parts of the world in existence, an agreement to use force in concert needs no league to give it birth.

As an instrument to apply moral force the league is just as superfluous. Every civilized nation of the world today knows each day what the overt public opinion of each other nation of the world is on that day, and, therefore, every civilized nation knows constantly what the world's public opinion is as regards it. If war becomes imminent, conversation between capital and capital takes place all over the world. Offers of mediation are immediately forthcoming from different countries, and public opinion generally begins to travel in official channels. We need in the world no body or bodies composed of men, each isolated from the current opinion and public sentiment of his own country, and, therefore, out of touch with world opinion as the aggregate of the public opinion of the different individual nations of the world, as a body or bodies to relay moral influences through in times of emergency.

Agreements by nations to arbitrate with each other, and an independent court to arbitrate before, if added to the influences that naturally come into play, furnish about every means that can be practically used to effect or preserve peace in the world as it is today.

GOV. SMALL'S TAX REDUCTIONS.

Streator, Ill., Feb. 4.—Gov. Small spoke here last Friday night and he intimated that THE TRIBUNE was unreliable, nothing but a pack of lies, and Essington-Boys-Brundage were simply tools controlled by THE TRIBUNE.

There was a large gathering, like myself, curious to hear what he would say for himself. He spoke in substance about the same speech that he used four years ago. Today he blames THE TRIBUNE for everything done bad. Four-fifths of the people who heard him expected to hear him explain why he got in trouble with state funds; why he evaded the law when called on to explain; why he pardoned criminals; why he gave state jobs to the jurors who found him not guilty.

His main talk now and when he ran for governor before is mammoth tax reduction. I have my tax receipts on property, less, as I figure, 10 per cent depreciation on buildings. In 1919 I paid $117.29. In 1923 I paid on same property $214.82. Call that reducing taxes? Streator and me think all clean voters will favor F. G. Essington. He is a gentleman and a scholar. He and Boys will stand the wash and not fade.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Poland, one of many nations to thank Wilson for her deliverance from the tyrants, cannot express her sorrow. Would that he lived years to come and see, which they will, his ideals carried out. He will be the outstanding hero in Polish history for centuries to come, for in our hearts he is our liberator.

Poland is the first nation to pay him tribute. As soon as the death of Wilson was known in Warsaw, a collection was taken up for his statue.

JUSTITIA ANSWERS LEX.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—In re the "anti-Mellon" argument which appeared in today's V. P. over the signature "Lex."

Perhaps "Lex" is not aware of the fact that before any stock dividend is declared there must be a net income to represent the additional stock. If, in the instances cited, no tax had been paid, the transaction was certainly illegal and should be called to the attention of the proper authorities. If tax had been paid Lex's argument fails to prove.

When a net profit has been made by a corporation it is left to the discretion of the board of directors: [1] To hold same under the caption of undivided profits; [2] To distribute same as cash dividends; [3] To declare a stock dividend, and invest the profit in additional equipment, etc.

According to the present tax laws, the first of these solutions produces the greatest benefit to the corporation, since these undivided profits are made part of the invested capital for the following fiscal year, thus reducing proportionately the surtax for that year. At the same time it does the greatest harm to industry as it means that much more money lying idle.

The second solution has a neutral effect on the corporation, tending neither to increase nor to decrease the tax payable by the corporation for the following fiscal year.

The third solution is a detriment to the corporation, inasmuch as per art. 859 of regulations 62, "neither the payment nor the receipt of a true stock dividend has any effect upon the amount of invested capital."

It is therefore quite obvious that Lex's suggestion to keep up the surtaxes to benefit industry is on a par with that of Jim Jones who thought it advisable to drill a hole in the bottom of the boat in order to let out the water.

"CHILDREN'S TEETH."

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7.—The editorial in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Feb. 4 on "Children's Teeth" was much appreciated by the 4,000 members of the Chicago Dental society, its seven branch societies throughout Chicago and Cook county, and the 45,000 ethical dentists in the United States, who are interested in having oral hygiene taught in the schools, and we thank you for this splendid mouth hygiene boost.

It is hoped that the public understands that the dental profession is gaining nothing in a material way from the school clinics. In fact, the work of these clinics should so reduce dental and consequent bodily ailments and make for the better physical development of our young people, as you have so aptly pointed out, that considerably less dental service will be required in the future.

To the People of the Sanitary District of Chicago

Chicago is in Peril!

The Trustees of the Sanitary District of Chicago herewith lay before the 3,000,000 residents of the City and its suburbs the facts in the gravely critical situation that must be met immediately, in the pending controversy over the withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan for purposes of disposition of the sewage of our metropolitan area.

10,000 Cubic Feet per Second Must Be Authorized

Favorable Congressional action on Chicago's request for emergency legislation is an overpowering necessity

Read These Facts—

1. The Sanitary District of Chicago must have a withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan of 10,000 cubic feet per second to dispose of the sewage of the city and its suburbs through the drainage canal and to prevent the dumping of this sewage into Lake Michigan and the immediate pollution of Chicago's only source of drinking water supply.

2. That quantity of water is now being withdrawn by virtue of the Act of the Illinois General Assembly that created the District, which requires that amount of water to properly dilute the sewage of the present population of the Sanitary District—upwards of 3,000,000 souls. The Sanitary District built it's works with the acquiescence and permit of Government officials. In 1909 by treaty between United States and Great Britain its withdrawal was sanctioned.

3. Apparently the sole authority for the limitation of withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan to the amount of 4,167 cubic feet per second, in so far as the Federal Government is concerned, rests upon a supposed direction of the Secretary of War to limit the withdrawal to that amount, made twenty-four years ago, when the main channel was opened and the flow of the Chicago river was reversed and before the Chicago river was widened and deepened by the Sanitary District at a cost of upwards of $13,000,000.

4. This Federal limitation was made by the then Secretary of War because of the then condition of the Chicago river. Succeeding Secretaries have refused to remove this limitation as requested by the Sanitary District with the population of Chicago increasing at the rate of 75,000 each year, notwithstanding the widening and deepening of the river for the express purpose of removing the Federal objections, their position being that an Act of Congress, granting specific authority to the Sanitary District, must be secured.

5. An injunction suit, brought against the Sanitary District in the Federal Courts, seeks to restrain the District to a maximum withdrawal of 4,167 cubic feet per second, the quantity required a quarter of a century ago. That injunction suit has been disposed of in the lower courts AGAINST the Sanitary District, and is now on Appeal in the Supreme Court of the United States.

6. Bills have been introduced in the Senate and House of Representatives of the present Congress, granting to Chicago the use of the required 10,000 cubic feet per second. Hearings upon these bills will begin within the next two weeks. The President and Trustees are now in Washington pressing upon Congress the necessity for immediate and decisive action.

Failure of this Congressional authority to pass at this session of Congress may mean disaster to Chicago, from the standpoint of loss of life and property destruction, more calamitous than the great fire of 1871.

Arrayed against Chicago in its fight for life is a combination of interests, tremendously powerful, insidious in its machinations and unscrupulous in its tactics. Sir Adam Beck, who is the spokesman for Canadian power interests that are potently involved in the power created at Niagara Falls, is in the open as Chicago's bitter and implacable foe. He wants the water that Chicago is using for health and sanitation to be taken away from this city and sent down the Niagara River for his power purposes. Sir Adam Beck's ultimatum, if it becomes effective, means destruction of Chicago's drinking water supply and consequent loss of life; it means the saddling of an immediate burden of a quarter of a billion dollars upon the taxpayers of Chicago for the building of sewage disposal plants to partially take the place of the water that Sir Adam Beck would grab from the Sanitary District. It would mean a tax of $50 on every man, woman and child in our district. It would mean pollution of our water supply and an immediate, alarming increase in the typhoid death rate for at least twenty-five years while these plants were being built. It would put Chicago back where it was fifty years ago. It would mean the scrapping of the $100,000,000 of construction of the Drainage Canal of the Sanitary District between Chicago and Lockport, and would create havoc with the vast system of intercepting sewers that has been built in conjunction with the North Shore Channel and the Calumet-Sag Channel and would make chaos of the present program of reasonable construction of sewage disposal plants that is well on its way to realization.

Sir Adam Beck has the active assistance of a force of propagandists, with headquarters at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, ostensibly representing the navigation interests of the Great Lakes. This element, with subtle skill, has spread the false assertion throughout the Great Lakes ports that the withdrawal of Lake Michigan water through the Drainage Canal is responsible for the lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes by two and one-half feet, thereby greatly harming navigation. The truth is that engineers of the United States and Canada claim that the Chicago withdrawal will result only in the lowering of the lake levels by not more than five and one-half inches.

To compensate the navigation interests for this lowering, the Sanitary District Trustees, with the approval of and authority from the Illinois Legislature, offered to build, and now offer to build, at the expense of the Sanitary District, regulating works in the St. Clair and Niagara Rivers and at the outlet of Lake Ontario, which would restore the claimed five and one-half inches for navigation, at a cost of approximately $2,500,000. President William J. Healy and the Trustees of the Sanitary District at Washington last November made the formal proffer of a check for $1,000,000 to the Chief of Engineers of the United States and through him to the Secretary of War, as evidence of good faith on the part of Chicago. The proffer was declined on the ground that there was no legal authority for receiving the check.

Trustees of the Sanitary District, on repeated visits to Canada, were graciously received by men thoroughly representative of the navigation companies, who gave cordial approval to the Chicago plan as a means of settling forever any differences between Canada and Chicago on the Lake level issue. NOT SO SIR ADAM BECK. After forty-eight hours of effort and the delivery of a formal demand for an audience, President Healy and the Trustees were permitted to present Chicago's case to him. He bluntly told the Chicago delegation that he opposed any such plan; that it would tend to reduce the flow of water through the Niagara River, and therefore reduce his power, and that he held to the contention that the water of the Great Lakes is: first, for power; second, for navigation; and third, for sanitation. This in the face of the provisions of the present International Treaty, which expressly stipulates: SANITATION first, navigation second, and power third—a treaty which is premised upon the right of Chicago to withdraw 10,000 cubic feet per second for sanitation. President Healy's reply to Sir Adam Beck was: "The life of one Chicago child is more sacred to me than all the water at Niagara Falls for power purposes."

The interests that are represented by the Milwaukee coterie succeeded in enlisting the Attorney General of Wisconsin, who proposes to secure an original injunction in the United States Supreme Court to prevent Chicago from withdrawing ANY water from Lake Michigan, a suit in which he has sought to involve the Attorney Generals of Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota and Pennsylvania, but without substantial result as yet.

The Trustees of the Sanitary District are making every possible effort to secure the enactment of the necessary legislation at Washington. They are entitled to the active co-operation and support of every man, woman and child in Chicago and its suburbs. It is YOUR fight that they are making and it is a fight for the lives of YOUR children. Behind the Trustees there should be an exhibition of the old-time Chicago spirit at this dangerous and critical moment.

Every public spirited citizen is urged to write to Senators and Representatives at Washington, from Illinois and other states, to support Chicago in her fight for the water that she must have.

NEW "DOT KING" MURDER AFFAIR BAFFLES GOTHAM

Actress Friend of Banker Is Found Slain.

Inspector Lahey said that robbery had been the only motive discovered and that the police were seeking the two men among the haunts of bootleggers. Armed with a meager description of the pair, every available detective was working tonight to overtake them. Pawnbrokers were warned to watch for three diamond rings a platinum wrist watch, and a platinum chain which the men took.

Body Found By Negress.

The body of Miss Lawson was found by Lillian Harvey, a Negro maid. As she entered she saw signs of disorder. A big basket of American beauty roses had been strewn over the Turkish rugs and the flowers had been crushed as if by struggling feet. Pictures were lying smashed on the floor and chairs had been thrust this way and that.

The maid passed into the bedroom, and found her mistress dead, murdered.

She notified the elevator operator, Thomas Kane, who called police headquarters. The first detectives to reach the scene found tied to a chair in a corner Miss Lawson's pet wire haired terrier. The dog had been bound to the furniture.

Kane told the detectives that about 8 o'clock two men had entered the apartment and loitered for a few minutes in the hallway. The apartment, located directly across from the American Museum of Natural History and so elaborately decorated in mission style as to bear the neighborhood name of "The Monastery," had been the scene of several robberies and Kane was suspicious of the men.

Said They Had Whisky.

After a brief pause, however, they walked over to the elevator and entered it. Kane refused to start the car until the men told where they were going. One of the strangers, who carried a worn paper parcel under his arm, directed Kane to take them up "to 56—we're expressmen and we've got a package here for Miss Lawson."

Kane said that in about twenty minutes the bell on the fifth floor was rung and when he went up he found one of the men.

"Miss Lawson wanted Scotch and not rye," the man remarked, casually, as he stepped into the car. "You never can tell what they want."

Kane said he never carried the second man down. The police believe he fled down the stairways.

Miss Peggy Tompkins, next door neighbor to the slain girl, said that at about 8:30 o'clock she heard the bell in Miss Lawson's apartment ring. She heard Miss Lawson cry out:

"Who is there?"

"A couple of expressmen," came the response in a man's voice. "We've got something here for you."

Heard Her Admit Them.

"I'm not dressed yet," Miss Lawson replied, according to Miss Tompkins. "Wait a minute."

The neighbor heard the door open a few seconds later, the men entered and the door closed. She heard no other sounds until the screams of the Negro maid aroused all the tenants.

Searching through the girl's effects the detectives found many letters, chiefly from men. In addition to the "Jerry Doll" photograph the police found a half dozen other pictures, each of a different man. One of these was a photograph of Lieut. Hawley, showing a young man in an overseas uniform. An affectionate inscription in a man's handwriting appeared across the back of the picture.

Several letters from the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lawson of Walnut Springs, Texas, with a telegram signed "Dad and Mother," sent from the Texas town on Jan. 26 last were found. The message said: "Many happy returns." The police later learned that Miss Lawson had become 25 years of age on that date, and that she had held a party in her apartment that night.

Maid Recognizes Photograph.

The colored maid recognized the picture of "Jerry Doll" as that of a friend of Miss Lawson who called now and then. She knew him as "Mr. Jerry," and believed he was a broker. Kane said "Jerry" left the apartment one morning less than a week ago, but had not called since.

While the questioning was going forward Mrs. Mary Ward Hartwell, a woman of about 75 years, called at the department. She said Miss Lawson had lived with her a short time in West 70th street, and that she had met the girl when she first came to New York about six years ago.

Originally Miss Lawson had taken a small part in "Way Down East." This had not proven much of a success, however, and she determined to develop a native talent for the piano. Mrs. Hartwell said that she had encouraged her in this, and that Miss Lawson had often spent week-ends at the Hartwell country place at Mountain Lakes, N. J.

Miss Lawson, the elderly woman said, was a refined, "lovable" girl and did not indulge in display of jewels or fine clothes.

Detectives said Miss Lawson was a familiar figure in the cabarets in the "white light" district.

The Deadly Broadway Parallel

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The similarity of the murders of Louise Lawson, movie actress, and Dorothy Keenan, the "Dot King" of the Broadway cabarets, was pointed out by detectives today. Some of the outstanding facts follow:

TWENTY CITIES ON ONE CIRCUIT HEAR CONCERTS

One second the guests at the dinner of the Bond Men's club last night in the Congress hotel were listening to a violin solo in Havana. As the last note died away they heard "Home, Sweet Home," played by chimes in San Francisco in a demonstration given by the Bell Telephone company.

In all twenty cities were "listening in" on the same circuit and the voice of a man from each city was heard distinctly as he answered to the roll call from Gen. J. J. Carty, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who conducted the demonstration.

"Hello, Havana," called Mr. Carty.

"This is Havana, Cuba, Mr. Caldwell speaking," came the voice from the southern end of the 5,000 mile transcontinental wire.

"Now, Mr. Caldwell," continued Mr. Carty. "Will you speak a few words to San Francisco?"

"Hello, San Francisco," said Mr. Caldwell, and he was answered by Mr. Bates at the other end of the far flung circuit.

In the room at Chicago the receiver was attached to an amplifier, not only enabling the persons in the room to hear distinctly, but also broadcasting through a radio station the program to a wider audience. In six other cities the same arrangement was made.

U. OF C. MEN SAY WAR WOULD FIND THEM IN RANKS

Were the United States in danger of invasion the ranks of students at the University of Chicago immediately would be depleted, inquiry indicated yesterday. Sixty-three men answered that they would not wait to be drafted. Of these sixty-three men, twelve were medical students, ten were law students, and the rest were students of the colleges of art, literature and science.

They were fraternity and nonfraternity men, class officers, and members of honorary fraternities.

Stand 4 Feet Apart and Shoot to Test Safety Vest

In the presence of Chief of Detectives Hughes, Chief of County Highway Police Weidling, and other officials, Attorney Michael Ryan and Judge John J. Rooney, standing four feet apart, shot at one another yesterday and lived to tell the tale. It was not a duel, but a test of a "bullet proof" vest, a garment that its makers believe will save the lives of policemen. Chief Hughes said that he will recommend its adoption.

PASTOR CASE TO FACE RECALL TO WITNESS STAND

Lawyer Claims New Light on Past.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

William R. Moss' eastern trip, he announced yesterday upon his return to Chicago, has not been a failure.

On the contrary, he pointed out, his preliminary examination into the past of Dr. Carl D. Case has aided Mrs. Charlotte Leland's story by tending to prove that her pastor had been a philandering minister before he was called to the First Baptist church of Oak Park.

The testimony he will ultimately be able to place before the court, Attorney Moss feels, will swing the pendulum of public opinion, now estimated by him as a 70-30 ratio in favor of his client, to something more than 99 per cent in favor of the confessed, "repentant, but loving wife."

Case Starts to Chicago.

In order to start the pendulum swinging, Mr. Moss will go before Judge Charles Foell this morning and ask permission to recall Dr. Case to the stand for cross-examination on Feb. 19, when the now famed Albert R. Leland divorce hearing will be resumed.

While the lawyer was making these plans, Dr. Case, summoned by his lawyer, was leaving Buffalo for Chicago. The pastor will reach here in time to be in court today. He would make no statement regarding the sudden ending of his vacation.

Attorney Moss denied reports that he would ask for a further continuance.

"I intend to go to Buffalo on Wednesday and take depositions there," Mr. Moss said following a conference with Mrs. Leland and her father, Dr. Beach Loomis. "Then I expect to take depositions in New York and Brooklyn.

"With this information and possibly with one or two new witnesses whom I shall ask the court to permit me to call, I know the case will be convincing. If there should still be doubt, I shall ask the court for more time in order to trace Dr. Case's adventures in previous pastorates."

Tells of Dr. Adams' Visit.

Mr. Moss gave Mrs. Leland a detailed account of his trip to the home of the Rev. George D. Adams, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Yonkers. Dr. Adams, who divorced his first wife four years ago on a charge of infidelity, still refuses to name the co-respondent. But the minister, according to Mr. Moss, has never affirmed or denied the statement that Dr. Case may be the "man in a high place" who was referred to in the divorce proceedings.

The lawyer also told Mrs. Leland of his interview with the secretary of the Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, New York. Dr. Woelfkin is reported to have investigated alleged indiscretions of Dr. Case in the east.

According to a Buffalo dispatch, Dr. Willis G. Gregory, senior member of the board of the Delaware Avenue Baptist church, where Dr. Case was pastor for ten years before going to Oak Park, declared Dr. Case did not leave the church under pressure, nor was there anything resembling a cloud against his reputation.

DOCTOR GOES TO JAIL.

Dr. Arthur E. Price, once a well known physician, pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of violating national narcotic acts and was sentenced by Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe to one year and a day in Fort Leavenworth penitentiary.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

Saturday, Feb. 9, 1924.

An effort to find out how many farmers in Illinois have radio receiving sets, and how much radio means in the life of the farmer, is being made by the Illinois Agricultural association. In quest of this information a questionnaire has been sent to all county farm bureaus asking how many have receiving sets, what per cent of the population they represent, how many have purchased sets, and how many have made their own, how many schools, churches, and community centers have them and what kind of programs do they prefer for entertainment; what broadcasting stations are most frequently tuned in and if the farmers regularly tune in on the American Farm Bureau federation programs on Tuesday nights from KYW, Chicago.

A program of today's schedule on the air follows:

COP ARRESTED; GIRL CHARGES HE BEAT HER

Policeman Thomas S. Guilfoyle, assigned to duty in the office of Si Mayer, secretary of the police department, was locked up in the Central police station last night after investigation by Chief Collins of the charges made against him by Miss Edith Dreger, 4003 North Spaulding avenue.

As a result of the girl's story another policeman, Leslie Larson of the West North avenue command, was suspended and Casey Davis, a colored janitor in the city hall will be prosecuted for illegal possession and sale of liquor to the policemen.

After a gay party in the Rex café, 22d street and Wabash avenue, Guilfoyle, Miss Dreger declared, enticed her to the police department offices on the tenth floor of the city hall, where he attempted to attack her, early last Sunday morning.

Despite the fact that in his struggle to overcome her, Guilfoyle tore the girl's clothing and beat her with his fists, breaking several of her teeth, Miss Dreger escaped from the office and fled down the twenty flights of stairs from the tenth to first floors of the city hall.

THE STEADFAST HEART
By
Clarence Budington Kelland

"A novel of stark reality and enthralling romance," is what the Boston Globe says of this story of the rise of Angus Burke. A lonely, unwanted little waif of ten, facing experiences that would test the nerve of a grown man, Angus, "standing up for himself," has walked straight into the hearts of thousands of readers. His is a story of courage and loyalty to ideals—a romance of beauty and power, that you, too, will thrill to. Your bookseller has "The Steadfast Heart." "Riceyman Steps" Finds Bennett Again at His Best

By Fanny Butcher.

ARNOLD BENNETT.

Arnold Bennett was in the full flower of his popularity among the cognoscenti when I was in college. I remember having one of the Five Towns stories read in class one day because what was said after class by one girl will never be forgotten. I can't remember what story it was, and her remark wasn't induced alone by the morning's reading. She had gone deep into Bennett, as she went deep into everything. She was an earnest soul, and, as often happens with earnest young things who do not affect complete irreligion, she was deeply religious, sensitively so. None of the horseplay about Sunday school teachers, and ministers, and deacons, and the like, as appeared in the Mencken-Nathan combination of utterances, would have received more than the most disdainful sniffings from her, though they are somewhat the fashion in radical collegiate circles, and were even in those old days. She was a literary radical—as who wasn't who believed in Arnold Bennett?—but she still kept her faith. It was because such a person said it that the remark has remained a vivid memory to me.

She said "Arnold Bennett reminds me of God. He knows so well what goes on inside people."

Perhaps it was because she said in hyperbole what many believed—with reservations!—that those words never were blurred to me. Certainly in those days Arnold Bennett was the idol of a group of yearners who envied him his power of knowing what goes on inside people's minds. "The Old Wives' Tale" was already accepted as a classic, and though we probably hadn't critical sense enough to know it, nor had the leaders of critical thought, for that matter, Arnold Bennett was already slipping. A few perfectly delightful light things, "Helen with the High Hand," "Denry the Audacious," —that kind of thing—preceded the terrible slump. In this generation (how the generations of literary criticism do leap upon each other these days—like the issues of magazines, dated a month and a half after their appearance) it is considered not only passe but hopelessly reactionary to care for Arnold Bennett. Because he did a series, and a long series at that, of pretty poor things, the critical world has washed its hands of him. "Poor thing," it says, "he once was brilliant. Now he isn't even polished."

What I want to say—after this preamble—is that Arnold Bennett may have been having a sort of hibernation for the last few years, but he has certainly shaken the winter out of his mind lately and he has written as fascinating a novel as any of the English school—and one far better technically than most—in "Riceyman Steps."

And, although his likeness to God is a little exaggerated, the quality of actually knowing what goes on in the human heart is the quality of his greatness—that and the fact that although he knows it and you know it when you read him, he doesn't go into the long photographic details that most of the present day writers seem to think are necessary to an analysis of character or motive. And there, of course, is where his skillful technique comes in.

The story of "Riceyman Steps" is a most humble one, merely the record of the marriage of a quiet bookseller and the accompanying romance of a maid of all work. That the bookseller is a miser you only suspect—in reality—until the unnecessarily sparse menage is seen through the eyes of another person, a doctor called in to diagnose an illness. Up to that time you, the reader, have been living the peaceful and really affectionate life of the middle aged hero and his middle aged wife, being extremely amused at their economies but, like them, perfectly unconscious of the decay in their lives which those economies have insidiously been causing. And then with the injection of a new onlooker at the scene, the veil of affection and calm is torn from your eyes, and you see them as they are, sick, undernourished, and their happiness wrecked by greed for money. That is one of the most skillful pieces of literary work that I have happened on lately, for never for a moment does Mr. Bennett tell you that they have changed. Because you have been living with them so intimately you have not realized the change in them. But an outsider sees it.

The charwoman's romance is a bitter and a beautiful one, but you, on the other hand, know all along what is going on in Elsie's mind, because Elsie is that kind of open faced and open hearted creature.

All of this sounds as if "Riceyman Steps" were a very dour book indeed. It is not. For at least half of the book it is so amusing that you'll laugh outright. The schemes of the miser to keep from spending money are as funny as a comic strip should be and rarely is. The visit of the bride and groom to Mme. Tussaud's is enough to amuse a perpetual grouch. Granted a decent acceptance of life, the daily living of it is not unbearable to mankind, nor is it without its humors. Tragedy may hover, but the shadow of her wings is rarely seen by the person upon whom she is to pounce until the claws are almost sunk in their victim. The world outside may know, occasionally, but life usually goes on with a preponderance of amusement until almost the fatal moment. "Riceyman Steps" has a certain atmosphere of being life itself.

Correspondence.

All of you, I am sure, whether you agreed with me or not in thinking "The Midlander" not up to Mr. Tarkington's possible best, will be, as I was, most interested in this note from Mrs. Tarkington, and be grateful to her:

"Dear Miss Butcher:

"I send you this, not taking issue with you because you do not like Mr. Tarkington's novel 'The Midlander,' which you recently reviewed in THE TRIBUNE. I merely write to tell you that you are wrong about Mr. Tarkington's method of novel construction. All of his work without exception has been serialized. That is merely incidental, especially so in the case of 'The Midlander,' which was printed in four installments only, the length of these and the stopping points being selected, as with Mr. Tarkington's other novels, by the editor.

"May I add that, in reference to your remark that hurry is evident in 'The Midlander,' that Mr. Tarkington was more than twice as long in writing it as he was in writing 'Alice Adams,' and of course the printing of the novel did not begin until the manuscript was concluded. In view of the fact that your attitude to Mr. Tarkington is evidently a friendly one, I am emboldened to offer you this information as an assistance to your analytical deductions, and to sign myself,

"Very sincerely yours,
"SUSANAH TARKINGTON."

Eminent Lawyers.

Under the title, "Eight Great American Lawyers," Horace H. Hagan has written short biographical sketches of some of the most prominent figures in American legal history, most of them of an age forgotten—or practically so—and only one of them even approaching our own times in his influence. Luther Martin was conspicuous in two of the most dramatic trials ever held in our country, the impeachment of Chief Justice Samuel Chase and the trial of Aaron Burr. William Pinkney "was the very greatest lawyer that this country has ever produced." William Wirt served longer as attorney general of the United States than any other man before or since his reign. Thomas Addis Emmet, released from a British prison, after having enjoyed one of the most flourishing practices in Ireland, came to America and attained in a second country a preeminence. "To Rufus Choate belongs the distinction of being the greatest American advocate." "With the possible exception of Wendell Phillips, Seargent Prentiss is in all probability the greatest orator that this country has produced." Judah P. Benjamin "achieved national fame under one flag, international renown under another, splendid distinction under a third, and died under a fourth"—and was a penniless immigrant to begin with. And finally, William M. Evarts is sketched in an article which explains his connection with the impeachment of Andrew Johnson and other spectacular legal battles.

A History of Alaska.

Jeannette Paddock Nichols, Ph. D. has written a comprehensive and authoritative history of the administration of Alaska, of its exploitation, and its industrial development during the first half century of the rule of the United States—a task not so simple because of the maze of contradictory economic, geographic, and political influences which have beset Alaska. Dr. Nichols has dug out the sources in every case in her research. The result is a valuable historical document.

Lectures and Meetings

The Emil G. Hirsch Culture Circle has a new series of lectures. They are given Thursday evenings by Prof. George L. Scherger, who is head of the department of history at Armour institute. This week his subject will be "Beethoven and the Symphony." In the regular Monday night series Prof. Scherger will talk next week on "Prejudices and Superstitions in History."

A new circle of Chicago Bookfellows will be organized on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. T. J. Cavanagh, 1062 Hollywood avenue. They will study especially biography and poetry. The first evening Harry Hansen's "Midwest Portraits" and the poetry of Vachel Lindsay will be discussed. Visitors are always welcome to the Bookfellow meetings.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Chicago Historical society the annual memorial address on Abraham Lincoln will be given by Addison G. Proctor, the youngest delegate to the Republican convention of 1860, and believed to be the sole survivor of the men who nominated Lincoln.

Miss Clara Laughlin begins a new series at the Grace Hickox studios of lectures on literary backgrounds in travel. There will be five lectures on England Wednesday evenings and Thursday mornings.

CONFESSIONS

When I asked W. L. George what book he would rather have written than any other he replied:

Dear Miss Butcher:

It may seem irrelevant, but I feel that it would be a mistake (in general) to write the book "one would most like to have written." If one sets to work to write a book like that, one easily makes a mistake akin to that of Zola when he wrote "Le Reve." He tried to show that he, the coarse, the sensual, could write something delicate and mystical; and as a result Mr. Anatole France rightly remarked that he preferred Mr. Zola on all fours to Mr. Zola winged.

Since I believe that one should write not the book one dreams of but the book one must write, I cannot name a book I should like to have written . . . . other than my own. I greatly admire "Madame Bovary," "Babbitt," "Fathers and Children" (mark the variety), but I do not ache. My own books are not everything I want, for no writer succeeds in formulating the book he has in his mind; the pen is faulty and cannot express the radiant spirit. Still, for better or worse, the books I have written are myself, and so I do not sigh to be Tolstoi or Frank Crane. Perhaps the only book which I should like to write is the book which I shall never write.

Yours sincerely,

WLGeorge

You'll Be Stirred by This Story of "Pierre Curie"

In an age when nothing is supposed to be without its golden label, when God is worshiped in million dollar temples, when fame always means fortune, when art is hoarded by those who also hoard dollars, when the world, whether it will or not, believes one a success in exact ratio to one's material holdings, in an age when inventions bring monetary power and when science works for commercial ends, the story of Pierre and Marie Curie is a startling and a stirring one.

With untold fortunes in their power, with an opportunity to make for themselves and for their children a success respected even by an age which no longer counts its billionaires on its two hands, they refused to commercialize their discoveries, worked all of Pierre Curie's life and most of his wife's in hopelessly inadequate surroundings, lived more than frugally, and, as radium became practicable, saw their discoveries being used by others and making fortunes for them.

Never once did they regret their purely scientific stand. Never once did they feel that they had done any way but unquestionably right.

In Mme. Curie's life of her husband and in her autobiographical notes which compose the stirring book "Pierre Curie," she does make one statement which, coming from her, should bear the most solemn weight. She says:

"Humanity, surely, needs practical men who make the best of their work for the sake of their own interests without forgetting the general interest. But it also needs dreamers, for whom the unselfish following of a purpose is so imperative that it becomes impossible for them to devote much attention to their own material benefit. No doubt it could be said that these idealists do not deserve riches since they do not have the desire for them. It seems, however, that a society well organized ought to assure to these workers the means of efficient labor from which material care is excluded, so that this life may be freely devoted to the service of scientific research."

Because they were not "assured the means of efficient labor" the work of Pierre and Marie Curie took years longer than it need have taken. Of course, Mme. Curie doesn't consider her work finished, but the actual discovery of radium might have been made long before it was if they had been able to work in anything like an adequate laboratory or been able to afford any actual help.

Mme. Curie tells the simplest possible kind of story about her husband and his work—a story especially touching because they were obviously so devoted to one another that there is no history of their life together. Like the histories of happy and contented nations, it is unwritten, and unwritable. Because it was such a complete and peaceful union, because they were never separated, because their work was also their relaxation, it either seems to her that there is nothing to tell or that their happiness and oneness belonged to them and not to the world.

She tells the details of their scientific work together, but there are only now and then vignettes of their daily life outside their work, memories of days in the country on their bicycles, but always memories of the pull back which his work had for him "My husband was so engrossed in his researches that it was very difficult for him to remain for any length of time in a place where he lacked facilities for work. After a few days he would say 'It seems to me a very long time since we have accomplished anything.'"

Tells Gripping Story

MME. MARIE CURIE.
[Kadel & Herbert Photo.]

And always she calls him Pierre Curie—as a priestess would speak of one of the more important gods—never Pierre. After a little while, when you are reading the book, it would be a distinct shock to you to have her become thus familiar with him. He must have been to her always that great personality whom one would never call by anything except his title.

I can't remember when a book has stirred me so deeply as "Pierre Curie." It has the most toshly sentimental introduction I have ever read, by Mrs William Brown Meloney, so out of tone with Mme. Curie's restrained, almost severe, life as to ruin the book, almost. Mme. Curie has written an almost too restrained life, which is concerned practically entirely with scientific facts.

It is at times extremely dull. Her autobiographical notes are most meager. And there is at the end of the book a perfectly absurd piece about her visit to America, obviously written for some paper or magazine and to say thank you to every one.

The entire book has been done, it seems, as a message of gratitude for the gift which the women of America gave her (a gift which she, by the way, willed should go to her laboratory at her death and not to her two children). But woven into the fabric of the book is the most uplifting record of two lives dedicated without reservation to an ideal, a wholly uncommercial ideal, and of the great spiritual beauty of lives so dedicated.

Hardships of the most discouraging kind, complete social isolation, absolutely individualistic labors, everything done without except each other, and even that oneness shattered by the death of Pierre Curie in 1906, sickness tearing a fragile body—nothing touched that sturdy heart and its passionate devotion to its ideals. Pierre Curie had always said that when death came to one of them the other must go on working. The other did.

In its unwritten facts of the power of ideals in a not obviously idealistic world, "Pierre Curie" is, despite its annoying faults as literature, a terribly stirring literary document.

"The Fir and the Palm" Is Book of Moment in England

By Sidney Dark

[Editor of John o' London's Weekly.]

The book of the moment in England is Princess Bibesco's "The Fir and the Palm,"* which doubtless has been published simultaneously on your side. Everything that the Asquiths do is certain to attract a certain amount of attention although the rather heavy book of essays recently published by Asquith père has fallen rather flat. The general opinion is that while the Princess Bibesco's study of a group of discontented people either married to the wrong husbands or wives or in love with the wrong lovers is clever and acute with more than a suggestion of Octave Feuillet, her talent is far better fitted for the short story than for the long novel.

[*"The Fir and the Palm" was published serially in The Chicago Tribune during November and December and will be published here in book form on Feb. 15.—F. B.]

Miss Tennyson Jesse is an extremely good looking young woman, who has written more than one successful novel. Like Mrs. Belloc Lowndes and other women writers, she is interested in murder and she has recently finished a book called "Murder and Its Motives." According to Miss Jesse, the motives for murder can be divided into six divisions.

MISS TENNYSON JESSE.
[Bassano, Ltd., Photo.]

In his "The Story of a Great Schoolmaster," H. G. Wells has written a study of Sanderson of Oundle, a courageous and original headmaster, who managed to import modernity and a measure of common sense into the Tory atmosphere of an English public school. Unfortunately, Wells has used his subject as a means of expounding his own peculiar views, not only on education, but on the universe and on the Maker of the universe. A witty critic recently compared Wells to "a bartender at the bar of heaven, whence he looks out (like Rosetti's Blessed Damozel) and dispenses sociological cocktails to the universe."

Father Ronald Knox, certainly the wittiest priest in England, has written a new book which is called "Sanctions," and which is described as "a frivolity." It is something on the lines of the late W. H. Mallock's "The New Republic," consisting of a series of conversations, in which most of the problems of life are lightly discussed.

In the Footsteps of the Lincolns
By Ida M. Tarbell

THIS startling book by the greatest living authority on Abraham Lincoln proves that the story of Lincoln is not the story of the miraculous rise of genius from ignorance, of a great and dynamic character from shiftless, poor-white ancestry. Through seven generations of industrious, courageous pioneer ancestors the strength and spirit which culminated in our great president was in the making. Miss Tarbell's story of these generations and of Lincoln's own early manhood forms a fascinating chapter in American biography. Illustrated. $4.00

The Call of the Canyon
By Zane Grey

L. H. Robbins in the New York Times says: "A novel that flows as swiftly and irresistibly as the Colorado River—and as clean and fresh as a New England village after a three-day rain. The wild, lonely, fearfully beautiful Arizona desert has never been better done. A corking good story." $2.00

A new novel of the modern churchman
A CURE OF SOULS
By May Sinclair
The present day question of the church and its representatives makes this new book of May Sinclair's one of extraordinary interest. In a brilliant and sparkling style the author has told this story of the comfort and peace loving canon and his parish. It is a delightful novel, light and amusing in general tone, but with occasional dashes of acrid satire. $2.50

CHEAT-THE-BOYS
A Story of the Devonshire Orchards
By Eden Phillpotts
Mr. Phillpotts has painted another delightful picture of English country life and has peopled his story with the Devonshire folk, prototypes of those in his other novels. Gilvan, the lovely, the inconstant, through her coquetry wins the title among the jealous and jilted of Cheat-the-Boys. Great love and great sorrow come to her, and the changes these two factors make upon her character form an absorbing story. $2.25

RYKOFF PUSHES POLICY OF LENIN IN FOREIGN FIELD

Expects Credits Abroad as Result of Recognition.

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Alexis I. Rykoff, president of the council of commissars, will carry on the policy of the late bolshevik leader, Nikolay Lenin, with regard to foreign affairs, and also will seek to improve Russia's internal condition.

This information was vouchsafed today by M. Rykoff in the first statement he has made since he was chosen premier in succession to Lenin.

According to Rykoff the soviet never has sought to rule other peoples and desires to maintain peace; but he asserted that while the international situation remained complicated by the Versailles peace treaty Russia must keep up her Red army as a weapon of defense.

Plans in East.

Rykoff emphasized that he would continue Lenin's policy of unstinted aid and complete sympathy for the peoples of the east in their efforts toward national, cultural, and economic rebirth. This would strengthen Russia's relations with Afghanistan, Persia, China, Turkey, and other countries of the east.

Internally, said M. Rykoff, the principal task would be an improvement in national economy, particularly with relation to trade between the cities and the peasants, and also an improvement in the budget and currency system. The upbuilding of industries had proceeded to a considerable extent during the past year without much foreign assistance, and now the improvement in relations between Russia, Great Britain, Italy, and Germany presaged the possibility of foreign aid in the form of credits and concessions.

CONFERENCE AT VIENNA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

VIENNA, Feb. 8.—[Tribune Radio].—Chancellor Seipel, accompanied by Foreign Minister Gruenberger, returned to Vienna last night from Bucharest, where he conferred with the Roumanian cabinet on the problem of relations with Russia.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that Chancellor Seipel arranged for a three cornered conference early in March with the Roumanian foreign minister, M. Duka, with Austrian chiefs and M. Tchitcherin to establish an accord and recognition of the soviets.

The chancellor believes it necessary for Austria to recognize Russia after Italy and England have done so.

"READY TO SETTLE"

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—[Tribune Radio.]—Russia's formal reply to the British recognition says:

"We are in readiness to discuss and to settle in a friendly spirit all questions," including "those former treaties which either have been denounced or have lost their judicial force as a result of events during or after the war."

For this purpose the soviets intend to send to London in the immediate future representatives with full power.

M. Rakovsky, chief of the soviet trade mission in London, has been appointed charge d'affaires. He is of Bulgarian origin, was educated in Switzerland and Germany, and went to Russia for the first time in 1910. He was deported and went to Germany, and later to Roumania, where during the war he was imprisoned.

NEW DICTATOR OF MOSCOW ARRESTS RED ARMY CHIEFS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—[Tribune Radio.]—M. Djerjinsky, the new dictator of Moscow, has undertaken extensive arrests of Red army officers following an unsuccessful revolt led by Leon Trotzky. It was discovered that the fleets in the Baltic and the Black sea had a part in the plot, and more than 250 naval officers have been arrested.

Maxim Gorki, speaking to a mutual friend in Paris, declared the Red army was certain to rise against the bolshevik tyranny in the near future.

"There is no doubt whatever that democratic power will supersede the bloody reign of the communists in Russia," he said. "In six years bolshevism has reduced the population to a worse condition than the Tartar slavery. It has become an uncultured mass which does not care to think of political problems and cares still less to be bothered with communistic ideas and fights.

"The bolsheviki recognize their failure in the reign of terror. They have no authority in the small cities. Even their Red army is turning against communism and overthrowing all communistic foolishness imposed on it. They have no power to check the progress of democracy."

RUSH TROOPS TO ATHENS TO BACK GREEK REPUBLIC

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 7.—[Tribune Radio.]—The forcible establishment of a Greek republic seems imminent.

Gen. Conditis, commander in chief of the army and navy and head of the republican movement, brought to Athens today from Saloniki a Cretan regiment of violent republican sentiments, and he has ordered other republican regiments to come here.

The program of the militant republicans is to overthrow the weak Kafandaris cabinet in the assembly early next week by voting for the abolition of the dynasty and then establish a republic, by force or by a plebiscite a few days later.

The Greek army is so bitter against the dynasty that they insist on the assembly proclaiming its abolition, and they refuse to compromise on this point.

DRUGGAN AND 4 SOUGHT ON U. S. BEER WARRANTS

Warrants for the arrest of Terry Druggan and four other officials of the Standard Beverage corporation of 1225 South Campbell avenue yesterday were given to deputy marshals from the office of United States Marshal Robert R. Levy and service on the four is expected before morning.

The warrants were issued at the request of Assistant District Attorney James A. O'Callaghan, who charges the quartet with the illicit manufacture and possession of 50,000 gallons of "real beer."

A temporary injunction restraining the manufacture of beer by the company has been issued and a petition for a permanent injunction will be pressed by Mr. O'Callaghan.

What 40 years have taught.

On February 12, 1924, Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen celebrates its Fortieth Birthday and Forty Years of continuous leadership in prestige and sales.

The first Waterman's Ideal had a rubber barrel and every Waterman's Ideal made today has a rubber barrel.

40 years of experience has proven that rubber is the only proper material for the purpose.

80 separate operations are required to make a perfect gold point.

40 years of experience confirms that it cannot be done in less and that more are unnecessary.

To fit every individual preference in points, it requires over 1000 different styles, shapes, sizes and tempers.

40 years of experience has demanded that we make them in this wide variety.

No one can write comfortably with a barrel that is too large or too small to be a perfect fit for the hand.

40 years of experience has enabled us to produce the variety of sizes necessary to fit any hand comfortably.

Waterman dealers the world over have learned these facts also, and will gladly aid you in selecting a

BULLETIN.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 8.—(Via Radio Dallas News and the Associated Press.)—Orizaba, Cordoba, and Vera Cruz were reoccupied by revolutionary forces last night.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Ocotlan, Mexico, Feb. 8.—Trains of cavalry and infantry continue moving from La Piedad to Ocotlan. Everything is set for a battle here for possession of the road to Guadalajara. Several days ago on the approach of the first federal troops the insurgents retired across the Lerma river, which is broad here and is backed by formidable hills, at the foot of which the insurgents have trenches, ramparts, and batteries of cannon and machine guns. They also hold the bridge ends and landing places, which are easy to hold on account of the formation of the land.

From their positions across the river the insurgents yesterday shelled the station here, which is now in the possession of the government troops.

Early this morning a train with airplanes in charge of an American engineer, arrived, bringing bombs and ammunition for machine guns in the airplanes. These will be used to dislodge the enemy from their almost impregnable positions in the foothills.

Indians on Hand.

A trainload of picturesque Mayas from Sonora arrived here this morning. They wear blue and khaki uniforms and wide blue hat bands bearing the legend "Death to the traitors." Here also are 2,000 Yaquis and the famous Yaqui general, Amarillas, who gave such a good account of themselves in the battle of Puebla.

Others are expected here today from the Vera Cruz battle front.

Troops under Gen. Gonzalo Escobar should have left La Piedad this morning, the cavalry on foot and infantry in 150 automobiles, cutting across the country to take the enemy in the rear.

It is expected that formal hostilities will open tomorrow.

Calles Against Villa.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 8.—Following several days in which federal troops have been mobilized at Torreon, Chihuahua City, and Jiminez, the advance of more than 6,000 loyal soldiers under command of Generals P. Elias Calles, Ignacio Enriquez, and Marcello Caraveo started today for points near Parral and Pilar Conchos to crush the recent Villa uprising, according to military authorities in Juarez.

Severe fighting is expected near Parral, where, it is said, nearly 1,000 well armed and equipped Villistas are digging trenches.

SECOND CRUISER SENT TO WATCH HONDURAS ROW

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The U. S. S. Rochester, with a company of seventy-two United States marines, has been dispatched from Colon, Panama, to the port of La Ceibas, on the northern Atlantic coast of Honduras, it was officially announced here today at the state department.

It is said that the American warship and the company of marines were sent to protect American interests there and to quiet the nervousness of American citizens in Honduras manifested as the result of the revolution which is now being waged there.

Official advices received here state that a large body of Honduran revolutionists under the command of Gen. Nunguia are threatening La Ceibas, and that Antonio R. Lazos, de facto governor of the city, has been ordered to get out.

American fruit and other interests in the La Ceibas district are valued at more than $25,000,000, and a large number of Americans reside there. Several days ago more than 2,000 natives, working on American property, left the plantations and, arming themselves with swords and machetas, joined the revolutionary command of Gen. Nunguia.

MAROONS BATTLE WOLVERINES FOR LEAD IN BIG TEN

NEW SCORING LEADER

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 8.—Logan, star forward on the Indiana university basketball team, tonight went into the lead as high scorer of the western conference by virtue of 16 points made by him in the Indiana-Northwestern game here. Logan, with five field goals and six free throws, brought his total for the present season to 73. Cunningham, Ohio State center, who last week displaced Nyikos, also of Indiana, as leading scorer, is second with 68 points.

One of the most important battles of the Big Ten basketball season will be played at Bartlett gymnasium tonight when University of Chicago meets Michigan. The game should determine the leadership of the conference. In the only other game on tonight's program Ohio State will meet Iowa on the Hawkeyes' floor. A victory by Chicago will place them in the lead, with Michigan ranked third, being superseded by Purdue, with four wins and one defeat.

The Wolverines rely largely upon the speed and brawn of Haggerty and Kipke, the latter probably being delegated to cover the elusive "Babe" Alyea, Maroon center. To complete their defensive combination, Boyle, their huge center, probably will cover Capt. Campbell Dickson, Deng, Birks, and Cherry being placed over Weiss, Duggan, and Barnes.

Folks who profess to know are predicting victory for Ohio State in the other game, basing their prognostications on the loss of three stars, Burgitt, Schick, and Funk, from the Hawkeye team since the season started. The Iowans, though, like Michigan, do fast playing at the start of the game, and such a sprint tonight may put them out of the reach of the Buckeyes.

HOOSIERS TAKE PURPLE CAGERS INTO CAMP, 30-13

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 8.—Playing listlessly throughout and showing an absence of teamwork, Indiana defeated Northwestern, 30 to 13, here tonight before a crowd of 4,500 fans.

The game was rough and slow, the half ending 15 to 5 in Indiana's favor. The locals were playing for the first time this season without Mike Nyikos, star goal shooter, who was disqualified this week. Logan, with 5 field goals and 6 points from the foul line, played best. Lineup:

NOTRE DAME U. BARS ITS TEAMS TO MIKE NYIKOS

Mike Nyikos, who entered Notre Dame after dropping out from Indiana university, will not be allowed to compete in any athletics, Knute Rockne, director of athletics at Notre Dame, said here last night. Nyikos, until he withdrew from Indiana, was the leading scorer in the conference basketball race. Nyikos, who lives at South Bend, Ind., formerly was a freshman student at Notre Dame, as also was Kenneth Alward, who now is captain of the Indiana university five.

Rockne was in Chicago with the Notre Dame track team, en route to the Kansas City A. C. indoor meet tonight.

2 Big Ten Swim Records Bettered as Iowa Wins

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 8.—Two conference swimming records were bettered here tonight when Iowa defeated Minnesota in a Big Ten dual meet. The Gophers were leading, 30 to 29, in the final event when the 100 yard free style was started, but Iowa took first and second in the event, giving the Hawkeyes the meet, 37 to 31.

Capt. Ivan Klingaman of Iowa outdid the conference record in the 440 yard free style when he swam in :19 4-10, and Minnesota's relay team, composed of Johnson, Richter, Hamft, and Schonek, swam the 160 yard relay in 1:18 6-10. Northwestern university's relay record is 1:19 1-0.

LAKE VIEW FIVES WIN; IN FINALS OF LEAGUE

BY WALLACE ABBEY.

Lake View High, by taking a pair of north section games from Senn yesterday at Lake View, won the lightweight sectional honors and placed second in the heavyweight division. The red and white ponies copped a bitterly fought engagement, 8 to 2, and the heavies were victors, 16 to 12. A victory for Senn lights would have thrown Lake View, Hibbard, and Senn into a first place tie.

The lightweight fray was anybody's game until the last quarter, when Jackal of Lake View sank the only basket. In this session Lake View tallied five points. Balsamo of Senn committed a breach of basketball etiquet by butting. Referee Hammersfahr allowed him to remain in the lineup. Lineups:

SOCIETY FOLK TO SEE NORGE SKIERS JUMP FOR OLYMPIC FUND

Society folk have developed an interest in the Illinois championship ski tournament tomorrow at the Norge Ski club slide in Fox River grove, near Cary, Ill. Through the efforts of Everts Wrenn, director in charge of raising Chicago's quota of $50,000 for the United States Olympic fund, the tournament is being supported by all the athletic clubs and many social clubs of the city, as half of the net profits of the meet will be turned over to the Chicago fund.

More than thirty riders will compete in the jumping, which will be held in three classes. The field contains some of the best known skiers in the country. Most of these will compete today in the annual Badger Ski club tournament at the University of Wisconsin.

A women's cross-country race will start the program at 1 o'clock. Immediately after the finish of this event the jumping will be staged.

Special trains will be run over the Northwestern lines from 9:30 a. m. to 10:44 a. m. and the trains will return to Chicago immediately after the final event of the tournament.

SIX SWIM MARKS ESTABLISHED IN MIAMI TOURNEY

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8.—Six new world's swimming records were established here today, making the fourth successive day of the women's association swimming meet in which world's marks have been made. Including today's events, eleven world's and two American records have been established by the eleven girl swimmers here.

Agnes Geraghty, New York, added two records to her long list when she breast-stroked 400 meters in 7:30 2-5, 11.4-5 seconds below the world's mark, long held by Nadeen Vogand of Belgium, and 440 yards in 7:33. There was no previous record for the latter distance.

The sixth world's record of the day was set by Sybil Bauer, Illinois A. C., who swam the 220 yard back stroke in 3:01 3-5, breaking her own record of 3:12 2-5.

Other records were in the relays at varying distances.

LOYOLA LOSES AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8.—Milwaukee Normal bested Loyola university of Chicago, 25 to 24, in a basketball game here tonight. The locals led, 16 to 10, at the half, but the Loyolans rallied in the next period and gave Normal a scare.

THIN ICE AGAIN K. O.'S ALVERNO SKATE DERBY

For the third time within a week the Alverno A. A. has been forced to postpone its annual ice skating tournament. Originally scheduled to be held last Sunday, the tournament was set over to Wednesday, and then rescheduled for today. But yesterday Superintendent William Barclay of the west parks gave the Alverno A. A. officials the bad news that the ice at Humboldt park was not strong enough to permit their derby this afternoon. No new date has been set.

The Austin-Columbia A. A. tournament scheduled tomorrow in Columbus park, also is threatened. The ice on the lagoons hasn't been thick enough to permit a team and snow plow to work on the course to remove the thick blanket of sticky snow. Unless the weather becomes colder today it is likely that the Austin derby also will be postponed.

The iceboat tournament of the west parks scheduled for today at Garfield park yesterday was postponed by Athletic Director Dygert until next Saturday. Boats built by boys who attend the smaller parks of the west park chain are listed to compete.

Five skaters of the Alverno A. A. and two racers of other clubs leave tomorrow night for Saranac lake to compete in the national and international championship ice tournaments. The Alverno skaters are Eddie and Robert Reed, Alfon James, O'Neil Farrell, and Eddie Murphy. Francis Allen of the Austin-Columbia A. A., and Roy McWhirter of the Northwest Skate club also will represent Chicago.

SENN TRACK MEN RACE PAST LANE

Senn High trackmen scored a double victory over Lane yesterday on Senn's track, winning the senior events, 80 to 19, and the junior, 37 1-3 to 34 2-3. Bob Tannehill of Senn was high point man, taking first in the 35 yard high and low hurdles and the 440 yard dash, in addition to tying for second in the high jump. He totaled 17 points.

Senn took every place in the 35 yard dash and the quarter mile, winning ten of the eleven firsts in the meet. In the junior event Alexander, pole vaulting for the first time, took first, while T. Lander covered the 660 yard run in the fast time of 1:40.

U. S. Olympic Hockey Men to Play Canucks in Paris

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The American hockey team has arrived in Paris from Switzerland. The team will play the Canadian Olympic team an exhibition match at the Ice Palace here tomorrow, although one player, Clarence J. Abel, sailed for the United States today on board the steamer Berengaria.

In Motordom

by J. L. JENKINS

WHILE Chicago and Illinois authorities have been debating the big plan of doubling the width of the main highways within a 100-mile radius of the city, Detroit, Pontiac and Oakland county, Michigan, have quietly completed arrangements for a highway improvement which will give the United States a new model and standard in heavy duty pavements. The state and county have provided a right of way 200 feet wide for the rural artery between Detroit and Pontiac and will start work this spring on two 40-foot concrete pavements to be separated by a 44-foot space in which the interurban electric line will run. High curbs will separate the tracks from the two automobile highways, each of which will carry one-way traffic.

Outside of each 40 foot pavement will be a shoulder of gravel 38 feet wide, provided for slow moving vehicles and parking. Thus 78 feet of width will be provided for travel in each direction.

Ten years ago the first short strip of concrete was laid on this important road. In 1915 another section was concreted near the Pontiac end and additional strips 15 and 16 feet wide were laid in 1916 and 1917 to complete the 16 foot pavement for the distance. The new road was not a year old when it became obvious that it was far too narrow for the traffic. Many fatal accidents occurred and traffic was seriously delayed by congestion.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients. Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

MULDOON BEATEN AS COMISH CHIEF; PORTENT TO 'TEX'

BY FRANK SMITH.

ARTICLE V.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The political landslide which has threatened to engulf Tex Rickard and with him the boxing racket in New York began to move today when George Brower, holdover member of the New York state athletic commission, was named chairman of the board and snuffed out the hope of William Muldoon that he would be renamed czar of pugilism here.

The stock of Rickard, who has considered Muldoon his friend, took an awful drop, and while the big promoter may not be read out of the game right away it will be necessary for him to watch his step to prevent the very thing his enemies hope may happen to him. The third member of the commission, who made Brower's election possible, is James A. Farley, recently appointed by Gov. Al Smith.

Daniel H. Skillings was reëlected secretary of the commission, but there is still one vacancy among the deputies to be filled.

Named by Walker.

Both Brower and Farley owe their appointments to Senator James J. Walker, father of the present boxing measure. It is declared that Walker, who openly has opposed some of Rickard's stunts, preferred Brower as chairman; therefore, Farley and Brower, voting together, made Mr. Muldoon a wall flower, so far as his future power over the game is concerned.

It is not in the record that Walker personally is opposed to Muldoon, but it is known that they do not fraternize. They are of different political faiths, and their interest in the game has not thrown them much together.

Before the reorganization meeting in the Flatiron building this morning it was openly declared by friends of Muldoon that he would not be satisfied to play second fiddle after leading the orchestra so long, but after the election Muldoon sat in on the proceedings and with his colleagues, listened to Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, make a plea that Mike McTigue, holder of the world's title, should be barred from New York rings until he had fulfilled a contract made some time ago to meet Tunney in Madison Square Garden.

McTigue Must Meet Tunney.

The commission agreed that Gibson's argument held water and indicated that McTigue would feel the sting of the commission's whip if he became licensed in this state.

It may or may not have been a coincidence that Gibson, long an acknowledged foe of Rickard, but a particular friend of Senator Walker, should have been the first man to be heard by the newly organized commission. Gibson's complaint, however, may have been given preference in view of the fact that he was scheduled to leave for New Orleans this afternoon to take care of Tunney in his fifteen round fight with Martin Burke next week. Take your pick.

To many followers of the game the present situation appears to have been cut and dried some time ago, and today's action of the commission in selecting Brower as head of the board was merely the climax of a well laid plan.

"Hands Off," Smith Policy.

Gov. Smith has apparently adopted a "hands off" policy by the reappointment of Muldoon. He has given the Republicans part of the loaf, but has placed the greater portion of the edible in the hands of Senator Walker, who is Democratic leader in the state senate, a close personal friend of Charlie Murphy, Tammany leader, and a likely possibility for mayor of Greater New York.

With this situation facing the fans, they are wondering if Tex Rickard, with few, if any, staunch friends in the political game, hasn't been made the pawn of the Democrats, instead of being their "angel" in bringing the Democratic convention to New York. Time will tell.

With Brower in the saddle there may be some changes made in the various drastic rules framed by Muldoon and promulgated through his ability to "lord it over" his colleagues.

Muldoon in Background.

From now on, the fans will hear little of Muldoon except through his several staunch friends of the press who have been willing to lay a small wager that the former wrestler would again land in the dictatorial chair. Their efforts to put him to the front, however, will do Muldoon little good and the sport of boxing inestimable damage.

The man who succeeds Muldoon is a member of the law firm of Brower and Brower of Brooklyn. The firm rates as second in ability and the number of its clients in greater New York. When Mr. Brower became a member of the commission through appointment by Gov. Smith, it was no secret that Senator Walker suggested his name to the state executive, who doesn't give a whoop about boxing.

Brower Ranking Member.

Brower through the walkout staged by Muldoon the first of the year and the resignation of William J. McCormack became the ranking member of the commission. When James A. Farley, active in politics in Rockland county, a close friend of Gov. Smith and Senator Walker, was shoved into one of the vacant berths, any one with a scintilla of observation could foresee what would happen when Muldoon came back. Brower by right should be chairman.

The new chairman, however, later may turn everything topsy turvy. He is a mighty busy man and it was hard at the time he was appointed and accepted the post to convince some of his clients that he was making the correct move. It is just possible that within a month or two he may discover that the duties of chairman are too onerous and decide to step down and out.

FLORIDA BIRD NOTES.

NAPLES, Fla.—From the bluebirds that send their musical notes through the pine forests down here, to the homely pelicans and showy egrets the bird life of this region presents all kinds of interesting features and studies. Yesterday when we were out with Max, the steady old pointer dog, after some quail, we found it difficult sometimes to keep our mind on the shooting game with so many different kinds of songsters broadcasting.

During the morning Max found and pointed a small covey in some heavy cover at the edge of a marsh. As we came up behind the dog some white spots in the lowland beyond caught our eye. Of course, we had to stop a minute until the spots could be figured out, Max, apparently quite put out with our indifference to his bevy, rolled his head around to see why we didn't come on and shoot. Shoot we did after it was determined that the marsh was alive with egrets.

Meadowlarks are abundant in the open, flat pine forests here. And how they do call! Makes one think of Illinois in April and May. Bluebirds are numerous, too. And the flicker or yellow winged woodpecker is just as noisy down here as he is up north.

While in the brush yesterday we had a lot of fun with five or six cardinals. We had edged into some thick cover to see what birds were feeding in the brush when the "redbirds" came along. What handsome, striking birds they are. For several minutes we had them quite excited as they tried to find out the why and the wherefore of all the funny squeaks and whistles which we were making. Cocking their heads on one side and jumping from bough to bough, they came right up to us before satisfying their curiosity.

While out fishing the other day we saw a pelican try to swallow a catfish with disastrous results to both. The Florida catfish has the greatest array of spines and "daggers" you can imagine, and Mr. Pelican sure bit off something when he attempted to get away with one of them. The fish pierced the pouch of the big bird, with the result that Mr. Pelican could neither dislodge nor swallow the tartar. The last we saw of the poor bird he was standing on a sandy beach going through all kinds of contortions and calisthenics.

CHUCK WIGGINS GIVES UP; STARTS JAIL SENTENCE

HAWTHORNE TRACK SOLD TO GROUP HERE

A group of Chicago sportsmen has taken over the lease and interests of Thomas Bourke in the Hawthorne race track, according to developments yesterday.

Joseph A. Murphy, well known as a racing judge and a national figure in the sport, heads the buyers, and Albert Sabath was their legal representative in the deal. The reported consideration for Bourke's holdings is $10,000 cash and $15,000 further payment in another form for the five year lease.

Confirmation of the deal is expected today. The new owners of the Hawthorne race course are to incorporate under the laws of Illinois as the Chicago Business Men's Racing association.

Charles Ford and John Haskett, who were associated with Tom Bourke in last summer's Hawthorne meeting, are to sell over their interests also, according to negotiations almost completed.

VILLA GOES OUT OF HIS CLASS TO BEAT MARKS

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of The Tribune boxing representatives are:

At New York.—Pancho Villa beat Georgie Marks [15]; Sonny Smith beat Pete Sarmiento [8].

At Rochester, N. Y.—Battling Siki beat Joe White [10].

At Philadelphia.—Tommy Murray and Sammy Novis, draw [10]; Johnny Hayes beat Lew Bedell [8].

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Pancho Villa, flyweight champion of the world, defeated Georgie Marks of California in fifteen rounds at Madison Square Garden tonight. The bout was too one sided to be interesting, with Villa carrying the battle to Marks nearly the entire trip. The Filipino showered Marks with punches to the face and body almost at will. Marks bled from the nose and mouth; Villa was unmarked.

The bout was to have been for the championship, but Marks reported at 2 p. m. weighing 116½, or 4½ pounds too much to make it a battle for the title. Villa scaled 111. Accordingly Marks lost his weight forfeit of $1,250.

Marks suffered the only knockdown of the fight. The bouts drew $27,306 from 9,122 customers, it was announced.

GOOZEMAN TOILS HARD FOR GO WITH SHEA ON MONDAY

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Ernie Goozeman, the Milwaukee 122 pounder matched to meet Eddie Shea, the west side Italian, at East Chicago Monday night, resumed training yesterday at the Arcade, where he boxed three rounds with Bob Donley, local featherweight. He will work at the same place today and tomorrow.

Shea did not box yesterday. He rested up and will pull on the leather for eight rounds with sparring partners today. It will be his last day of hard work.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Horgan won a 40 to 33 three cushion billiard victory from Yates [40] last night at Foley's. Walker [40] plays Yates [40] Monday.

Sunde [55] dropped a close three cushion game to Burkross, 46 to 54, in 122 innings at Bensinger's Monroe room last night. Both ran 3 for high.

Wilson defeated Baes [40], 48 to 23, in a sixty inning three cushion game at Mussey's Jackson room last night. Both ran 40.

George Moriarty, the baseball umpire, will open his new room at 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue tonight. Bob Cannefax will meet Art Thurnblad of the City league in a 50 point match as one attraction.

NATIONAL 3 CUSHIONS.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago divided honors in two National Three Cushion Billiard league games with George Moore, local expert, here today. Moore took the opening game, 50 to 44, in fifty-eight innings, while second game went to Kieckhefer, 50 to 35, in fifty-seven sessions. Augie's high runs were 7 and 5, while Moore had a pair of 5's.

In the Wake of the News

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: I have been interested in your "Earlier Chicago" because forty years ago I lived at about 5445 Greenwood avenue, which was then in the woods.

There were two farms at corner of Cottage Grove and 55th before powerhouse was built. A dummy engine ran from 55th and Lake to 39th and Cottage. Then you took a horse car downtown and stuck your feet in the straw. I was a little girl and had moved from California, so I loved the snow.

Later, when powerhouse was built, we made trips with our parents to look at the big wheel, and the clickety click of the machinery was a wonder to us children.

There was nothing then south of 55th street where University of Chicago now stands. In company with other girls, I used to go to tumbledown shack on lake front, put on an old dress, and go in water. Louise Squier.

Way back in 1859-'65, A. M. Merriam was principal of the Skinner school. Ben Lamb, one of the young bloods of that day, took umbrage at the familiar offhand manner in which Mr. Merriam objected to snowballing when he himself was the victim. The two went into a room on the main floor just west of the door on Jackson street, and Lamb never came out the doorway—he used the window. Old Timer.

Ernest Kockler and Carl Stockholm, six day bike heroes, who announce that they will form a team in the race at New York March 2, staged a fast pursuit race last night at the National Bicycle show in the Broadway armory, Kockler catching his opponent after covering five and one-half miles. Frank McDermott of the Edgewater Cycling club won a half mile sprint from Edward Jonas in :31, but dropped a mile grind to Peter Roman of the Franklin club in :57. Gregory Flatow of the Alvernos kept at the head of the amateurs by winning a five mile event from Roman.

Record Falls as Hoppe Grabs Lead from Schaefer

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 8.—[Special].—A new word's record in balk line billiard scoring was established here tonight in the exhibition match between Willie Hoppe and Jake Schaefer, when 625 points were aggregated by the pair in two innings. Hoppe, in his first turn at the table ran 138. Schaefer followed with 147. In the second inning Hoppe scored 213 and Schaefer 127, making their combined total 625. Hoppe took the lead in their three day 2,400 point series, leading Schaefer at the expiration of their fourth block of 400, 1,600 to 1,567.

FARM & GARDEN By FRANK RIDGWAY

SEASON DOBBIN'S ROUGHAGE RATION WITH SOY BEAN HAY.

ON many midwest farms old Dobbin's "pantry" is filled this winter with a new kind of feed. Soy bean hay, the "salt and pepper" that seasons the roughage crops, is being used this season for the first time in areas where this legume is newly introduced, adding one more variety to the limited list of roughages for horses and mules.

In visiting several leading soy bean growers in Illinois, C. W. Crawford and J. L. Edmonds, University of Illinois, found that soy bean hay and corn or soy bean hay, corn, and oats were being used as a satisfactory ration for work horses by many farmers. Farmers generally fed, according to their information, smaller amount of oats than corn; "in no case more than half the grain ration."

Soy bean straw is being used satisfactorily, as a roughage in wintering work horses and mules. Other straws and grains may be fed along with it. Even the beans are being fed to horses. If given in the spring they seem to aid in getting a horse's hair smooth and sleek. Where the hay is fed to fattening mules farmers notice that the animals have an exceptionally smooth coat of hair, and mules that are being fattened take on satisfactory gains on soy bean pasture, too.

READ STATEMENT BY CICOTTE IN SOX CASE

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Reading of depositions marked the only progress made today in the Joe Jackson suit against the White Sox. Through these the defense aimed to impeach some of the testimony given on the stand by the plaintiff and to establish his connection with the frameup that resulted in the throwing of the 1919 world's series to the Cincinnati Reds.

Two of the depositions were by Eddie Cicotte, former White Sox hurler, who on Sept. 28, 1920, is alleged to have confessed his part in the conspiracy. In the first of these, taken Feb. 19, 1923, in Detroit, the banished hurler refused to answer practically every question hurled at him. One of the questions was whether Cicotte had found $10,000 under his pillow and had taken it home and used part of it to pay off a mortgage. Cicotte answered this the same way.

Read Cicotte's Deposition.

Cicotte also was asked if, during the series he had remarked to Hap Felsch. "Hap, this will never happen again," he refused to answer on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

In the second deposition Cicotte was quizzed in regard to questions asked and answers given while before the Cook county grand jury. His replies in this examination were practically the same as in the first—either that he didn't know, or wouldn't answer.

Attorney Hudnall, for the defense, offered another deposition by Jackson dated April 9, 1923. In this mention was made of a bonus alleged to have been offered the White Sox in the season of 1917 if they won the pennant and the world's series. Clarence Rowland, then manager of the team, is supposed to have informed the Sox of this plan, when the entire team was gathered in the clubhouse.

Red Faber on Stand.

It is alleged that he told the players that Comiskey would make up the difference between the world's series money and $5,000 per share if the team should beat the Giants. This would have meant about $1,500 for each player, and this amount is part of the $18,500 Jackson is suing for.

To offset Jackson's testimony on this point the defense called to the stand Urban Faber, the Sox hurler. Faber, after stating that he was with the team in 1917, testified that he had never heard an offer of a bonus. Under cross examination, however, Faber admitted that one day he had heard two players discussing such a subject, but he couldn't remember who the men were. Faber also stated that he already had signed his 1924 contract.

Disagree on "Bribe" Money.

In Jackson's deposition he stated that he had carried his $5,000 bit out of the 1919 world's series in a traveling bag for a considerable time, that a portion of it had been paid by him to defray expenses of a sister's illness, and that he had given none of it to his wife.

The defense then produced a deposition by Mrs. Jackson taken April 9, 1923, at Savannah, Ga. The wife of the plaintiff stated that Jackson had given her the $5,000 and that she had paid the bills resulting from the illness of her husband's sister. She also admitted being in the room in a Chicago hotel when Lefty Williams paid Jackson the $5,000, but no reason was mentioned for giving the money.

Another deposition by a cashier of a bank in Savannah, Ga., showed that $5,000 and $400 in addition had been deposited there by Mrs. Jackson on Dec. 1, 1919.

The court adjourned until Monday after the conclusion of the hearing today. Another week of the trial was forecast by the attorneys.

New York, Feb. 8.—Ralph Shinners, outfielder, obtained by the New York Giants from Indianapolis in 1921, was released today to the Toledo American association club, under optional agreement, after being waived on by all major teams.

SANDOW BATTLES WAY TO DRAW IN HIS MAT MATCH WITH MEYERS

SAMMY SANDOW of California gave Johnny Meyers, middleweight champion, an interesting session of grappling at the Star and Garter last night, each wrestler winning a fall and then grappling to the midnight closing hour to a draw. Meyers won the first fall after 28:29 of rough work, starting the fall with a wristlock which he converted to a hammerlock, forcing Sandow to concede the fall.

Sandow came back after 8:28 and pinned Meyers in the second fall with a body scissors and wristlock, and after that the two grapplers fought over the canvas for fifteen minutes until midnight and the closing hour.

In the opening bout, Paul Martinson pinned Jack Roeber, both local heavyweights, in 10:25 with a wristlock and head scissors. A capacity crowd watched the bouts.

Karl Pojello, claimant of the world's light heavyweight title, who meets John Kilonis of Norfolk, Va., in the windup of John Krone's wrestling show at Ashland Boulevard auditorium on Tuesday night, yesterday signed an agreement to meet Johnny Meyers, middleweight champion, at a later show. Krone is now trying to secure Meyer's signature.

Jack Herman, manager of Stanislaus Zbyszko, former heavyweight champion, who lost a one fall match to Hans Steinke, the German, last Wednesday night, asserted he will sign for another match on a winner take all basis. Jack's only stipulation is that it be a two in three falls contest.

'PAY UP OR I WILL QUIT,' HOLLOCHER REPLY TO VEECK

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 8.—Charles Hollocher today stated he would quit organized baseball unless the Chicago Cubs paid him back salary in a lump sum. The shortstop voluntarily left the Cubs last August because of illness, and the back salary he refers to is said to be between $4,000 and $4,500. The Cubs, he said, offered to pay this amount to him in installments.

"The club offers to pay me the back salary, but wishes to pay in installments, one-half at the end of the 1924 season and another half at the end of the 1925 season," said Hollocher.

"Why Wait?" Holly.

"The club wants me to sign a two year contract. I am perfectly willing to sign for two years, but since we are both agreed that the back salary is due me, why should I wait until the close of the 1925 season for money due from 1923?

"I am prepared to remain out of baseball if the Cubs do not meet my demands. I have received several good offers to manage teams, but they are so-called outlaw clubs."

Veeck, in his statement to the press yesterday, in referring to Hollocher's illness which kept him out of the game during August and September, intimated that he was not thoroughly convinced that the player was really too sick to play baseball. However, it is known that Hollocher was under the care of a physician in St. Louis. He now says he is ready to play ball as well as ever.

VEECK STANDS PAT

BY FRANK SCHREIBER.

President Veeck of the Cubs yesterday stood pat in the club's controversy with Charley Hollocher. The Cub prexy refused to comment on the statement given out by Hollocher in St. Louis in which the star shortstop declared that he was contemplating a jump to "outlaw baseball" unless the club accepted his terms. The Cub boss took the stand that Charley wouldn't gain much by becoming an outlaw compared with his prospects in major league baseball.

"I stated our side of the case," Veeck declared, "and I am sure that the fans of Chicago will concede that my statement was entirely fair to both Hollocher and the club. On the facts presented I can't see that the Chicago ball club can be declared to be at fault."

Among local baseball fans the fact that the shortstop is demanding salary since Aug. 2, 1923, at which time he deserted the Cubs without notice, be paid him in a lump sum before he signs his 1924 contract was held against the star infielder by many.

BOLOS REVEAL HUGE BRIBERY OF PARIS PRESS

Millions of Francs Paid to Editors, Reds Say.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The Humanite, the official organ of the French communist party, announces the imminent resumption of publication of authentic documents exposing the "abominable venality of the French press" and revealing bribes which the imperial Russian government before the war, and particularly in the years 1904-'06, gave to various newspapers.

About forty articles already have been published in the Humanite from Dec. 5 to the end of January, but all other newspapers, except a few organs of the extreme left, have consistently ignored the accusations. The Matin, when first mentioned as being subsidized regularly by St. Petersburg, announced a suit against the Humanite for 500,000 francs (roughly $25,000), whereat the communist newspaper announced a counter suit against the Matin for a similar amount.

Deputies Bury Law.

The government has preserved the strictest silence, although one article mentioned Premier Poincare by name. Then on Jan. 11 Marcel Cachin, communist leader in the chamber of deputies, asked the government to punish all guilty of accepting money for misleading the French public and inducing French citizens to invest funds in Russian bonds issued and floated here. The chamber rejected the demand by 400 votes.

A letter dated Nov. 12, 1905, explains why the czar's government was induced to corrupt the French press. It asserts that the "origin of the grants dates back to February, 1904, at the time of the money panic caused by the outbreak of hostilities in the Russo-Japanese war. A credit of 200,000 francs (then $40,000) was opened in Paris, and sums were continued during the war."

Millions of Francs Paid.

The letters state that millions of francs were paid to the newspapers during 1904 and 1905 in order to maintain Russian exchange at par and to induce the French people to subscribe to Russian bonds floated here.

The most serious statements are those concerning M. Poincare, then premier, and M. Isvolski, Russian ambassador to Paris in 1912.

M. Isvolski asked the Russian government to grant subsidies to certain newspapers as a means of pressure. A letter states that he consulted and agreed with M. Poincare over the distribution of such funds.

The Isvolski letters apparently show that since 1909 he knew exactly how the world war would begin.

POINCARE WALKS OUT OF CHAMBER; RETURNS; WINS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—In two sittings, today, the chamber of deputies finally disposed of article one of the government's bill proposing retrenchment and fresh taxation and giving the premier power to effect them by decree. The article was adopted, 329 to 207.

The debate developed more scenes of almost uncontrollable violence which finally told on the frayed nerves of Premier Poincare who has been under daily attacks for two weeks. When two deputies engaged in violent and insulting argument which began to resolve itself into fisticuffs, the premier rose and shouted:

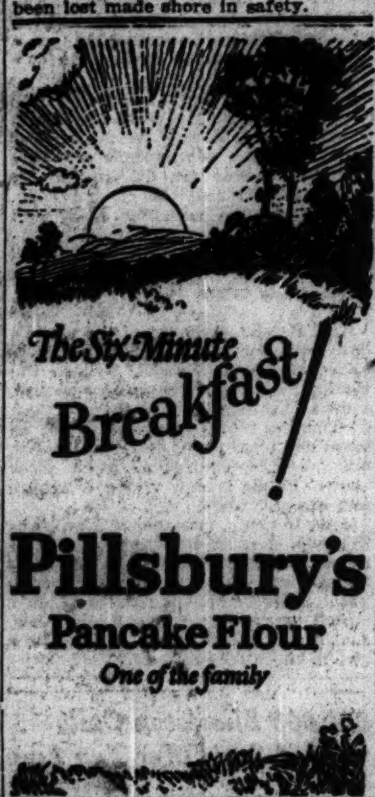
"Do you think that this sort of an exhibition does credit to France? In the name of our country I ask you to stop."

The fighting deputies refused to listen to him and the premier walked out of the chamber followed by his cabinet after a short pause. In consternation the chamber took a recess to find out whether the government had resigned. M. Poincare returned in about twenty minutes and the session was resumed.

The most interesting feature of the debate was a motion proposed by M. Magne, a royalist deputy, asking the chamber to send article one to the senate for vote immediately, without waiting the vote on the other 108 articles in M. Poincare's bill.

20 Trapped as Ice Bridge Breaks; 8 Escape Death

Quebec, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Twenty persons whose lives were endangered yesterday by the breaking up of a mile long ice bridge across the St. Lawrence river escaped, the authorities said today. Five persons who floated for hours on the drifting ice and who were believed to have been lost made shore in safety.



CHURCHES HIT BY FIRE SURVEY; TWO ARE CLOSED

Violations of the building ordinances discovered in the fashionable Fourth Presbyterian church, at North Michigan avenue and Delaware place, caused Building Commissioner Frank E. Doherty to close the north and south balconies in the west end of its auditorium yesterday.

At the same time he issued orders prohibiting services in two churches and banning further use of portions of ten others until alterations in accord with the safety code have been made.

St. Ann's Episcopal church, 2016 North Kimball avenue, and the La Salle Avenue Baptist church, 1219 North La Salle street, are the two churches which the police department was ordered to keep closed until they have complied with the law.

Stairways Too Narrow.

Insufficient exits and far too narrow stairways, according to Mr. Doherty, resulted in the issuance of orders to seal the Fourth Presbyterian church balconies. For the same causes he forbade further use of the basement dining room in the Mont Clare Congregational church, at 2334 Newland avenue.

Until alterations ordered by building inspectors have been completed, worshipers are to be barred from the second floor of the Ashland Avenue Evangelical church, 3101 North Ashland avenue; second floor of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church, 3336 Broadway; choir loft of St. Boniface's Roman Catholic church, 1336 Cornell street; balcony of the Santa Maria Addoloratae Roman Catholic church, 901 West Grand avenue; hall and second floor of chapel, Church of the Epiphany, Episcopal, 201 South Ashland avenue, and two balconies in St. John Kantius' Roman Catholic church, 813 North Carpenter street.

Orders Hit Synagogues.

Similar orders were issued against the use of balconies in the following Jewish synagogues: Congregation Anshe Yanove, 622 O'Brien street; Congregation Ezra Israel Anshe Motole, 1225 Washburne avenue, and Congregation Atereth, 618 West Fourteenth street.

During the day members of a survey committee investigating possible fire hazards in public schools reported to the board of education that only minor violations of building or fire prevention codes had been discovered. The search for dangerous conditions had been made by William Bending, city building inspector; Cornelius J. Lamb, board of education construction superintendent, and Capt. Frank C. McAuliffe of the fire prevention bureau.

Safer in Schools.

"Many of the buildings are old and have served their time, it is true," declared Bending, "but there is no such thing as 'a dangerous fire trap' among all the public schools."

"As a matter of fact, in most cases children are safer in school than at home so far as fire hazard is concerned," said Capt. McAuliffe, who recommended the elimination of moving picture exhibitions in the schools.

McANDREW MUM AS HE ATTENDS BOARD MEETING

William McAndrew, new superintendent of schools, officially met the majority of the board of education yesterday at a meeting of the buildings and grounds committee. He offered no suggestions, but simply sat through the meeting and listened. It was only when a photographer's flashlight boomed that he talked and then it was not of school affairs. After the meeting he said he had no statement to make, and peered carefully outside the room, looking for more photographers, before he ventured forth.

Train Hits Stalled Auto of Rosenwald's Secretary

William C. Graves, 5349 Hyde Park boulevard, personal secretary to Julius Rosenwald, of Sears, Roebuck & Co., worked in vain yesterday in trying to save his automobile which had become stalled on the 47th street crossing of the B. & O. railroad. The car was struck by a fast train and demolished. C. H. Martin, the engineer, said a similar incident had been narrowly averted at the 51st street crossing.

The Fourth Norwood

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON.

SYNOPSIS.

Young Rod Norwood, while setting a mink trap on the banks of the Drowning river near his home at Lake Deception in the Hudson bay territory, sees Aaron Cron, a rival trader of his father's, coming into the district. Cron is known to the district as The Spider, not only because of the terror which he has inspired in most of the inhabitants but also because of his legless condition. Rod is frightened at the meeting and, after the man has disappeared, hurries toward home.

He breaks the news to his little sister Beth. Their father, Tom Norwood, tries to dispel the children's fear of the cripple. He explains to Rod that Cron lost his legs years before on an expedition into the wilderness to buy fur. When his legs became frozen he heroically helped to amputate them.

For three generations fur land had known a Norwood. Tom's grandfather, Hector Norwood, accompanied Mackenzie on his remarkable expedition to the Arctic sea. His son Roderick (Tom's father) was born and raised in fur land. Tom and his father became successful fur traders when Canada became a free trade ground. The Spider had come into Tom's territory once before when Rod was six, but in the struggle Tom was victorious and The Spider disappeared. Now, with him back, Tom is gripped by the desire for battle. He decides to make a friendly call, but Cron is not amiable and declares he is there to beat Tom at his own game.

The following spring Rod, in New York, receives word of his father's death. He and Beth leave for Lake Deception. The boy learns the business is nearly bankrupt. Beth goes back to school at Toronto and Rod makes up his mind to stay and fight Cron. A halfbreed employé of the Norwood post tells Rod his father's death was not accidental and intimates Cron knows how it happened.

Beth returns unexpectedly. On the train she meets Prof. Ransom and his daughter Marian. The professor has come into the bush to make a study of the pagan Indians. The Ransoms meet Rod at Heathcote and inform him they have made arrangements to stay at Cron's house at Lake Deception. Rod is greatly attracted to Marian. The Ransoms leave Heathcote for Lake Deception with the Norwoods and their brigade. On the trip into the bush Rod and Marian realize they have fallen in love. The brigade reaches Lake Deception. Cron comes back, bringing a missionary for the Indians with him.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

MADNESS.

There was a savage note in his voice that brought a flush of resentment to Marian's cheeks.

"You can't dictate to me!" Marian cried angrily. "Especially when you permit a petty business prejudice to decide a personal matter."

"Petty business prejudice!" Rod repeated.

He stopped short. From the beginning the thought of Marian's coming in any sort of contact with The Spider had been repugnant, but now he realized his wrath had been aroused more by the attitude of the girl herself. It was as if the hidden but rigid framework and the challenging spirit he had first sensed in her was denying him, denying the existence of a relationship she had once acknowledged.

It maddened Rod.

"It's only a business prejudice, isn't it?" she persisted. "Beth doesn't ——"

"No, Beth doesn't ——" he interrupted fiercely, and then turned quickly away. His hatred of The Spider had brought him close to revealment of the thing he could not tell.

"I beg your pardon," he said coldly. "As you have said, it is none of my business. I'll have a canoe ready in the morning to take you and your things across the bay."

"But Rod!" Marian cried in sudden protest. "This is all so foolish. There is no need ——"

She came slowly forward, mystified, bewildered. She had been certain that his was only a puerile, petty hatred, but now as he stood there she was aware of strength and also of a purpose that barred her from him. Again, and it perplexed her still more, she experienced that thrill in his presence, and instinctively she reached forth her hands.

Rod saw them, and he saw, too, that she had changed suddenly, that she had become the girl in the canoe. He took the hands in his, and instantly he forgot The Spider, forgot everything except her loveliness. He took both her hands in one of his and threw his free arm around her shoulders. Marian struggled, but with her eyes and her mind rather than with her body. Physically she felt powerless in his grip. She knew she could not escape, but resistance flashed in the blue eyes. It maddened Rod. He crushed her to him and kissed her again and again. For a moment there was a passionate response, and then with sudden energy Marian pushed herself away.

"Don't!" she commanded. "You had no right."

"No right!" he repeated. "After that day in the canoe!"

"That was a mistake."

"But Marian! You know it wasn't. There could be no mistake about a thing like that."

"It was madness," she said. "A mad moment. It meant nothing."

"It meant everything," he answered. "It is the greatest thing in the world, what happened to us. You knew it that day. I had a glimpse of it the first time I saw you, there in the hotel at Heathcote."

Rod stepped forward quickly and took one of her hands.

"You are the most glorious person I ever saw," he rushed on. "I loved you from the first. And you love me, only you won't admit it."

"I don't!" she interrupted fiercely. "I don't even know you."

"But you did!" And you acknowledged it. You were braver then."

He was beseeching the other Marian, the girl who had sat beside him for so many hours on the way out to Lake Deception.

"Don't put it aside!" he pleaded. "It was too big. Don't call it madness."

"It was—nothing else," she answered coldly.

There was just a trace of scorn in her voice. Her head was high, but as Rod stared at her in bewilderment he saw that there was defiance rather than pride in her bearing.

"All right!" he exclaimed savagely. "Call it madness. But before I'm through you'll call it something else."

He strode from the room but at the door he stopped and looked back. Marian still stood at the window, tall, straight, more beautiful than he had ever seen her, and infinitely more desirable. Yet above all else he was impressed by the challenge of her aloofness, by a defiance that incited him to a mad longing for dominance. She was like a wild creature, inflamed by the least suggestion of restraint.

That moment in the canoe, he now knew, had been real, an acknowledgment. His jesting reference to atavism became an answer to his bewilderment. Marian's strange mingling of surrender and revolt, of tenderness and scorn, was no longer inexplicable.

Rod smiled. He raised his left hand and with his right he slowly turned down three fingers, one after the other, counting to himself, "me, The Spider, heart's desire."

"What are you doing?" she demanded indignantly.

"Outlining the summer's work," he replied with all cheerfulness. "When would you like to start in the morning? Any time after breakfast do?"

"Perfectly."

"All right. I'll have George or Henry take you over."

"Why don't you do it?" she demanded. "I have never seen you paddle a canoe."

"I don't, around here. Have to keep the hunters' attitude properly diffident."

"I'm glad I am going!" Marian exclaimed.

"Perhaps, but you'll get over that. You'll be glad to come back. Although, of course," and he pretended to be anxious, "you will visit Beth occasionally?"

She turned her back without reply and Rod leaped across the room to her side.

"You're coming back," he whispered, "because you'll want to."

But the next morning at breakfast he found it hard to maintain that careless, cheerful attitude. Only a healthy body had permitted him to sleep, for after he had gone to bed he was stunned by the audacity of his course and by what, in the dark, seemed the utter impossibility of compelling Marian's love against all the forces that denied it. It had once been his. Of that he had no doubt. The moment of revealment remained startlingly vivid and gave him courage, that and the manner in which he had caught her studying him at the breakfast table.

But once the Ransoms had departed for the Cron establishment he had little time for retrospection. Coincident with his final talk with Andy Parr something happened across the bay. A number of Indians had gathered there, and soon he saw a huge tent being erected not far from The Spider's trade shop.

"The preacher isn't losing any time," Andy said as he stepped into his canoe. "Looks like he intended to stay a while, lad."

"Don't worry," Rod retorted. "I'll give him a week."

In the next few days things worked out exactly as he had expected. Not a hunter departed. Between gospel meetings afternoon and evening and a morning school for the children, the Indians were given their fill of religious services. The second day the preacher called on Rod.

"My name is Sharman," he introduced himself when he entered the trade shop and found the young trader behind the counter, "the Rev. Harold Sharman. I am sorry I could not call sooner but I have been busy, as you have doubtless noticed, getting ready for the summer's activities."

"Summer!" Rod repeatedly bluntly. "Do you mean you intend to stay here all summer?"

"It was my hope and now, after the reception I have been accorded by the Indians, it is my confident expectation."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"The Virginian," one of the sweetest western love stories ever told, has come to the screen. Owen Wister, who wrote the novel, should like the picture immensely, one would think.

Take it from me that the women will be thrilled by Kenneth Harlan's impersonation of the romantic lover and that the men will instinctively brace up and straighten their cravats when exquisite Florence Vidor makes her appearance as the school ma'arm who does such unprecedented things to the heart of Mr. Wister's hero.

Not many of us but have read the book and know the story of the dainty New England lady who ventures into the wild west to earn her living. The Virginian spies her—and it's love at first sight with him—despite the fact that Miss Woods is most awfully upstage for a time.

"You're goin' to love me before you get through," predicts the gentleman. Sure enough he knows what he's talking about!

Despite rebuffs he goes about his double business of cattle-tending and lovemaking as he sees fit. By the time the tale is told his wife is with him in all things. And that wife is the former Miss Molly Woods.

There are some fine "bits" in the picture—places where considerable is left to your imagination but where you "get" in a flash just what the director intends you to get. Everybody in the cast is splendid and Mr. Forman has not put on such a consistently good photoplay for a long time.

Of course, everything that's in the book ISN'T in the film. It couldn't be, But as "The Virginian" photoplay stands, it is human, absorbing and well done.

See you tomorrow!

Reprints of any review by Mae Tinée printed in the last thirty days may be obtained by mailing a stamped, addressed, return envelope to (or by calling at) The Tribune's Public Service Bureau, 11 South Dearborn street.

CLOSEUPS

Friends of Owen Moore are holding their breath as he fights for his life in Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles. Mr. Moore was in an automobile accident recently. Blood poisoning resulted, which made an operation imperative. It is said to be doubtful as to whether he will live. Let's all fight with him.

"Bird of Paradise" will be Richard Walton Tully's next picture. He is finished with "Flowing Gold" from the Rex Beach novel.

Three Conductors, Soloist Required for Symphony Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It took a contralto soloist and three conductors to unfold the various attractions contained in the Chicago Symphony orchestra concert at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. Sophie Braslau was the soloist. Frederick Stock conducted the first and last part of the program, turning over the central items to Eric DeLamarter, who in his turn relinquished the baton to Carl Busch, and he in his turn directed the first Chicago performance of his own Indian rhapsody.

Mr. Busch, a resident of Kansas City, has apparently gone to an Indian tribe for the melody upon which his work is based, and then developed it according to European models, with prelude, theme, variations, and fugue all complete. In the process he has constructed music that is suave, pleasant, reasonably entertaining, but not particularly rhapsodic, nor, after the theme is once announced, characteristically Indian. In fact an Indian fugue would seem to be pretty nearly a record in the incongruous. But it is a good fugue, if not good Indian, and Mr. Busch is an able conductor of his own music. He was well received.

Miss Braslau has a voice as brilliant as was ever that of a dramatic soprano and a pronounced taste for impassioned gloom in song. She came to the platform three times in the course of the program, once in the melodramatic "Gerechter Gott," from Wagner's "Rienzi"; again in the solo part in Granados' "Dante," a work which is musically scholastic and emotionally comatose; finally in five songs by Moussorgsky which contribute a partly spiritual and partly geographical discussion to the lore of Russia.

These are fine, though scarcely lighthearted songs, and Miss Braslau sang at least four of them rather stunningly. The satirical humor of "The Classicist" escaped her to a certain extent, admitting that it is no easy task to project humor in a foreign language. However, Mr. Stock conducted the Overture to Gluack's "Iphigenie en Aulide," at the beginning of the concert, and Tschaikowsky's "Casse-Noisette" Suite at the end, so there were two rays of sunlight in the program.

Roumanian Queen Plans to Put Son on Albania Throne

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The impending departure of Queen Marie for Rome has created the belief that the engagement of Prince Nicholas, third son of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, to an Italian princess is under consideration, with the idea of securing the Albanian throne for Nicholas. Crown Prince Charles returned to Bucharest today from Rome.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. L. K. Welsh, Eldora, Ia., was awarded $5.

The Question.

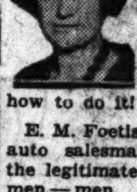
What do you suggest as a means of curbing the pistol toting evil?

Where Asked.

Motorcycle, Bicycle and Accessory show, Broadway armory.

The Answers.

Lt. C. F. Harrell, 5875 Broadway, soldier—The Colt people recommend legislation whereby the sale of firearms would be handled solely by the police department—licenses, sales, and exchanges to be registered the same as is being done with the automobile.



Mrs. L. E. Truitt, 949 Edgecomb place, stenographer — That's a big question. We have laws against carrying pistols, but criminals and bandits are no respecters of law. So I would prefer to have a pistol under my pillow. Diaz knew how to do it!

E. M. Foetisch, 3215 East 83d street, auto salesman—Allow the legitimate business men—men of good standing—to carry a pistol with a permit, thereby enabling them to protect themselves and their fellow citizens. If a stick-up man knows a man has a gun he lays off him.

Mrs. R. C. Fowler, 6505 Minerva avenue, bookkeeper — The federal government should have absolute control over the distribution of permits to carry guns, taking it away from municipalities, and justice shops in particular, the latter having made it too easy for criminals to obtain weapons.

P. B. Whitney, Fort Worth, Tex., salesman with Indian Motorcycle company—In the fall of each year there is an influx of criminals arriving in the south from the north. Fort Worth has solved its crime problem by means of an efficient motorcycle squad. Crime there has been reduced to a minimum.

Prexy Says Athletics Also Aids Those Who Only Sit and Cheer

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

"Student enthusiasm that used to vent itself on the faculty is now spent in athletics," Dr. Charles W. Flint, chancellor of Syracuse university, New York, said last evening in addressing Syracuse alumni at a dinner at the Hamilton club.

"Fault is sometimes found because the majority of students take their athletics sitting in the bleachers and giving college yells. For my part, I really get exercise and help in cheering. After seeing a good intercollegiate game I feel a glow that is much like real exercise.

"Keeping up the scholastic standards for participants in college games is making the athletic coaches pay as much attention to the studious habits of their athletes as to their physical training.

"Once when everything was quiet at the university and there were no cases of elopement or other misbehavior on hand, we passed a rule that any students eloping and getting married without the consent of their parents would lose their college standing. At once the impression got abroad that we were having an epidemic of elopements. Since we made the rule there have been five elopements, and four of them were girl students living at home in the college town over whom we had no immediate control.

"In any community not a college community with 5,000 young people the number of elopements would be many more. In a college community there are many ways by which a couple getting mushy on each other get the experience corrected as, for instance, when a fraternity or sorority takes the lovesick swains in hand.

"In the old days the students always suggested changes and the faculty restrained. Under the new conditions of student and faculty coöperation we find the reverse taking place. Recently I attended the big college dance. Even if I am a Methodist preacher I say it was fine. A student spoke in advance to the other students and chaperons and did all the scolding and all I had to do was to say it was a pleasant and enjoyable evening. Not a single complaint as to girls smoking has come in within a year. Some of them may smoke and get away with it but it does not come into public notice."

Capt. Myron E. Adams was elected president of the alumni association and the Rev. F. D. Lawyer was elected secretary.

Swedish Prince Gets Big Hand with New Play

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 8.—The Swedish royal family, which during the last two decades has had one great poet, the late King Oscar; one internationally known painter, Prince Eugen; one author and explorer, Prince Wilhelm, now has got its dramatist, Prince Wilhelm. His first play, "Kinangozi," had its first successful performance last evening.

Among those present were King Gustaf, with Prince Wilhelm's sons, Prince Lennart, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, and Crown Princess Louise, the whole diplomatic corps, and the pick of Stockholm society. At the final curtain the players were called in twenty times and the author six.

The story is of South Africa. The hero is an Englishman, who left England on account of a woman, whom he finds again in Africa, where he is the chief of a tribe of pygmies. Their love is revived, but in the last act the woman is pierced by the spear of a pygmy.

Lauds Chicago's Share in Boy Scout History

Chicago has reason to be proud of its part in the history of the American Boy Scouts, George B. Stephenson, Scout executive of the Chicago council, said yesterday at the fourteenth birthday anniversary celebration of the Scouts at Hotel Sherman. A Chicago man, W. D. Boyce, brought the Scout movement to this country. Chicago is being asked for $150,000 with which to finance Scout activities for the next year.

Women Will Keep U. S. Dry, Says Gov. Neff

Texan Tells Drys Law Can't Be Repealed.

The two day state convention of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois was brought to a close in Orchestra hall last night by a stirring plea for complete enforcement of the Volstead act by Gov. Pat Neff of Texas.

Gov. Neff arrived late in the day, just at the tail end of the convention, which had been marked by speeches and meetings throughout the city. He had traveled more than 2,000 miles to be present and "give you folks of the north an idea of the way the state of Texas is run as regards the booze question."

"Whatever the howling mob might say," Gov. Neff went on, "and whatever the bootleggers and moonshiners might do, the prohibition law is written in the constitution of the United States, and it is there to stay. The most poignant thing that makes one believe the prohibition law is here to stay is that it is followed by the nineteenth amendment, which gives the women of the country an equal voice in balloting. As long as women have the say, the question of booze being sold in the open is settled.

"You frequently hear arguments that the government will never be able to stop the flow of booze into the country from foreign lands. For myself I would say that if any nation sent a ship into American ports with a cargo of liquor that that country could look for its ship and flag at the bottom of the ocean.

"The prohibition law is part of the constitution and is to be enforced as much as any other portion. It is only the bootleggers and rum runners who feel that it can be violated and winked at. The honest people respect it, and they are the class who should rule, not the crooks."

During the day the convention was addressed by Edwin A. Olson, United States district attorney, who pledged his entire support in the enforcement of the federal law, and Chief of Police Collins, who promised to see that the state dry law was enforced to the fullest extent.

Suffering of German Children Told Chicago

The unhappy state of affairs in Germany at the present time was described by Prof. Haven Emerson of Columbia university, who spoke before the Chicago committee for the starving German children yesterday at the Atlantic hotel.

Prof. Emerson has just returned from Germany, where he made an exhaustive survey of the conditions there.

"I found a great change in the conditions of the children in the hospitals," he said. "Skin diseases are increasing, due to neglect and dirt and malnutrition. There is a big increase in child tuberculosis due to the fact that whole families, sick and well, sleep in one bed.

"The birth rate has dropped one-half in the last year and one-half. The children do not attend school in large numbers because they are too hungry, and when they come are sent home because they faint from weakness."

The Chicago committee has now passed the $500,000 mark and is working toward $1,000,000 in a campaign for relief subscriptions.

"Good God, Hilda," he said, "You're not in trouble?" "I should say I am in trouble. They are following me and telegraphing the train and pestering me to death. I've run away." A fine love story in the colorato section of tomorrow's Tribune.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

A New Garter.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Are you bothered by your socks' crumpling down below your garters? This is the plaint of some men. One of those manufacturers who are always on the lookout for ways of making days happier for knights of the garter has recently developed the illustrated article, which is supposed to keep the sock smooth as well as hold it up. This it accomplishes by overlapping the sock. The usual pad arrangement for fastening a garter is done away with, and the whole affair fastened in the rear. The garters are made with fancy elastic in club colors.

We recently received a communication from some men who call themselves "Several Close Followers." Their aim in writing was to find out something about the rules of color matching. Query number one was: What articles of clothing should be matched with others? Our answer to this is there is no set rule. Color matching and harmonizing take all articles of dress into consideration, but there is no more reason why the tie should match the suit than that it should match the socks. By matching, understand, we mean an exact duplicate of color. All the parts of the dress should harmonize, which means all the colors should have a pleasant relation to one another.

That is, if the cravat is blue and red, it would be a mistake to wear a purple shirt. The red and the purple would not harmonize. As long as tie, shirt, suit, hat, overcoat, socks, and shoes, have this harmonious relation, it does not matter how the effect is achieved—except, of course, that it is advisable not to have the tie and shirt of the same color. Rather let them harmonize. Sometimes it is attractive to have tie and suit color exactly matched, with shirt and muffler of contrasting shade.

Another question from our readers was: What articles of clothing should be matched with the hair and eyes? Which is rather stretching a point. Colors should be becoming, and no matching demanded of them.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Can't Keep Warm.

"We live in four rooms and our children sleep in the attic. The kitchen bedroom is stored with potatoes and things which have to be kept from freezing. I have a small stove which heats only the kitchen and bedroom. I sleep in the front room, which is like cold storage. If some one would give me an old heater I would gladly pay freight on it. We really live in one room, because to go in the other rooms we must be dressed as if we were going outdoors. MRS. A. S."

Worried About Future.

"I am writing for my sister who is in hard luck. She is expecting a little one soon and has no money to buy baby clothes. Her husband has been out of work for some time. They are worried now, thinking the newcomer will not have clothes. If some one has baby clothes put away or not in use, I hope she will think of this case. "MRS. J."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cider Sauces.

Cook one cup of cider with one-fourth cup of sugar to sirup stage, and use this to baste a boiled ham being finished for one hour in a gentle oven. Do not use anything else like cloves, although these may be used, to get a handsome surface on the fat. If the oven is too hot, this surface will not be beautiful of shade and sheen, and the cider sirup will cook down and burn to the pan. Baste the ham several times with it. Serve hot with the ham, and it is especially delicious to heat up slices of the ham in—just heat up meat, since long heated ham dries up to a stick. Use only a little of the fat. The cider may jelly when cold or if cooked too much will be like candy.

A cider sauce with beets is excellent. For one bunch of beets use one-half cup of cider, a little bacon fat or up to a tablespoon or two, and about three tablespoons of sugar. Cork a little and pour over hot sliced or diced beets. Without the sugar this sauce has no character, but the sugar emphasizes the acid. This is a much more wholesome thing for beets than is vinegar.

The author, "Henriette," of the book, "I Go a-Marketing," says to make a sauce of the highly seasoned water in which ham is boiled, "to which you have added half its amount of cider, and there you behold what is commonly known as champagne sauce. But, bless you, it's doubtful if champagne is often used, as after it is heated it would be a sensitive palate indeed that could tell whether champagne or cider were employed."

The fat on top of ham "pot liker" and the stock, or liquor, have many uses, but they have to be excellent or they make anything unpalatable when used with them, whether pan fried potatoes or what.

Miss Vera Stock Selects Attendants for Wedding April 8

When Miss Vera Stock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Stock of 5477 Hyde Park boulevard, becomes the bride of Alfred Morris Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Wolfe of Colorado Springs, she will be attended by Miss Sadye L. Harwick of Detroit, as maid of honor, and by Miss Genevieve Carpenter, Miss Anne Kales, Miss Elizabeth Teich, Miss Louise Hyde, and Miss Blanche McKeand as bridesmaids. Lawrence W. Wolfe of Colorado Springs will be his brother's best man. The wedding is to take place at the Fourth Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, April 8, at 8:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone officiating, assisted by the Rev. George H. Thomas. After the ceremony there will be a reception at the Drake.

The marriage of Miss Vera Andersen, granddaughter of Mrs. Andrew E. Leicht, and Robert Stenson will take place this evening at Mrs. Leicht's residence, 2400 Lake View avenue, Mgr. F. C. Kelley officiating. The bride's parents also were married at Mrs. Leicht's, and the bride is to wear her mother's wedding veil. Four generations will be present at the wedding, the bride being given in marriage by her uncle, Edward A. Leight whose small grandson, Edward Paul Leight, will be the ring bearer. His mother, Mrs. Albert Edward Leight will be matron of honor, and Miss Marion McCarthy will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Miss Elizabeth Pope, and Mrs. Oliver S. Turner. Mr. Stenson will have Albert E. Leight as best man, and ushering will be his brother, John Stenson, Arthur Reebie Paul Gerding, Daniel J. Gallery, and Oliver S. Turner. Mr. and Mrs. Stenson will go to Florida on their wedding trip, and upon their return will reside at the Belden hotel.

The Rev. George Thomas will read the marriage service for Miss Caroline Julia Vierling and Arthur Young Wilson this evening at 8:30 o'clock in St Paul's church. After the ceremony a reception will be held at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs Louis Vierling of 4857 Greenwood avenue. Mrs. Duane Molthop, the bridegroom's sister, will be the matron of honor, and Miss Josephine Vierling will be her sister's maid of honor. Miss Virginia Trude, Miss Ethel Rosenfield, Miss Gertrude Grassie, and Miss Helen Harris will be the bridesmaids. Katherine Shepherd and Betty Jane Wilson, the bridegroom's little sister, will be flower girls. Mr. Molthrop will be his brother-in-law's best man, and ushering will be Chancellor Dougall of Chicago, J. Neil Kennedy, Paul Kennedy, Martyn Bentley, R. H. Gordon, and William S. Wilson, all of Youngstown, O., where the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wilson, reside. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Chicago.

Miss Henrietta Bush will be maid of honor at the marriage of Miss Perene Prince, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Prince of 1734 Orrington avenue, Evanston, and Spencer Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Phillips of Montclair, N. J., this evening at 8:30 o'clock at St. Mark's church, the Rev. Arthur Rogers reading the service. A reception at the Evanston Woman's club will follow the wedding. The bridesmaids will be Miss Frances McGregor of Pontiac, Miss Louise Thompson, Miss Lucille Singer, and Mrs. Gordon Clark of Evanston. Stuart Phillips will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be Edward Fargo, Harry Montgomery, Charles Carney, Gordon Clark, Stanley Phillips, and Swayne Phillips, the last two brothers of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will go to Miami on their wedding trip and will be at home after March 15 in Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Danhaday of Winnetka will give a birthday party for their daughter, Harriet, this afternoon. Miss Georgene Faulkner will give a program of Lincoln stories.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker of 3030 Lake Shore drive are giving a dinner at the Saddle and Cycle this evening for Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Reed of 936 Lake Shore drive, who have recently moved to Chicago from Boston.

Miss Helen Fraser of London, England, was the guest of Mrs. Russell Tyson of 20 East Goethe street yesterday on her way to Madison, Wis.

Mrs. Howard H. Spaulding, who is making her residence at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, is making plans to sail on March 3 on the Berengaria for Europe, to remain there indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker of 219 Lake Shore drive departed yesterday for Florida.

Prince Michel Cantacuzene of 11 Scott street arrived in Chicago the early part of the week from a month's visit in Miami, and Princess Clarissa is expected to return on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Revell Jr. of 411 Briar place are spending some time in Miami, Fla. They plan to move in the spring into a Lake Forest residence which they bought recently.

My son started to school recently. I asked him if there were many boys and girls in his room.

His replay was: "O goodness, yes. There was lots of much. Why the whole floor was covered with them." E. R.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

KATE: THERE ARE TWO VArieties of corns—hard and soft. Soft corns come between the toes. Absorbent cotton should be used to prevent friction and keep the parts dry. Sulphur sprinkled between the toes is excellent. If you will send a stamped, addressed envelope I will send to you a booklet on care of the feet that will cover your other foot troubles.

A. J. C.: HERE IS A REMEDY IN which I have a great deal of faith. It is simple and comparatively inexpensive—a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in distilled water. Dab gently on the affected part every second or third day, and allow it to dry on. Three applications are usually enough—wait for a recurrence before resuming treatement. Or one application a week may be made to ward off recurrences.

Greatest Joy Found by Woman in Days of Young Motherhood

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The happiest time in a woman's life is when her family is young and they and her social duties absorb her completely, even though they exhaust her physical and mental force entirely.

The mother of three adorable youngsters said with tears in her eyes one day: "I cannot bear to think of the day they are grown and will no longer need me."

It is the great attribute of her sex that woman finds her greatest pleasure in life in serving, planning for and comforting those dependent on her love and care.

I read a lovely bit of fiction recently which opened with the appearance of the hungry young son and a half dozen of his neighborhood chums in his mother's kitchen begging for a luncheon to have in the cave they had built back of the barn. Wearied almost unto death with the countless thousand demands of the day, the house, the father, and the other children, she packed the lunch and sent the hungry mob off shouting gayly: then one of the other children appeared wanting mother to do this, and still another asking her to help her with something else. And so it went, day after day and year after year until the woman was suddenly made to realize her daughter was old enough to marry.

The leader of the caveman tribe had already departed the home to make his way in the world. A feeling of utter desolation swept the heart of the mother after the daughter's wedding festivities were over. She turned ready to burst into tears when there appeared in the doorway another small young figure, leading another hungry mob, calling out: "Say, maw, will you give us a lunch to eat down in the old cave?"

She had for the moment forgotten this last small member of the flock who still needed her, and her heart was made young again.

I remember a mother's saying to me one day: "People tell me I give too much time to the children. But think of it! I may have them only ten years more. I must fill up on happiness now. They are with us so short a time."

Woman's passion is to busy herself with others and have others busy themselves with her. The natural outlet is with her children. She is happiest when her soul is in a continual state of real and natural emotion, when she fulfils her rôle as a woman who loves and is loved, who gives and asks nothing in return.

It is the nature of the normal woman to be ever ready to live for others and sacrifice for them, and this flame which burns within her goes out if there is no one to help her keep it alive.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

He Goes Into Silence.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young woman, married four months. My husband is a man who gets angry over the least little word or thing. And then he won't say another word to me unless I talk to him first. I've been doing this for four months and I'm simply tired of it and disgusted, and think of leaving him, but I can't do it I just love the man. He is 27 and I'm 20. IRENE."

That is a difficult fault to cope with isn't it? It is a mean trait and a petty one. If you were of a petty caliber yourself, you could take consolation in the fact that no one is enjoying the silent retreat less than the man himself. You cannot go on a dumb strike like that and not be seething inside with miserable emotions. But then that does not solve your problem. It would not help were you to remain dumb for days also, although it might help if you would start making signs from the deaf and dumb language at him. It might shame him out of his pettishness. Or some time when he is off the silence strike and in a fairly good humor, make him see how ridiculous he is at those other times. I'll wager if he did not think he could hurt you that way, he would soon find his tongue. Can't you manage a merry song of indifference and the appearance of enjoying life in spite of his grouch? That would work in all probability.

Raise It Somehow.

"Dear Miss Blake: I see a certain girl several times a week in business. I think a lot of her, but I lack courage to ask her out. What would you advise? BILL."

Bill, you must raise the courage somehow. No one on earth can do that for you. You might try visualizing the sight of her stepping out with some other boy whose courage is greater than yours. Get it somehow, Bill, because if there is one thing a young woman does admire it is courage.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Brilliant and appreciative audiences are attending the recitals being given this week in the Freer Gallery of Art through the generosity of Mrs. Frederic Shurtleff Coolidge, formerly of Chicago, who has given to the library of congress the scores of the prize compositions entered in the annual Berkshire festival contest. Mrs. Coolidge, who has done so much to further the cause of chamber music through these annual festivals, is here from her home in New York to attend the three recitals, the first of which was given yesterday and the second today.

The marriage of Mrs. Constance Gardner Minot, granddaughter of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, to William Gordon-Means of Boston will take place on March 19 at the home of her mother, Mrs. Clarence Williams, in Washington.

The librarian of congress and Mrs. Herbert Putnam announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Shirley Putnam, to Eliot O'Hara of Waltham, Mass. The wedding will take place in New York City in the early spring.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter, accompanied by her children, has gone to Aiken, S. C., for about two months.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

SMILEY-WILEYS

A Smiley-Wiley is a jingle of two lines. Any funny little rhyme that will make folks laugh is a Smiley-Wiley. For instance:

May your path be filled with roses
And your kids have turned up noses.

You can probably write a better one than that. If so, do it and mail it to the Smiley-Wiley Editor, The Tribune, Chicago. The Tribune will pay $10 daily for the best one published, $5 for the next best, $3 for the third, and $1 for each additional one.

First Prize—$10.

How doth the gentle laundress search
out the weakest joints,
And always scrape the buttons off at the most strategic points!

Mrs. Ella Hays, Homer, Ill.

Second Prize—$5.

She was angry, I fear, and her scorn
I deserve;
For her lips were so near, and I hadn't the nerve.

Howard Boyd, 713 Dayton street,
Madison, Wis.

Third Prize—$3.

The rabbit ate his lettuce, and made poor William swear,
"I almost had a salad, and lost it by a hair!"

A. G. Pomeroy, R. F. D. 4, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Fourth Prize—$2.

I saw her standing in the car, old and
bent and gray.
I could not bear to see her stand—so
I looked the other way.

W. R. Weeks, 7106 South Union avenue, Chicago.

Fifth Prize—$1.

To call a girl a lemon will make her awfully sore,
But to treat her like a lemon makes her love you all the more.

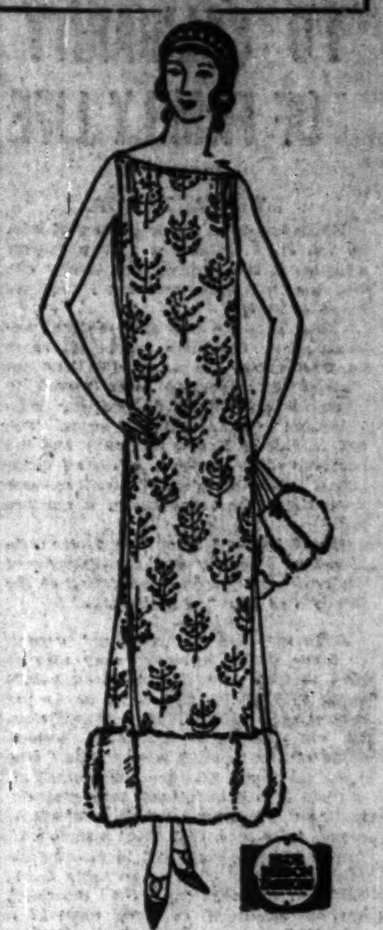
Clipped Ostrich Asks Your Kind Attention

by Corinne Lowe



NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The poor ostrich has probably taken more fashionable cures than anybody "of New York and Newport." Now it has been tonsured, and this clipped ostrich appears in fans and in bands of trimming for our frocks. Behold, for instance, the latest ostrich treatment bordering a white satin evening frock. Seen at a distance, this plumage with the bobbed locks looks much like marabou, but when one gets a close-up the difference in quality is patent.

Otherwise, the frock merits especial attention. First of all, it is in white, and that recommends it immediately in a season when white vies with various tones of red in being the favorite evening wear exploited at fashionable first nights and at the modish nights of the opera. Secondly, it is embroidered beautifully in a design of crystal beads. Third, it sponsors the simple straight line broken only by a side fullness in the lower section of the skirt which is established as one of our most successful evening technique.

With the frock is carried a fan of matching clipped ostrich. Such fantasies are much in evidence just now. For example, there was noted at the opera not long ago, a model of clipped ostrich—rose on one side and green on the other. The bobbed variety, however, has not superseded the big graceful fan of unshorn plumage. This, together with others of baby ostrich, continues to wave o'er the land of the smart.

FINDS RADIO AID TO SOLIDARITY OF FAMILY LIFE

BY SCRUTATOR.

Radio has been much praised of late, by Dr. H. N. Bundesen among others, because it is restoring the family circle, keeping men and even flappers home o' nights.

The automobile has also received encomiums on the same score. There is no doubt that the automobile and its widespread ownership have served to stimulate old fashioned American individualism and the property sense. The relationship of family solidarity and the property sense needs no extended exposition. They originated together, one from the other or as twins, it matters not.

One of the first symptoms in an individual or a society of the weakening of the property sense is a weakening of the family ties and "exclusiveness."

Folks who are "reactionary" enough to favor family solidarity may also be glad to hear that the American people spent $710,000,000 last year, or 12 per cent of their total building expenditures, on old fashioned individual houses. Some of our "young intellectuals" who write the books that are most talked of, but sell second best, have been gleefully hailing the growing percentage of apartments, as a sign that the "burgeoisie" family is being subjected to disintegrating influences. That is probably bunk, however. If anything, the tenement, flat, or apartment is really more of a "castle" than the dwelling, because the apartment dweller is usually "on guard."

Who ever heard of "next door neighbors" who did not know each other? But how often people do not know the family in the next flat.

The year's building figures then look pretty fair for the family institution, with $947,670,000 for apartments, $400,000,000 for churches, and $1,165,000,000 for schools, which indicates that babies are still arriving.

But how about the "social centers" or the "community movement"? Are radio and the motor car causing this great uplift to languish?

For several years now Americans have had it industriously dinned into them that they are not "sociable" enough. Our organizing, state building, and capacity for team work are not questioned, but we are charged with individual and social exclusiveness. We have meekly listened to this and approved and financed the effort to extend the social settlement idea in every direction.

Just how we are "unsociable" is difficult to grasp. To the writer the complaint of the extreme socializers seems to be that our social instincts center in state and family rather than in other groups, which have the approval of the uplifters. Anyhow, despite the community centers, the little theaters, and all our "joining" activities, we don't seem to get the great social idea, we are not being socialized fast enough to suit the rabid advocates of universal miscegenability. And now those horrid inventors and capitalists have come along with radio and the cheap car to divert attention back to the burgeoisie home fires, or radiators, and to the alley garage.

They are even plotting electric superpower systems which might uproot our dear sociable artistic slums and make us a nation of Main streeters again.

'Tis a fearful prospect! Undoubtedly Americans are not "groupy." Nor are we the only offenders. In western Europe there are about 200,000,000 who are not so very group minded. But go east and south all the way to the China sea. Nearly a billion and a half are living in groups, village communities that have hardly witnessed a change in thirty centuries, that remained unchanged even when called "soviets" in a part of the area. There you have the ideal "social consciousness." Quite a bit of it has been imported into the United States—groups and group habits. But somehow most of us do not seem to care for it.

New York State Gas and Electric.

J. M. N.—The $2,350,000 New York State Gas and Electric corporation first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds of 1962, together with the 6s of 1952, are secured by a first mortgage, directly or through pledge of $1,398,000 (out of a total issue of $1,500,000) first mortgage dividend bonds, on property given a replacement value of $8,813,152 ($1,102,575 thereof owned by an affiliated corporation), subject to $147,500 divisional liens outstanding. This valuation is 1.84 times the total funded debt of $4,791,500 outstanding with the public, including this issue and the divisional lien bonds. Net earnings of the properties securing these bonds for the last five years have averaged twice the annual interest requirements on the total present funded debt. For the twelve months ended Nov. 30, 1923, such net earnings were $708,125, or 2.64 times such interest requirements. Of the operating income (before taxes) for the last mentioned period, 64 per cent was derived from the sale of electricity. The company is controlled by the Associated Gas and Electric company and is under the supervision and management of the J. G. White Management corporation. These bonds are a sound investment.

LONDON WOOL AUCTION.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The offerings at the wool auction today amounted to 10,900 bales. There was a good general demand at full current rates, with home, American, and continental buyers participating.

LARGE SALES FOR EXPORT PUT CORN HIGHER AT CLOSE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets did not show as much snap as of late, but, all things considered, they acted well, with a lower average of values most of the day and a close with wheat ⅛@¼c higher on the nearest futures and ⅛c lower on September. Corn, although having a good break early, finished at the outside prices of the day, being unchanged to ¼c higher, while oats were ⅛c lower and rye ⅛c to ½c lower. Provisions were under pressure from packers, selling with lard 7½c and bellies 5c lower, while short ribs were unchanged to 2½c higher for the day.

Argentine Exports Large.

Selling of wheat, with a decline in the early trading, was based on a break in the Liverpool market, combined with the heavy shipments from Argentina and Australia for the week, the former being 6,759,000 bu, compared with 4,758,000 bu last year, and with the Australian shipments suggested world's shipments around 21,000,000 bu for the week, and will compare with 12,970,000 bu last year. North American shipments, including two weeks' business from Vancouver, were 9,500,000 bu. Interior stocks on farms were said to be moderately small. Washington reports continue to suggest favorable legislation for the farmers, which is one of the bullish factors. The market, however, was regarded as due for a setback.

A great deal of long wheat came out from local and foreign holders, the latter being attributed to the Japanese, who have been taking profits for several days. The big sellers of previous days among the local interests were credited with covering shorts. Receipts are running close to those of last year, while shipments from the primary markets were somewhat less. Export business was 450,000 bu from the seaboard. There was a slight widening of the discount on the new crop futures as compared with the May.

Foreigners Buy Corn.

Export sales of around 500,000 bu of corn in the last two days gave traders something new to think about and turned a weak and declining market into a strong and advancing one, with the close at the best price of the day, after a break of ½@⅝c. May finished at 81⅛c, with other deliveries ⅛@¼c discount.

The break in corn early was on selling by local longs, which was taken advantage of by the big commission houses, who are bullish, to absorb the offerings, and the late strength came from buying mainly by those who have sold on the break. Trade sentiment is divided and is based on the extent of farmers' marketing from now on. Receipts were 194 cars, with a primary movement nearly 300,000 bu more than last year. Cash prices, however, were ½@1c higher.

Oats met good commission house selling, with a reaction at the close. Cash lots were ½c lower, with shipping demands small. Rye had poor support and May declined ½c.

Provisions were weaker and lower for lard and bellies, with local packers the best sellers. New York interests bought 500,000 lbs May lard from local packers. Cash business was better on domestic and export account, yet hogs were 15@20 per cent lower. Prices follow:

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Disposition of the grain trade last night was to look for moderate price recessions in wheat and corn, as the technical position has been weakened by recent short covering. Many of the commission houses and local professionals are disposed to be friendly to the buying side of wheat and corn on breaks.

The $10,000,000 farm credit corporation is to materialize, as officers have been elected, with C. J. Jaffray at its head. Washington advices continue to favor a higher tariff and the passage of several farm bills, especially that favoring diversification of crops in the northwest.

One of the largest local traders, who has been bullish on all grains, was a seller on the weak spot yesterday, but said after the close that he had also been a buyer toward the last. Action of the corn market shows that buyers are disposed to take the offerings as fast as they are available, and that there will be a fair run for some time, as railroads are getting increased orders for cars, especially in the west, for moving grain in all directions. Chicago is getting a fair share of the receipts, while shipments and local consumption are taking a good part of the offering.

A Chicago man who attended the Farmers' Elevator association's convention at Peoria the last few days says there were men there from all over the state who reported a light farm movement, with little stock in country elevators. He expects to see Chicago get around 300 cars of corn a day for the next few weeks and after that a much lighter run.

"A great many millers who bought Canadian wheat to grind complain that it is proving to be gluten bound," says a Minneapolis message to Bartlett-Frazier company. "The result is a poor color for the flour. Exhaustive experiments made by a firm at Minneapolis show that in order to correct this condition it is necessary to add 33 1-3 per cent of good domestic wheat. This is causing a better demand for the latter from outside millers, and is likely to cause the market to gain on Chicago at a later date."

Farm holdings of wheat are reported as moderate to small, says the Modern Miller, being particularly light west of the Mississippi from Texas to the Dakotas. A snow blanket covers most of the winter wheat belt. Scattered complaints are of thawing and freezing.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 425,000 bu; oats increased 35,000 bu; rye increased 40,000 bu, and corn 110,000 bu for the week.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Marshall Field & Co. say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was in excess of the volume recorded both for last week and for the same period a year ago. Road sales did not reach the total for the previous week and were slightly less than the figure for the corresponding week in 1923. There were about the same number of customers in market as during the same period last year. Collections were slightly less than a year ago for the corresponding period."

The John V. Farwell company says:

"Wholesale dry goods business is reflecting retailers' increased interest in spring lines with greater activity in goods for at once shipment. Road orders are running about even with corresponding week of last year in volume. The record of number of orders received in comparison with volume shows expansion in size of commitments. Retail buyers have been in market in increased numbers during the week. Collections are satisfactory."

Armour & Co. say:

"Toward the close of the week beef trade showed some improvement. Trade in fresh beef is not quite so draggy. Prices have held about steady. Fresh pork trade was influenced by just about the same factors as was the beef trade. Trade in cured product is even better than seasonal, reflecting, as does the trade generally, the healthy condition of employment throughout the country. Export trade is extremely dull."

Grain Trade Reaches Total of 31,824,000 Bu

Trading in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade on Thursday was increased 11,195,000 bu over Wednesday, due to better wire service. Total trade of 31,824,000 bu compared with 35,712,000 bu a week ago, the loss being mainly in wheat. Details as given by the grain futures administration of the government, with the last three ciphers omitted, follow:

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1924: Fairchild News Service.]

PARIS.—The majority of those at the spring showing of the creations of Premet, the couturier, were American buyers. "Garconne," a successful model last season, was again presented, this time in fine woolens, poplins, and alpacas, including a new supple quality resembling lansine. The straight line silhouette is varied with discreet use of the circular effect.

WASHINGTON.—Monthly returns will be issued by the department of commerce hereafter, setting forth the various classes of cotton goods imported into the country, it is announced. Imports will be detailed separately as to dotted Swiss, crêpes, organdies, lawns, nainsooks, etc. This information will enable domestic manufacturers to know the degree of competition offered in each line.

NEW YORK.—The National Department Stores, Inc., through its combined force of buyers who have been operating in the market since Monday, has completed the purchase of a quarter of a million dollars' worth of silks.

NEW YORK.—There was a little more activity in the gray goods market here. Trading was a good deal freer than yesterday, goods moving on the following basis: 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, 9⅞@10c; 68x72, 4.75 yards to the pound, 11⅝@11⅞c; 72x76, 4.25 yards to the pound, 13c; 80x80, 4.00 yards to the pound, 14⅜c.

RAILROAD NOTES

Interstate commerce commission was asked by the Illinois Central and its subsidiary, the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans, for authority to sell $11,604,000 in refunding mortgage bonds, $5,118,000 of which total is already issued, to cover expenditures for additions and betterments.

The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, which lately agreed to take over all the minority stockholdings in the Wisconsin Central railroad, sought authority to issue $3,471,000 in 5½ per cent notes in connection with the transaction.

Lease of property in Rockford by the Rockford Interurban railway from the Chicago, Milwaukee and Gary railway was approved by the Illinois commerce commission.

Board Leaders Oppose Dropping President's Aid

Five former presidents of the Chicago Board of Trade—Hiram N. Sager, Joseph P. Griffin, John A. Bunnell, Robert McDougal, and Edward Andrew—have sent a circular to the members of the Board of Trade opposing the movement to dispense with the executive vice president, which is to be voted upon on Monday. They have all had extended experience in managing the board's affairs and know the necessity of having an executive vice president. They say it is folly to tie the hands of the administration, embarrass its officers, and hamper its policies.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 8.—WOOL—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool trade has been seeking to get its bearings as a result of the initial opening of heavyweight goods by the American Woolen company on an unexpectedly low priced basis. As yet it is impossible to say that there has been a definite reaction on the part of buyers, and so the wool trade is at sea, although holding firm on quotations. Foreign markets are firm everywhere except on faulty wools. Mohair is firm on moderate demand.

The New York Times.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special]—Pretty much all the markets were unsettled today. Prices on the stock exchange drifted downward with little recovery at the close. Pressure of selling orders again converged, particularly on the oil shares, but affected also the general list.

The decline ranged from fractions in many of the slow moving issues to as much as 6 or 8 points in the more volatile. At times during the afternoon, when the decline was sharpest, the market was dull, but this was about the only good sign it had, and for the "pool stocks" there was no support.

Cotton declined and practically all European exchange rates were distinctly lower, including, for the first time in many weeks, the German mark.

Rail News Favorable.

There was nothing tangible in the day's news to explain this reaction, beyond the accumulating signs at Washington that politicians were disposed to capitalize the Fall scandal politically by an indiscriminate crusade on the big oil producing companies.

The news in the railway field was favorable. It comprised the car loading statement for the last week of January, which for the second time this year showed an increase over the same week in 1923. The increase for that week was 21,862 cars, or 3½ per cent, and in each of the two last weeks reported on all records of traffic for any corresponding period were surpassed. But the striking part of the comparison is again in general merchandise, in which the increase of the last week in January over 1923 was 6½ per cent.

Sterling Down 2⅜ Cents.

Sterling declined 2⅜ cents, losing nearly all of the two preceding days' recovery; the franc went to the lowest in a fortnight. The decline in the German mark was based on a European report that Gen. Dawes had resigned from the committee investigating Germany's ability to pay and not a result of any change in German finances. The German Reichsbank's weekly statement covering Jan. 23 appeared today and was favorable. The reduction of 21½ quintillions reported for the week was nearly twice as large as has been made in any week since progressive inflation ceased. The reduction in the three weeks of January has been 38 1-3 quintillions, or nearly 8 per cent of the high record circulation on Dec. 31. In the same three weeks of 1923 the paper circulation expanded 29 per cent. In short, the gradual retirement of the old mark paper seems to be fairly under way.

Service State Bank to Be Opened Next Saturd

Formal opening of the Service State bank at West North and Central avenues will take place next Saturday, according to an announcement yesterday. There will be flowers and souvenirs. Daniel Harkin, president of the Union bank of Chicago, will also be president of the new institution. Lawrence Mills, Albert Keeney, Gustav Bramberg, and William F. Siewert will be directors. The Harkin and John Gulliksen will be vice presidents. Albert W. Sathern will be cashier.

PEOPLE'S GAS CO. REPORTS RECORD BUSINESS IN 1923

BY O. A. MATHER.

The People's Gas Light and Coke company, which supplies Chicago with gas, last year had one of the best years in its history. Furthermore, the company is now on a sound and prosperous basis as compared with a condition of virtual bankruptcy only a few years ago.

Last year the company sold nearly 30,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas, setting a new record. The price of gas was reduced last August, causing an estimated reduction of $1,500,000 in gross revenue. But this price reduction was offset by increased sales and efficiency. Net earnings were larger than in 1922, and the company was able to increase its dividends by $384,996, while at the same time adding substantially to its surplus.

$4,198,514 Year's Profits.

Net profits last year, after deductions, were $4,198,514, equivalent to 10.90 per cent on the $38,500,000 capital stock outstanding. After deducting from net profits the four dividends paid during the year and also a quarterly dividend declared but not paid until last month, $1,214,764 was added to surplus, which now stands at $17,231,680. Net income in 1922 was $3,261,997, equivalent to 8.47 per cent on the capital stock, and after dividends there was $1,337,016 to be added to surplus.

Efficient operation is evident in the fact that although operating revenues increased nearly $1,000,000, operating expenses declined almost $300,000. Taxes increased $287,000. The balance sheet shows total assets and liabilities increased $4,064,000. Current assets and liabilities increased $818,000 and $569,000, respectively. Investment increased $2,717,000 and reserve funds $526,000. Retirement reserves and deferred credits increased $1,337,000.

Call for Foreign Loans.

American investors again have been called on to make vast loans to foreign nations, this time to the extent of about $170,000,000. Public offering of a Japanese loan totaling between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 is scheduled for next Wednesday by an international banking group. It is understood about $150,000,000 of these bonds will be offered in this country and the rest in Europe. The bonds probably will run for thirty years, bear 6½ per cent, and be sold at a price to yield about 7 per cent. Japan will use the proceeds to repair the earthquake damage and for refunding operations.

American bankers have purchased and sold privately $20,000,000 of Argentina's six months 5½ per cent notes. Proceeds from this sale, added to funds derived from the recent public sale of $40,000,000 6 per cent bonds, will be used to refund $55,000,000 of Argentine notes maturing March 1.

Wisconsin Central Sale Proceeds.

Final steps in the purchase of the minority stock of the Wisconsin Central railway by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie got under way yesterday when the Soo directorate asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $3,471,374 of collateral trust 5½ per cent notes, pledging common stock of the Wisconsin Central as security.

The notes will be delivered to minority shareholders in exchange for about $8,000,000 of Wisconsin Central common at the rate of $43.25 a share. Slightly more than 50 per cent of the Wisconsin Central's outstanding common stock, $16,121,300 in all, has been held by the Soo line for several years. The interstate commerce commission probably will hold a hearing on the application before the end of this month.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Speculators for the decline assumed control of the stock market. Operators on the long side, showing little disposition to follow up their recent advantage, distributed supporting orders throughout the list to keep the decline in check. Some selling was inspired by the temporary firmness of money rates, call funds renewing at 4½ per cent, but slipping back later to 4¼.

Oil shares bore the brunt of the selling pressure, Atlantic Refining dropping 5 points, Tidewater 3¼ and Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Houston, Marland, Pacific, Mexican Seaboard certificates, Phillips and Royal Dutch losing 1 to 2 points.

United States Steel common dropped 1 point to 106⅞ and Baldwin and Studebaker each closed 1¼ lower, the former at 126⅝ and the latter at 102. American Can yielded only slightly to 117⅝.

Strength of a few specialties, such as United States Cast Iron Pipe, which closed a point higher at 74 after touching 76⅛, and General Electric, which rallied from 210 to 214½, closing slightly below the top, was attributed to pool operations. Other strong spots included American Beet Sugar, the Commercial Solvents issues, Foundation company, International Harvester, and the Liggett & Myers issues, the gains ranging from 1 to 6 points, although the turnover in most cases was small.

The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation at the end of January, which will be made public today at noon, is expected to show a sizable increase. Wall street heard reports that the New York Central had distributed orders for 17,000 cars and over 100 locomotives, and that the Pennsylvania railroad was in the market for between 15,000 and 18,000 cars.

Joint First Refunding Mortgage 5% Bonds, Series "A"

DUE DECEMBER 1, 1963

Interest payable June 1 and December 1. Coupon bonds in denomination of $1,000 with privilege of registration as to principal and exchangeable for bonds registered as to both principal and interest, which latter will be re-exchangeable for coupon bonds under conditions provided in the mortgage.

Entire Series redeemable as a whole only at option of the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Railroad Company at 110% and accrued interest on any interest date upon not less than ninety days' previous notice.

For further information regarding the Companies and this issue of Bonds, reference is made to a letter of Charles A. Peabody, Esq., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned and from which the following is quoted:

"The bonds are the joint and several obligations of the Illinois Central Railroad Company and the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Railroad Company, and are secured (under the Joint First Refunding Mortgage made by the Illinois Central Railroad Company, the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Railroad Company and The Canton, Aberdeen and Nashville Railroad Company to The Farmers Loan and Trust Company, as Trustee) by a direct mortgage on about 1,515 miles of railroad (in addition to trackage and leaseholds), including the important bridge over the Ohio River at East Cairo, Ky., with its Kentucky approach, and on valuable terminal properties in New Orleans, La., Louisville, Ky., Memphis, Tenn., Evansville, Ind., and elsewhere, subject to existing liens which may not be renewed or extended and for the retirement of which, at or before maturity, provision has been made.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company has paid dividends on its capital stock uninterruptedly since 1860. The Company has at present outstanding $21,372,815 of 6% preferred stock and $109,520,800 of common stock, on which dividends are being paid at the rate of 7% per annum. The net income of the Illinois Central Railroad Company for the year ended December 31, 1923, after payment of all taxes, amounted to $31,792,755.80, while its total fixed charges for rentals, interest, etc. (including interest on the Joint First Refunding Mortgage Bonds then outstanding in the hands of the public) amounted to only $14,237,909.74.

The present issue of bonds is being sold to reimburse the Illinois Central Railroad Company for advances made for additions and betterments to the railroads and other properties subject to the Joint First Refunding Mortgage.

The total authorized amount of the Joint First Refunding Mortgage Bonds is $120,000,000, of which there will be outstanding in the hands of the public, after the present issue, $41,604,000 of Series "A" and Series "B" 5% Bonds. In addition, $17,350,000 of Series "A" 5% Bonds are pledged as part collateral for the Illinois Central Railroad Company Fifteen-Year 5½% Secured Gold Bonds due 1934 and $3,820,000 Bonds are pledged as part collateral for the Illinois Central Railroad Company Fifteen-Year 6½% Secured Gold Bonds due 1936. $50,132,000 bonds are reserved to retire a like amount of prior lien bonds, and the balance of $7,094,000 is reserved under restrictions provided in the mortgage for future improvements and betterments, or construction or acquisition of additional properties.

The issuance of the above bonds and their sale to you are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission and any other public authorities that may be necessary and to the approval by your counsel of all legal proceedings in connection with the issuance thereof.

Pending the delivery of the definitive bonds, temporary bonds will be issued. Application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange."

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO ALLOTMENT, AT 94¼% AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY, TO YIELD 5.35% ON THE INVESTMENT IF HELD TO MATURITY

The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application, to allot a smaller amount than applied for and to make allotments in their uncontrolled discretion.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission and any other public authorities that may be necessary of the issuance of the bonds and their sale to the undersigned, and to the approval by their counsel of all legal proceedings in connection with the issuance thereof. Temporary bonds will be delivered against payment in New York funds for bonds allotted, which temporary bonds will be exchangeable for definitive bonds when prepared.

More cattle arrived yesterday than for any Friday in more than three years. While a few of the choicest offerings sold steady the general market declined fully 25c, closing at low point of the day. Butchers' stock shared in the decline, in fact, most of the best cows and heifers were as much as 50c off at the close. Calves were in limited supply and closed fully 25c higher.

Shippers purchased 1,431@1,506 lb steers as high as $11.25, and 895 lb yearlings from Nebraska went to Wilson at $11.00. Only a dozen loads of steers were good enough to go above $10.00. Bulk of fat cows and heifers sold at $5.00@6.25. Fancy calves went to $14.25 on shipping account. Choice 960 lb feeding steers reached $8.00.

Hog Supply Too Large.

A total supply of 74,000 hogs yesterday, including 13,696 over from Thursday, proved too large, forcing values 10@20c lower, with top and average at $7.30 and $7.10, respectively, 15c lower than Thursday. Shippers purchased freely from the start, while packers generally operated indifferently up to noon.

Closing hog trade was lowest of the day, with 15,000 left in the pens. General price range was still wider, due to the indifferent demand for heavy packing kinds, which closed 10@20c lower than a week ago, while better grades carrying less weight are that much above previous Friday. General quality was poorer than earlier in the week.

Lamb Trade Uneven.

With Thursday and Friday sheep receipts combined, totaling nearly 30,000, a big part of the gap in the demand was filled, and all but strictly choice handy lambs met narrow outlet on yesterday's session. Best grades were firm, on shipping account, with top advancing 10c at $14.75, while inbetween and commoner grades experienced further breaks, dropping values sharply below midweek, when "spread" in prices was unusually narrow, at the highest level of the season.

Aged and yearling sheep were too few fairly to test the trade, but were quoted generally steady. Market in the feeder division remained practically at a standstill, on a weak basis. The week's sheep receipts were the lightest since August at 59,400.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for Monday are estimated from 68,000 to 88,000. James Brown marked 68,000; A. G. Welhener, 70,000; W. S. Nicholson, 72,000; W. H. Overman, 73,000; R. W. Oake, 75,000; F. R. Burrows, 78,000; N. R. Denny, 80,000; F. W. Waddell, 82,000; George Chandler, 85,000; J. M. Waters, 87,000, and R. Greenaley, 88,000.

Seven western markets received 23,000 cattle, 170,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep, against 16,000 cattle, 113,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep the previous Friday, and 12,000 cattle, 76,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 793 cattle, 6,324 hogs, and 729 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

BY AL CHASE.

Attorney Isaac M. Mills yesterday bought the northwest corner of Wells and Van Buren intends erecting a $1,000,000 twelve story office building as soon as present leases expire, May 1. David Saul Klafter is drawing plans. The property, improved with an old one story building, not considered of any value, fronting 100 feet on Van Buren and 86 on Wells, was bought from the James Clare estate for a reported $250,000.

This figures out a value of $2,907 per front foot, or $29.07 a square foot. The sale was negotiated by K. Smith. John R. Magill & Co., agents for James Clare for years, represented the estate. Willis Smith was attorney for the seller and I. B. Perlman for the buyer.

Chatten & Hammond, architects, state that the proposed new building for the Underwriters' Salvage company on South Laflin, told about in this department yesterday, will be of mill construction instead of concrete, and will be six stories. The cost is estimated at $300,000.

Buys Erie Street Corner.

Frank G. Gustafson has bought the vacant southeast corner of Erie and McClurg court, 45x109, from Frances J. Ryan for an indicated $43,000, subject to a $24,000 incumbrance. This is across from the site for the new Chicago Riding club house. Mr. Gustafson already owned the 200 feet just east of his yesterday's purchase, improved with a garage and used by the De Luxe Cab company. This gives him a total Erie frontage of 245 feet. Hedberg & Bistor were brokers.

A reported $74,000 was paid by David Eisenstein to William Shiner for the nine apartments at 4701 North Drake. Wolf & Love and Abraham Masover were attorneys.

The Coffman Realty company reports selling the twelve flats at the northeast corner of Rosedale and Magnolia for J. W. Shafton to David Kanstoroom for $73,500, subject to $55,000.

Broadway Stores Sold.

The one story stores at 6241-45 Broadway have been sold by Samuel Bloom to Samuel Katz for a reported $60,000, subject to $27,150. Isador Ferguson & Co. and John R. Hyde of the Cochran & McCluer company were brokers.

SOLD!

$62,000 Results Off-Season

IN spite of off-season conditions; in spite of January temperature, fluctuating more than sixty degrees, Wm. L. Wallen & Sons, builders, 6712 N. Clark St., write as follows about their Want Advertising:

"We wish to call your attention to a Want Ad in your paper Sunday, January 20, offering a six-apartment building in Rogers Park.

"We advertised this in your 'Real Estate For Sale' columns with four lines. The price was $62,000—no brokers. We had six bona fide inquiries from actual purchasers and sold the building January 22."

A $62,000 building—a four-line Want Ad—a sale! You, too, can forget "off-seasons" if you put your trust in Tribune Want Ads. They are year-round salesmen.

Bring your Want Ad to the Want Ad Store at Madison and Dearborn, or phone

We offer for sale on the Co-operative Ownership Plan individual 4, 5 and 6-room apartments in Crandon Arms, with heated garages if desired; located in the heart of the South Shore Country Club district. These new, modern apartment homes may be acquired by the purchase of an equity in the entire ground and building, ranging from $3,700 to $6,000. Convenient terms if desired. A small safe investment in this new, modern, well located building and ground enables you to occupy the apartment you select at operating cost instead of rental. The monthly operating cost is enough less than the rental value to save your investment about each seventy-two months you own the apartment. Adequate provision is made for owners to sell their interest in the property or to sublease their apartments. The building is under construction; will be ready for occupancy April 15. The apartments have been especially designed for homes. The unusual size of the rooms, closet space, light and air will attract you. Apartments may be selected in the order applications are received. Well worth your while to investigate. Come to the building. Owners on premises every day including Sunday.

AM I RIGHT?

$4,500 will pay 3 years' rent with nothing to show for it. It will buy a good car which will be worth less than $1,000 after 3 years, or it will pay for the equity of a 5 rm. sun parlor apt., 1 blk. from Sheridan-rd., which will increase in value in 3 years. You can occupy the apt. just the same as the rented one and you can stay there. The upkeep is less on the apt. than on the car. You can buy any one of these three items on terms. "OWN A HOME first." If you WILL pay rent and you MUST have a car, buy the one you need. A MOVING VAN.

A STEPPING STONE TOWARDS WEALTH

We own and offer in Beautiful Berwyn desirable building lots in the direct path of intensive building activities.

There is good transportation here now—street cars running on southern and western boundaries. There is an Illinois Central Station a few blocks away. Trains will soon be running over the new extension of the Douglas Park Elevated, giving thirty minute service to the loop. There is a good shopping district adjacent.

KRENN & DATO'S BERWYN GARDENS

Come out to Berwyn Gardens, where the air is pure and where the skies are blue. Come out and see for yourself just what this beautiful tract offers.

OUR LOTS ARE SOLD ON EASY TERMS.

There are good building sites available at 20% down, balance 1% per month. Our price includes these improvements paid for by us—sewer main, water main, gas main, cement sidewalk in front of each lot and alongside of each corner lot.

This is a good section and no farther from the loop than Jackson Park. Buy now and take a good profit, as these lots are money makers.

HOW TO GET HERE.

Street car: Cross town car at 22nd Street, south, to Harlem Avenue.

Autos: Any east and west boulevard to Austin Avenue. North or south on Austin Avenue to 22nd Street. West on 22nd Street to Harlem Avenue.

Douglas Park "L": To end of line. Walk west a few blocks to our Subdivision office, corner 22nd and Harlem.

PEERLESS

FACTORY BRANCH.

PEERLESS 8 "66" TOURING WITH $285 ENCLOSURE. It is difficult to describe this particular car in an ad as it is an automobile that should be seen to be appreciated. It is a current model car and will carry this factory branch warranty. There is not a wear or blemish on it anywhere, in fact, we doubt if even an expert could distinguish it from new. Mechanically it operates smoothly and quietly. The paint, which is dark blue, is new and the cord tires are excellent. If you are looking for a high grade car suitable for any weather condition and one with economical maintenance, this car is worthy of your attention. Demonstration invited. $2,000.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE "66" COUPE. This current model Suburban Coupe is in 100% condition in every particular. It is newly painted in beautiful deep maroon. The tires are all cords and in excellent condition. Interior perfect. We know it would be difficult for you to duplicate this car, either in price or condition. Carries our warranty. It is truly an exceptional opportunity to purchase a 4 or 5 passenger enclosed car of this type at the ridiculously low price of $2,600.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE "66" SEDAN. This is our current model 5 passenger enclosed car and the first of its type we have been able to offer in some time. It is equivalent to new every way you look at it. Compared with new cars on our sales floor, we doubt if you could tell it from new. Interior shows no signs of use. Cord tires and equipment good as new. You cannot fully appreciate the quality or the unsurpassed value in this car without first seeing it. It will carry the standard warranty of the Chicago branch of the Peerless Motor Car Co. Act quickly if you would avail yourself of this bargain. $3,000.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE "66" SUBURBAN SEDAN. An enclosed car of class and distinction and a value that this direct branch of the Peerless Motor Car Co. will recommend. It is refinished in maroon, the mechanism is soundless, the cord tires show practically no wear, and it presents the well groomed appearance that can only be reflected by cars having had most exceptional care. Equipment 100% complete. This is the best 7 passenger suburban sedan of this series we have had to offer in many months. We know that if you see and ride in it you will appreciate its value. Special for this sale, $3,200.

FRANKLIN

NO WATER TO FREEZE OR BOIL.

FRANKLIN DEMI-SEDAN, SER. 9-B, '21. Factory built enclosed car. Do not confuse as car with "ordinary" enclosure. Presents sedan appearance. Refinished deep wine, black chassis. Mechanism overhauled, in first class shape, and guaranteed. Perfect in detail. Priced less than half what a duplicate costs new today. $600 cash; balance easy terms.

FRANKLIN SEDAN, 1922. Our standard 5 passenger, newly refinished in beautiful beige, former paint removed to metal. As is characteristic with Franklins, the high grade upholstery is as good as new. Equipment consists of 5 wire wheels, good tires, bumper, etc. First class mechanically and guaranteed. Easy to drive, easy riding, and most economical of all sedans. 20 miles per gallon on gas, 15,000 to 20,000 miles on tires. Has no water to boil, leak, or freeze. $875 cash, bal. easy terms.

PAIGE, "6-66" SERIES '22 TOURING. An exceptional value because of its low mileage, its excellent condition, and the remarkable price at which it is offered. [illegible] finish of Jap blue excellent. Driven only 8,600 miles and most excellent mechanically. Top and upholstery show no signs of use. Equipped with 5 almost new cord tires, transmission lock, clock, squeegee, step plates, etc. $450 cash, balance easy terms.

RICKENBACKER SER. '23 SEDAN. 5 PASS. A beautiful sedan in almost new condition. We know the former owner and know the care he would give any automobile he owned. Painted in dark blue and as spotless as when new. Much equipment such as practically new cord tires, 2 bumpers, automatic radiator shutter, motometer, stop and spotlights, spare wheel and tire, etc. Should persons interested in this exceptional buy desire to communicate with the former owner, we will gladly assist them. $725 cash, bal. easy.

PACKARD

Bought from Packard
Is a Safe Investment.

AT MAIN STORE.

Packard Single 6, 5 pass. sedan. This car was used only a short while as a demonstration car, and is equal to new in every detail. Carries special equipment including Tuare disc steel wheels, winter front, bumpers, stoplight, extra tire, etc. Mechanically it has always been kept right up to the minute in our own shops and is an unusual value for $2,800.

Packard Twin 6, 3-35, late series 5 pass. phaeton. This is a very attractive car and is equipped with 5 slightly used balloon tires. The paint is very good and the mechanical condition is excellent. Equipment is complete. A powerful, smart appearing car and a real bargain at $1,700.

Paige, 4 pass. coupe. A car in such perfect condition throughout and at the price we are offering this one is seldom found. Mechanically perfect, paint in new car condition, brown velour upholstery excellent and the tires show very little wear. Fully equipped with 2 bumpers, motometer, spotlight, spare tire, stoplight, windshield cleaner, etc. A perfect value for $525.

AT EVANSTON BRANCH.
1629 Orrington-av. Evanston Ph. 710.
Cadillac Model 57, 7 pass. tour. In excellent mechanical condition, good paint, all necessary equipment; $700.

HUDSON ESSEX

1922 Hudson, full 4 pass. coupe. This car was just refinished in a deep blue and black and is identical to a new car. Beautifully upholstered in blue broadcloth and finely appointed. Tires are almost brand new. Mechanically it is excellent. Fully equipped with all necessary equipment, including spotlight, wheel lock, winter front, etc. A real bargain in a perfect car. $1,350.

1922 Oldsmobile 4 cyl. 5 pass. tour. The original paint still retains its new car appearance and the mileage is very low. Upholstery and top are perfect. Tire wear not noticeable. Mechanically it is as smooth running as a new car. An unusual value. $575.

1922 Buick, 6 cyl., 7 pass. tour. One of those dependable, economical Buicks in the finest condition throughout. Mechanically perfect. Just beautifully repainted, top and upholstery does not show the slightest wear and it has good cord tires. This car cannot be duplicated at $650.

1920 Stutz Tour. A sturdy, powerful and fast car that runs perfectly. Dual ignition, nearly new cord tires and full equipment. Will sell reasonably if taken at once.
